HANKOW FORCE MUTINIES; REDS MOVING ON CITY

Commander's Bodyguard in Uprising Quickly Disarmed.

COMMUNIST DEMAND FOR $100,000 IS MADE

Foreigners Crowd Triple Towns Under Guns of Warcraft.

U. S., JAPAN, BRITAIN CONFER UPON ACTION

Joint Naval Steps Likely if Nanking Regime Falls, London Hears.

Hankow, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—A blow from within—mutiny of a portion of the Hankow garrison—struck the Nationalist government tonight as preparations were rushed to defend the city against an expected attack of converging Communist bands.

The mutineers, who included the commander's bodyguard, were promptly disarmed, but the defending force was weakened and the situation was considered critical. Strict military discipline prevailed as guards patroled streets and walked their beats in front of public utilities, communication offices and public buildings.

Meanwhile the influx of Chinese from the countryside continued in Hankow as well as its sister cities of Wuchang and Hanyang, also under Communist threat. The foreign districts of the three cities were crowded. Foreign warships stood by in the Yangtse River to protect their nationals and foreign property.

Reds in Light Plant.

Military authorities captured two reds in the plant of the Hankow Light & Power Co., disrupting what they said was a Communist plot to seize the plant and throw the city into darkness. An attempt to disable telephone service also was frustrated.

A red threat to enter Hankow unless $100,000 Mexican was paid to Communist agents was received by the local branch of the American National City Bank. From other sections came reports of Communist activity, especially in southeast Hupeh Province, where Tayeh, important iron mining center was captured. Unconfirmed reports said the important city of Chanteh, in Hunan Province, had fallen to reds. Chinese banks in Kiangsi Province closed on receipt of warnings of the approach of Communist raiders.

Kiukiang, important port on the Yangtze, was believed to be marked by the Reds, as dispatches expressed belief it would be the first objective in a drive for Kiangsi cities. There was an exodus of foreigners there recently when approach of a strong band of Communists was reported.

Powers Discuss Plans.

London, Aug. 8 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The American, British, Japanese and French governments, impressed by the unprecedented gravity of the crisis in China, are in active communication on plans for common action to be taken to protect foreign lives and interests on the Yangtze River in the event of the overthrow of Nanking's power in the civil war now approaching a climax.

For the first time since the present Chinese troubles began the four powers are finding themselves in preliminary agreement. The present diplomatic activity began with understandings between naval and consular authorities in the war zone. They have reported—and the great powers have accepted the views of the men on the spot—that the Nanking government is unlikely to be able to sustain war on two fronts against the northern forces and the Communists, and that tentative moves for a union of Nanking and the north against the Communists have no apparent chance of success. Nanking, according to foreign office information, is without funds to pay troops, and President Chiang Kai-Shek is having no success in his attempts to raise or force loans.

Naval Action Discussed.

Overthrow of Nanking in approaching crucial battles, in the opinion of the British government, in which, according to the correspondent's information, Washington, Tokyo and Paris are inclined to concur, is likely to jeopardize all foreign lives and interests in the Yangtze valley.

Concerted naval action is being actively discussed, and while this may be denied at the present moment, there is reason to believe that tentative discussions regarding possible joint military operations by the powers are under way. The sending of troops would only be contemplated if the Communist forces gained control after defeat of the Nanking armies or engaged in war with northern troops with disregard of foreign rights and lives.

The Chinese crisis is regarded in London and in Tokyo as the most

Calvin Coolidge

Says: Because of an endless struggle against the elements for the necessities of existence, it is natural to place great emphasis on material prosperity. While that attitude is proper and wise, we still should keep in mind that wealth is not an end but a means. We need it only for the use we can make of it. The real standard of life is not one of quantity but of quality; not of money but of character.

Some day a sufficient organization, balanced productive output and consumptive need, will give us economic emancipation. But we have not yet perfected the formula. To blame the Government or business for all present imperfections is like blaming Washington for lacking railroads, or Lincoln for ignoring aviation. Meantime we must live and learn. If we have unemployment, it must be remedied; if we have destitution, it must be relieved.

But the great realities do not depend upon prosperity. Getting a living is not the most important part of life. We can be just as loyal to our country, just as devoted to our home, just as faithful to our religion, without great earthly possessions. Even in charity, the widow's mite still outranks the greatest foundations of the merchant princes.

MARRIED MAN KILLS GIRL, SHOOTS SELF

LETTERS FOUND IN AUTO

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., Aug. 8.—In what was either a death pact or a murder and attempted suicide, Miss Margaret Limerick, pretty 20-year-old waitress, of this city, was instantly killed this morning and her alleged lover, Earl Turner, 42-year-old married man, received injuries from which he is in a dying condition at Mary Washington Hospital.

With four bullets from a .25-caliber automatic pistol fired point blank into her face as she sat beside him in his parked automobile, Turner quickly dispatched his sweetheart, then turned the gun on himself in an effort to end his own life. Two shots were fired into his head, one piercing his temple and the other lodging in his brain, but still he lived. His ammunition exhausted, Turner ran to the main road about 100 yards distant and collapsed. Picked up by passing motorists, Turner told them he had just shot his sweetheart and was disappointed that he failed to kill himself.

The couple had been on intimate terms for several months, while Turner was living at the rooming house where Miss Limerick was employed as a waitress. Turner, who is understood to have a wife and child living in Philadelphia, was engaged in construction work, but left a few months ago. He returned last week and put up at the same boarding house, where it was said that he had frequently asked Miss Limerick to marry him, but was refused.

The couple left the house at 6 o'clock yesterday evening and did not return. Mrs. Nannie Freeman, aunt and employer of the dead girl, said Miss Limerick expressed apprehenson about going riding with Turner and said she feared something might happen.

The two are understood to have spent the night in Washington. The killing occurred shortly after 8 o'clock this morning, while Turner and Miss Limerick were returning to Fredericksburg. Pulling off into a side road about 5 miles from this city, Turner shot the girl to death as she sat beside him, then tried to kill himself and failed.

At the hospital today, Turner was conscious and expressed regret at his rash act. He did not know that the girl was dead and requested the nurses to ask her for forgiveness. He

HOLDUP WITNESSES VIEW SUSPECT TRIO

2 TAKEN IN BALTIMORE

The three suspects held by police in the latest hold-up were viewed last night by Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Putman, of 103 Eighth street southeast, who were witnesses of the crime. Whether the suspects were identified as the bandits was not made public. Several other witnesses will endeavor to identify the trio this morning.

Six people were said to have seen the robbery Thursday of two employes of the J. G. McCrory Five & Ten Cent Store. The streets were crowded at the time of the hold-up, which took place in front of the store, but so quietly was the job done that many passers-by did not know anything was amiss. The robbers secured $1,200.

The automobile thought to have been used in commission of the crime was found yesterday in the southeast section not far from St. Elizabeths Hospital. A colored man came into the Eleventh Precinct Station and said there was a car which had been abandoned by three well-dressed white men the afternoon of the crime. The tags on the car showed it to be the one police sought.

One of the suspects, James W. Callen, 23 years old, of Alexandria, Va., was arrested early yesterday on the outskirts of Alexandria.

The other two, Elmer Bennett, 28 years old, and John Irving, 24 years old, both of Baltimore, Md., were brought to police headquarters early last night after they had surrendered to Baltimore authorities.

Irving is said by police to be the owner of the car that was used by the bandits. He gave his occupation as a mechanic. The other man said he was a chauffeur. Both claim that they were at a resort near Baltimore at the time of the robbery.

Callan was arrested through a description given police. His photograph in the police gallery was said by the two men who were robbed to resemble one of the trio. Callan is being held at the First Precinct station. The other two are at the Third Precinct station. All three are being held for investigation.

Callan was one of the principal Government witnesses at the trial of three men charged with the slaying of Policeman Leo K. Busch in 1926. Testimony offered at the trial by Callan was considered partly responsible for sending the three men to the electric chair.

Callan and the other two suspected in the holdup will also be lined up

NAVY OFFICERS, COOLIDGE SPLIT OVER AIRCRAFT

Jahncke Issues Reply to Former President's Criticism.

ARTICLE ON MOTORS CAUSES DISCUSSION

Objection Taken to View That U. S. Lags in Engine Technique.

MOFFETT SUPPORTS CHIEF'S STATEMENT

America Supreme in Water-Cooled Units of Low Horsepower, Claim.

Pointing out the part the United States Navy has played in development of aircraft engines in this country, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Ernest Lee Jahncke, acting in the absence of Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams, late yesterday afternoon issued a reply to the statement of former President Calvin Coolidge that America lagged behind other nations in development of such power plants.

Mr. Coolidge's statement appeared yesterday morning in The Washington Post as part of a daily series of comments on world affairs.

In a supplement to Mr. Jahncke's reply to the Coolidge article, Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics, declared that the United States had failed to keep abreast of European aircraft engine development in only two respects. These were developments of efficient engines for airships and water-cooled racing engines.

Statement by Admiral Moffett.

In connection with the former class of development, Admiral Moffett announced that the Navy has, since 1927, been experimenting with two airship engines designed to burn heavy oil. One of these engines, he said, may be used on the ZRS-5, the second of two great airships which have been contracted for with the Goodyear-Zeppelin Co., of Akron, Ohio. As far as water-cooled racing engines are concerned, he said, the United States has lagged behind Europe partly because of nonparticipation in the annual Schneider races, but that no foreign water-cooled engine is superior to American engines of that type in comparatively low horsepowers.

Although the statements of Secretary Jahncke and Admiral Moffett were the first published by Government officials taking issue with any point in the Coolidge articles since they have been appearing daily in The Washington Post, the reason for this action is seen in a direct reference in yesterday's article to the Navy Department.

"A naval office reports," said Mr. Coolidge, "that the best (aircraft)

HOOVER INVITES GOVERNORS TO DROUGHT PARLEY; HEALTH OF CAPITAL NOT IMPERILLED

Temperature Passes 100 Mark for Tenth Time in 21 Days.

RAIN NOT ANTICIPATED TODAY, BUREAU SAYS

MARYLAND, VIRGINIA FARMERS BADLY HIT

Canneries in Frederick Are Unable to Operate as Crops Wither.

With no hopes for an early rain coming from the Weather Bureau, temperatures here passed the 100 mark yesterday for the tenth time within the last 21 days. Low humidity and gentle breezes, however, did much to mitigate the heat, and no prostrations were recorded.

When the temperature approached 100 degrees at noon, numerous Government departments released employes working in temporary quarters. At 3 o'clock the Pennsylvania avenue kiosk registered 108, while the official high was 101. The mercury began to fall abruptly, and by 6 p. m. was down 8 degrees on the kiosk.

Although today is expected to be partly cloudy, the bureau saw no indications of rain. Temperatures are expected to remain about the same.

District officials said yesterday that Washington's water and milk supplies are both adequate and safe. No restrictions in the use of water are contemplated, it was stated, but because of the general shortage citizens should be careful not to waste water.

The milk supply is up to standard and is ample in quantity for the present time, according to Dr. R. R. Ashworth, chief of the inspection service of the District Health Department.

Potomac at Its Lowest.

The Potomac River was at its lowest level in years, with wide areas of mud cracking in the sun's merciless rays. Reports from Frederick County, Md., and nearby Virginia indicated that these sections are facing heavy losses from the drought and heat.

Maryland's milk supply has been materially cut, and canneries in Frederick are unable to operate because of crop failures and depleted water supplies. Corn is being cut for silage, and young cows that should bring from $80 to $100 are selling at Frederick for $20 and $30. The water supply in Frederick is so low that police make nightly patrols to prevent citizens from watering their lawns and flowers.

Prayers for rain will be said in all Catholic churches of the archdiocese

Text of Secretary Hyde's Drought Survey to Hoover

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday made public a report from Secretary Hyde summarizing drought conditions as of August 1, in the most severely affected sections of the country. The report in part follows:

"Considered in its broader aspects the 1930 does not present a serious problem of food supply for the Nation. The winter wheat crop harvested is ample. The spring wheat crop, while it has undoubtedly deteriorated, perhaps as much as 10 per cent during the month of July, should still be nearly equal to domestic food requirements. While the crop of potatoes in the intermediate States is not large, the late crop in commercial sections of the Northern States gives promise of a fair to good yield.

"The rice crop has not been seriously affected. Most of the acreage of edible beans is outside the drought area. The winter supply of fresh vegetables from Southern sources will not be planted for some time. The crop of canning tomatoes, while short, is not seriously so.

The crop of canning peas has already been harvested and was produced north of the drought area. The early crop of canning beans was only fair; the late caninng bean crop is produced outside the drought area.

Fruit crops are not large, but are not small enough to constitute a shortage, particularly since the California and other Pacific States fruit crops give good promise. However, in the drought area, the near failure of farm gardens and other crops grown for home food supply for the fall months and winter is causing want and hardship to many individuals.

The critical aspect of the drought situation lies in the inadequate production of feed for live stock in certain areas of the country. For the United States the outlook late in July points to a production of about 90 per cent of an average crop of the feed grains—corn, oats, barley and grain sorghum; about 85 per cent of an average production of hay; or a combined feed production of approximately 88 per cent.

For the country as a whole prospective feed supplies at this date considered by itself does not appear to be particularly alarming, but is critical in certain areas indicated on the maps attached to this report.

A further serious aspect of the situation is the fact that pastures have been unusually short in these areas are are steadily becoming worse and that farmers who did and will produce some feed grain and forage have been compelled to utilize it for summer feeding, thereby depleting their supplies for the coming winter.

An analysis by counties indicates that up to the present time the situation has not become critical in the Heads of 12 States Most Affected Called to White House.

PROGRAM OF RELIEF TO BE SET THURSDAY

Report of Hyde Prompts President to Aid Srticken Areas.

EXECUTIVE CONFIDENT TO FOOD RESOURCES

Red Cross Officials Asked to Stand By for Any Emergencies.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday called a White House conference of governors of twelve States for next Thursday to map out a broad, cooperative Federal-State program of relief in the drought stricken areas of the country.

The conference was called after the President had received a detailed report from Secretary Hyde showing the "critical aspect" of the situation to be in the shortage of animal feed crops in States of the Middle and Far Northwest and extending East as far as the Atlantic Seaboard. No alarm was felt over the Nation's food supply.

Mr. Hoover also conferred late in the day with Ernest P. Bicknell, acting chairman of the American Red Cross, and instructed the relief organization officials to stand by to assist in any possible emergency involving human suffering.

Situation Causes Concern.

"The situation is one to cause a great deal of concern," the President said in a statement to the press, "but it must be borne in mind that the drought has mainly affected animal feed, the bulk of the direct human food production of the country being abundantly in hand."

"Nevertheless," he added, "there will be a great deal of privation among families in drought areas due to loss of income and financial difficulties imposed upon them to carry their animals over the winter.

"The American people will proudly take care of the necessities of their countrymen in time of stress or difficulty. Our first duty is to assure our suffering countrymen that this will be done, that their courage and spirit shall be maintained, and our second duty is to assure an effective organization for its consummation.

The governors summoned to next week's conference are from Missouri Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, Virginia, Montana, Kansas, Iowa and Nebraska. Members of the Farm Board and leading farm organization representatives also will participate.

Preliminary Survey Results.

The preliminary survey of the Agricultural Department showed the animal feed crop shortage to be most acute in the States mentioned. Other governors may be asked to attend the conference, the President said, as feed crop shortages exist elsewhere.

"In any event," Mr. Hoover said, "in the most acute areas we should lay the foundation for effective local and State organization, the object of which is to prevent suffering amongst farm families deprived of support and to prevent the sacrifice of live stock more than is necessary."

In the area affected were said to reside 1,000,000 farm families possessing approximately 2,250,000 horses and mules, 6,000,000 cattle and 12,000,000 hogs and sheep, or about 12 per cent of the Nation's farm animals. Individual farmers were said to be affected differently and the actual number in distress, therefore, would be much less than the gross figures mentioned.

Considered as a whole, Secretary Hyde said in his report to the President the drought "does not present a Pennsylvania Men Caught Under Tons of Debris in Coal Workings.

THREE INJURED MAY DIE

Pottsville, Pa., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Seven miners were killed and sixteen injured late today by a fall of top at the Gilberton colliery of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Co. Three of the injured men were in a serious condition at a hospital.

Company officials said their check showed only 23 men were in the gang. Thirteen of them needed only first-aid treatment when taken from the slope.

The Gilbertson colliery, 10 miles from Pottsville, has been closed since May and the 23 men were placing new rails in the slope when a top rock became loose and fell about 50 feet. The rock carried with it tons of dirt, timber and other debris, burying the workers.

Rescue workers from nearby collieries went in to dig out the men. Five of them were found alive a little more than an hour after the accident.

The accident occurred on the third level about 1,900 feet underground. Company officials said the slope had been given the usual inspection this morning and no loose rock or dirt was found. The slope is about 9 feet wide, 8 feet high and goes into the ground at an angle of about 60 degrees.

The company gave out this list of dead:

Anthony Strucka, Shenandoah, 49; William Burke, Maizeville, 44; Matthew Koker, Maizeville, 29; Charles Yourches, 42, Gilbertson; Patrick Birmingham, 46, Gilbertson; Joseph Comeroski, 20, Turkey Run; Michale Mallick, Frackville.

DIVORCE IS GRANTED TO CHRISTIAN GROSS

PLANS RETURN TO POST

Chicago, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Christian Gross, writer and third secretary of the American Legation in Switzerland, today was granted a divorce from Mrs. Virginia Harrison Gross, by Superior Court Judge Robert E. Gentzel, on the ground of desertion.

Mrs. Gross is a daughter of Francis Burton Harrison, former Governor General of the Philippines, and is now living in France, according to Gross, who won several citations for railway building in the combat area during the World War.

The decree gave Gross custody of his two children, Barbara, 5 years old, who is with him here, and Peter Christian Channing Gross, 7, who, Gross said, is with his mother in Europe. It also held that a separate maintenance agreement made by Gross and his wife in Paris in 1928 is invalid. Gross recently obtained an injunction restraining the Farmers Loan & Trust Co. of New York from paying Mrs. Gross $250,000 in accordance with the agreement from a million-dollar trust fund.

Gross testified today that he had made an eight-month search in Europe, America and Australia for his wife and son. He alleged his wife abandoned him in Paris in 1926, taking the son with her. They were married in Algiers in 1922.

Gross planned to leave immediately to resume his duties in Switzerland, renewing his search for his son en route, his attorney, Robert E. Cantwell, jr., said

First Lady Attends Dedication of Camp

Hoover Bridge Is Given to Girl Scout Group; Mrs. Cheatham Awarded 'Thanks Badge;' Mrs. May Flather Donated $10,000 for Project.

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., Aug. 8.—Honored by the presence of the First Lady of the Land, Camp May Flather today was formally dedicated to the "happiness and betterment" of the Girl Scouts of the District of Columbia. This resort is located in a picturesque mountain setting fifteen miles southwest of Harrisonburg and is designed as the model girls' camp in the United States.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, as national president of the Girl Scouts and as former head of the District of Columbia council, had an active part in the day-long ceremonies. She told the Girl Scouts that her overnight stay at Camp May Flather recalled to her the pleasant camping days of her girlhood and that the inspiration she has derived from Girl Scout activities continues to exert much influence.

In the morning Mrs. Hoover dedicated the Hoover Bridge as her contribution to the camp. This 100-foot rustic log and river rock span across the North River, which flows through the 60-acre camp site, connects the camp proper with the site of the proposed swimming hole and the counsellors' cabin. At one end is built a stone settee. Mrs. Hoover broke the ivy rope stretched across the span and was the first person to cross the bridge. In a few words, in which she expressed her happiness at being able to contribute to the building of the camp, the First Lady dedicated the bridge.

At the afternoon ceremonies dedicating the camp, Mrs. Hoover decorated Mrs. B. F. Cheatham, wife of Maj. Gen. B. F. Cheatham, U. S. A., retired, with the, "thanks badge," the highest honor Girl Scouts confer upon their benefactors. Mrs. Cheatham was chairman of the committee which established the camp and has been in active charge with Gen. Cheatham during its construction.

Mrs. Hoover then lauded Girl Scout activities as bringing out the initiative in girls. At home and at school, she pointed out, girls more or less follow the advice and direction of their elders, but in Girl Scouting the girls bring out the best that is in them on their own initiative. It's the things that they do for themselves that count, she added. She related that she had been identified with girl scouts for years serving as a troop captain for more than ten years and later as head of District of Columbia organization.

At the close of the ceremony, Mrs. Hoover with other Girl Scout benefactors from Washington, were presented with hooked rugs which the girls had made themselves in the camp craft classes. Mrs. Hoover thanked the Girl Scouts for their gift to "an old Girl Scout."

As Mrs. Hoover departed for the Rapidan fishing lodge, the Girl Scouts gathered about her automobile and waved and shouted goodby.

Mrs. Hoover arrived at Camp May Flather last night and immediately entered into the camp life. She was an interested spectator at the impressive camp fire ceremony last Colonel Talks On, Unaware World Arrangements Are Wrecked.

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Storms at sea, which could not keep Col. Charles A. Lindbergh from accomplishing his famous flight across the ocean, today prevented his voice from making a transatlantic journey through the air.

Just as he was ready to send his words on a longer voyage than he or any other man has ever made in a plane, a terrific electrical storm broke over the Atlantic and the most ambitious arrangements ever made for a world broadcast all went for naught. It was his first formal radio address, and it was to have been heard in the far corners of the world: Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia.

Luckily Col. Lindbergh knew nothing of the sudden opposition of the atmosphere and so was not aware

Women May Insist Hoover Retain Mrs. Dodson in Post

National Committee Group Oppose Resignation of Director.

(Associated Press.)

Republican national committee women may appeal to President Hoover to retain Mrs. Louise M. Dodson as director of the women's division of the Republican party.

Hope was expressed yesterday that under the new chairman, Senator Fess, of Ohio, Mrs. Dodson would be given a freer hand in carrying out her ideas than under the old regime. Dissatisfaction with what she considered lack of authority given to her by Claudius H. Huston was described in some circles as the reason for Mrs. Dodson's resignation. It was believed a request from the President would retain her in her old position.

Eight committee women, representing as many different States, turned a farewell dinner to which Mrs. Dod-

Typhoid Jumps in Area Hit Worst by Drought

An increase in typhoid fever in rural areas afflicted by the drought was reported by the United States Public Health Service yesterday, coupled with a warning from Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming to the effect that strict measures of sanitation must be resorted to if further spread of this disease is to be avoided.

Indiana, Ohio, North Carolina, Georgia, and Kentucky are the States in which increase in the typhoid rate is most marked for the past week, as compared with the corresponding week of last year. The number of cases reported in these States for these comparable weeks were: Indiana, 10 in 1929 and 46 in 1930; Ohio, 18 in 1929 and 46 in 1930; North Carolina, 58 in 1929 and 70 in 1930; Georgia, 43 in 1929 and 71 in 1930; Kentucky, 18 in 1929 and 34 in 1930.

The total number of typhoid cases reported for the entire country during the week ended August 2, 1930, was 930, as compared with 870 for the corresponding week last year.

Public Health Service officials pointed out that the largest increases were in States predominantly rural in population and explained this on the theory that facilities for protection of drinking water are usually more efficient in larger communities.

In New York, for example, the number of cases reported last week was 18 as compared with 25 for the same week a year ago. Illinois, where the urban area of Chicago practically balances the remainder of the State, showed only a slight change, 41 cases for 1929 and 46 cases for the comparable week of 1930.

E. Dyer or Dr. L. F. Badger, the specialists engaged in the study, becomes inoculated with the disease.

Funeral services will be held at the home, 1515 Sixteenth street northwest, this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, interment following in Rock Creek Cemetery. The Rev. Donald C. McLeod will conduct the services.

Egger, 45 years old, an Ohio motorist, drove his machine into a moving Washington Railway & Electric Co. street car late yesterday afternoon on Ninth street, between D and E streets northwest. His machine was badly damaged.

HOOVER SEES CROPS RUINED BY DROUGHT

Few Mocking Drops of Rain Fall on Party Going to Camp in Virginia.

STUDIES WEATHER DATA

Orange, Va., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—President Hoover today observed at first hand a portion of the damage caused by the drought as he drove from Washington to his mountain camp for a week-end visit.

Before leaving Washington he had called a conference for next week of governors of drought-stricken States to consider plans for alleviating distress, and as he rode through the countryside he saw some of the blighting effects of the long dry spell.

Blightde Crops Viewed.

The Chief Executive and a number of guests looked out upon cares of stunted corn in dry fields and passed over a number of creeks from which the water had long since receded.

President Hoover brought with him for study over the week-end two maps, upon which he will plot information received by the Weather Bureau and the Department of Agriculture concerning the drought. Arrangements had been made to obtain this information promptly.

Having taken over personal direction of relief measures, Mr. Hoover planned to devote a large part of his outing to considering the druoght situation.

Few Drops of Rain Fall.

The trip fr moWashington was without incident. It was made under threatening clouds that seemed to promise immediate rain. On two occasions a few drops fell upon the presidential procession, but as it neared the camp the clouds broke and rain seemed a remote possibility.

Accompanying the President were Secretary Hurley, George Horace Lorimer, editor of the Saturday Evening Post, and Mrs. Lorimer; Ogden Reid, editor of the New York Herald Tribune, and Mrs. Reid; Jeremiah Milbank and Mrs. Milbank, of New York; Miss Gertrude B. Lane, Frederick S. Snyder, of Boston; Edgar Rickard and Mrs. Rickard, of New York; Dr. Joel T. Boone, the President's physician; Mrs. Stark McMullin, of Palo Alto, and Lawrence Richey, the President's secretary.

GRAND JURY CALLED IN BUCKLEY KILLING

Prisoner Pointed Out as One Seen at Detroit Radio Man's Killing.

OTHER GUNMEN HUNTED

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Detroit's crusade against outlawry rapidly moved to a climax today as police and legal machinery was accelerated in an effort to solve the slaying of Jerry Buckley, radio political commentator.

The day's developments were:

1. An order by the Wayne Circuit Court calling a grand jury immediately to go into the Buckley case and other crimes.

2. Identification of Angelo Livecchi as the "finger man" in the Buckley slaying.

3. Identification of two men sought for Buckley's assassination as members of the gang which last January tried to kill Police Inspector Henry J. Garvin.

General Inquiry Ordered.

The order for the grand jury directs an investigation of the Buckley slaying and of general crime conditions in Detroit and suggests that a closer touch be maintained between the Police Department and the prosecuting attorney's office.

The petition for the grand jury was made by James E. Chenot, prosecuting attorney. In his petition Chenot said that the names and whereabouts of Buckley's slayers were unknown to him. Almost at the same time he made his petition the Detroit News was quoting Police Commissioner Thomas C. Wilcox as naming Mike Morgany, Ted Pizzino, Thomas Licavoli, and Frank Cammarata as the assassins.

Livecchi, arrested shortly after the murder, appeared before Recorders Judge John V. Brennan for examination on the murder charge today. Gus Reno, a taxi driver whose stand was at the Adelaide street entrance of the LaSalle Hotel, in the lobby of which the three gunmen killed Buckley July 23, pointed the defendant out as the man he saw loitering about the lobby and entrance about the time of the slaying, later emerging to signal three men waiting on the sidewalk.

Shots Come on Reentrance.

Reno said he saw Livecchi reenter the hotel with these three men and that shots followed immediately. Judge Brennan ordered Livecchi held for trial without bond. The date was not set.

En route to Detroit from Kansas today, Commissioner Wilcox told a Detroit news staff correspondent in Chicago that Inspector Henry J. Garvin had identified Pizzino and Morgany as two of the men who participated in the attempt to kill him January 2.

The newspaper quoted Wilcox as saying Garvin was shot because of his unrelenting war on Sicilian gangsters in Detroit as head of the now defunct crime and bomb squad. He added that the motive behind the Garvin shooting was the same as that behind the Buckley slaying, but did not elaborate on this statement.

Woman Suffers Hurts When Taxicab Is Hit

Grace Thompson, 60 years old, of 1736 Webster street northwest, suffered a broken left shoulder and lacerations of the scalp last night at Sixteenth and Varnum streets northwest, when the taxicab in which she was riding was struck, according to police, by a car operated by Claire Brawner, colored, 28 years old, of T street near Seventeenth street northwest. She was treated at Emergency Hospital.

The Brawner woman was said to have been receiving driving instruction at the time of the accident. The cab was driven by William J. Kirkpatrick, 42 years old, of 2531 Q street northwest.

Soldiers' Home Resident Killed.

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—William Clark, 60, of Soldiers' Home, Washington, D. C., died today from injuries received when struck by a taxi on Third avenue last night. Salvator Dorsey, the driver, was arrested when police found the taxi's brakes defective.

HYDE REPORTS TO PRESIDENT ON DROUGHT SURVEY IN U. S.

more important live stock producing areas of the country.

* * There are only four sections in which it appears that production will be average or better. These are the New England States; a small segment of the South Atlantic Coast; a territory and adjacent portions of South Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa, and Arizona.

Two sections of the country will apparently have only about 60 per cent of an average production if weather conditions should be average subsequent to August 1. These are a part of Montana, and a segment paralleling the Ohio River from Pennsylvania to its junction with the Mississippi, and on down the Mississippi to the Gulf. A somewhat wider band on either side of this segment apparently will have from 60 to 80 per cent of an average production. The balance of the country apparently will fall within the range of 80 to 100 per cent.

Condition of Pasture in 1930.

An interpolation of the condition of pasture, upon which the live stock are normally dependent for a considerable portion of their feed during summer months, was made in a manner similar to that made for feed grains and hay. The interpolation for August was consolidated with the reported condition figures for June 1 and July 1 to arrive at a composite of pasture conditions for the two-month period of June and July.

As might be expected, the areas of deficient pasture roughly coincide with the areas of prospective short-feed production. In parts of these areas it is doubtful whether the rainfall during the month of August will greatly revive the pastures, inasmuch as the pasture plants have been entirely killed out. New seedings of clover and grass have likewise suffered severely, and next year's crop of hay and pasture is endangered as a result.

Incomplete returns on condition of pasture as of August 1, which have since become available, indicate pasture to be the lowest on record.

Live Stock Numbers in 1930.

The number of live stock in 1930 as a percentage on the five-year average is shown on one of the maps attached. It is noted that for the United States the numbers of 1930 are approximately 5 per cent below average. Only two areas have as many or more than average. These are Montana and Wyoming, where sheep numbers have expanded as a result of the series of comparatively good crop years, and a portion of the North Atlantic States where the number of dairy cows and heifers has been gradually increased.

In South Dakota the number of live stock is far below average largely because of a series of relatively poor crop years. In the central corn belt, from Ohio to Missouri, live stock numbers are approximately 8 per cent below average, due largely to a decrease in hog numbers.

Elsewhere live stock numbers are below average by a small percentage except in isolated cases, such as Oklahoma, Mississippi, Nevada, Louisiana, and Florida. Of these States only Nevada is an important live stock producing State.

Production and Pasture.

The coincidence of relatively high live stock numbers and low feed production in the Montana-Wyoming area and in some of the Middle Atlantic States indicates the probability of some liquidation of sheep and cattle in the former area and dairy cattle in the latter.

"The extremely low probable feed production coinciding with only moderate declines in live stock numbers in the Ohio-Mississippi River Valley drought area, indicates the probability of distress marketing which will probably take the form of culling dairy herds and sheep flocks and the early marketing of hogs, accompanied by the failure to take the usual numbers of stocker and feeder cattle.

"There is a possibility that South Dakota, Nebraska, and adjacent portions of Minnesota, Kansas, and Iowa, will be in position to take some extra stocker and feeder cattle. Elsewhere the marketing of cattle, hogs, and sheep will be influenced by price changes in meat animals, feed grains, and dairy products.

Comments by States.

Ohio—Embraced in the drought area in Ohio are an important sheep and wool producing area, a considerable hog-producing area, and a rather extensive dairy and beef cattle area. Consideration of the tables will indicate that some of the counties are not particularly populous in live stock numbers. The more important live stock-producing sections of the State lie outside this area. In some of the counties a considerable portion of the farm population secures a part of its living from other pursuits, such as coal mining. In these same areas, however, the inhabitants of the small farms place considerable dependence for food supplies upon farm gardens and other food crops. Comments reaching the department at the present time indicate that the water supply for watering live stock and even for human use has become a serious problem.

"Indiana—The more Northern counties of the drought-stricken area in Indiana are fairly important in the production of hogs, beef, and dairy cattle. There are no important sheep-producing areas in this section. Just as in the case of Ohio, a considerable number of farmers are engaged in other pursuits and depend upon home gardens and other food crops for some of their living.

"Illinois—The portion of Illinois covered by the drought is not an important live stock-producing region. A considerable number of persons listed as farmers secure part of their livelihood from coal mining and other similar occupations, but are also dependent to some extent for food supplies upon home gardens and similar crops.

"West Virginia — Practically the whole of West Virginia is involved in the drought-stricken area. This is a State of small farms. There are a few scattered sections important in live stock production, but the State as a whole is not important in the production of live stock. An important commercial apple-producing section is included in the drought area. Industrial pursuits form a source of cash income to many farmers in this territory, but all of them are dependent to some extent upon their home gardens and their home-grown products for their food supplies. Comments received by the department indicate that actual want will develop in some portions.

Conditions in Virginia.

The drought area in Virginia includes many of the counties of the State which are important in beef and sheep production, and also the important commercial apple section.

Maryland—The important counties engaged in dairying are included in the drought area, as are also several important tomato-producing counties.

Kentucky—Much of the State of Kentucky is included in the drought-stricken area. A very important sheep-producing area is included and also important dairy and beef cattle sections. A very large acreage of tobacco is included. While the crop has been severely retarded by the drought, it still offers some promise of cash income to farmers. At the present time the harvesting of tobacco is under way in some sections, where normally harvesting does not begin until the third week of the month.

Tennessee—The drought area in Tennessee includes part of the Tennessee early lamb section, from which the lamb crop of 1930 has already been moved. It includes also much of the important tobacco-producing section of the State, from which farmers will undoubtedly secure a considerable cash income this year. Practically all of the Tennessee cotton acreage is included in this area. Cotton is known to be an extremely drought-resistant plant and a fair yield of cotton may be made in the cotton area of Tennessee.

Missouri—The drought area in Missouri covers a larger area of diversified farming than in any other State. It embraces areas important in the production of wheat and corn, the production of dairy cattle, beef cattle and hogs, and in the finishing of feeder cattle for the market. In the southeastern part of the State, where cotton is an important crop, there is still opportunity for farmers to realize some income from that crop.

Arkansas—Practically all of the State of Arkansas is embraced in the drought-stricken area, but no considerable area of this State is important in the production of live stock. The main source of income over much of the territory is the cotton crop, from which farmers may still realize a considerable income in 1930. The peach crop was practically a failure and the important cash crop, strawberries, was very short. There is a tomato-growing section in the Ozarks which has been adversely affected. This is a section where considerable reliance is placed upon farm gardens and other crops for home food supplies.

Oklahoma—The area in Oklahoma affected by the drought is relatively unimportant from an agricultural standpoint.

Other States Reported.

Mississippi—Mississippi is relatively unimportant in the production of live stock. The drought has been most severe in the area where much of the land is devoted to the cultivation of cotton. While the drought has affected this crop, there is still opportunity for the farmers to secure fair yields.

Louisiana—Live stock production is not an important industry in the drought-stricken area of Louisiana. The rice-producing section is included in the area, but the rice crop is grown under irrigation. In some cases irrigation water has been running short and there are also reports of seepage of salt water which may reduce yields. Cotton is the predominant crop in portions of the drought-stricken areas and there is still opportunity for fair yields.

Alabama—The drought affected section of this State is not important in live stock production. Cotton is the predominating crop. Winter vegetables are also important, but the crop for 1930 has long since moved from this territory. Peanuts are an important crop and there is still opportunity for a fair yield.

A large number of telegrams has been sent to extension directors, field representatives of the Bureau of Animal Industry, and representatives of live stock shipping associations to secure additional information concerning the situation in various areas, particularly with reference to the supply of feed for live stock and the probabilities of forced liquidation of live stock because of shortage of feed.

HEALTH OF CAPITAL GOOD, DESPITE HEAT

Maryland and Virginia Feel Drought Worse Than District Does.

MERCURY REACHES 101

of Baltimore tomorrow, and special prayer meetings for rain have been ordered by the Ministerial Union of Arlington County, Va.

Because of the dangerously dry condition of local parks, Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d yesterday issued a special plea for carefulness in the disposition of cigar and cigarette butts. For the first time in the history of the public buildings and public parks division, park policemen will be allowed to leave their coats off while on duty. The privilege will remain in effect until the extreme heat has definitely abated, Col. Grant said.

Apple Crop Hurt.

Several hundred men yesterday continued to fight a forest fire that destroyed a resort hotel and burned over 18,000 acres of woodland near Cumberland, Md.

Reports from Martinsburg, W. Va., indicated that more than 25 per cent of the Shenandoah-Cumberland Valleys apple crop had been seriously damaged. This estimate means the loss of more than 1,000,000 barrels of apples in the four-State belt.

Baltimore reported four deaths from heat in the first three days of the week. The drought, affecting the entire State of Maryland, entered its forty-fourth day yesterday, with a rain deficiency since January 1 of 10 inches.

Enormous Water Consumption.

Never before has consumption of water in the District reached the figures recorded in the last month. The average daily consumption during July according to figures made public by D. W. Holton, superintendent of the water department, was 96,508,000 gallons. The total for the month was 2,991,753,000.

Record on July 21.

The peak of consumption was reached on July 21 when 114,071,000 gallons was pumped through the water mains to consumers. This is more than ever before consumed in any one day.

The unusually large amount of water being used by District residents to combat the effect of the drought, however, is better shown by the daily consumption since July 21. The average daily consumption for July, last year, was 86,438,400 gallons, but in the last three weeks the consumption has been more than 100,000,000 gallons a day, running from 96,500,000 gallons on Sundays to 110,000,000 gallons on other days.

Situation Not Alarming.

Despite this large volume used daily, however, there is nothing alarming about the situation, Water Department officials said. The conduit and reservoir system built by Army engineers to bring water to the District is capable of an intake of 185,000,000 gallons a day, far in excess of present needs. War Department officers in charge of the part of the system which brings the water to the city and turns it into the city mains have told municipal officials that the supply of water in the river still is adequate.

Milk Supply All Right.

There is a surplus of milk in storage in the city, Dr. Ashworth said. This surplus, however, is not due to daily receipts of extra large quantities of milk at this time. It was accumulated as a result of heavy production of milk prior to July. June saw the surplus reach its peak.

This surplus will be drawn on in increasing amount as the daily receipts of milk from the licensed and inspected farms which supply the District dwindles because of the drought. Estimating a daily milk consumption of approximately 45,000 gallons, Dr. Ashworth expressed the belief that there was no milk shortage in sight this month, at any rate. Neither, he added has there been developments which indicated an increase in price would be justified at this time.

Another factor which has helped the milk supply, he said, is that a large number of cows have recently come fresh, adding to the supply.

Dairy Farms Suffer.

Dairy farms in Maryland and Virginia, however, are suffering from the heat and lack of rain and unless existing conditions are relieved soon there will be difficulties in the future, he said.

The District Commissioners took cognizance of the sultry heat yesterday and ordered all municipal employes who could be spared to be relieved from their duties at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Acting Chairman Harleigh H. Hartman, of the Public Utilities Commission, ordered that office closed at 2:30 o'clock.

CLASHING OPINIONS HELD PEACE SNAG

TARIFF CALLED BARRIER

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Difference of opinion in the United States is one of the greatest obstacles in the European prospect of accomplishing effective united action toward disarmament, Rear Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn, chief of staff of the United States fleet, said here today.

Addressing the limitation of armament conference of the Institute of Politics, Admiral Hepburn said an international problem such as disarmament involved the question of reconciling and coordinating national and spiritual standards of different races and nations. The United States reveals some of the most uncompromising differences of opinion anywhere in existence, he asserted.

Cites Different Opionions.

"The great fundamental difference is between those who believe that war can and should be abolished by the intelligent cooperative action of civilized states and those who just as thoroughly believe that it can not—that it is a regrettable, but biological, imposition on the human race," he said.

In a discussion of national politics, as other difficulties in the way of armament reduction, Admiral Hepburn said it was easy to recognize national policies that suggest "war as a last resort." Until recently, he said, the Monroe doctrine was generally regarded as a policy of that sort.

Kellogg Pact Is Example.

"Whether or not it is still so regarded, in view of the Kellogg-Briand pact, I hesitate to say," he went on, "but of this I am sure—you will find a difference of opinion about it. Great Britain's two-power naval standard is a policy of that sort and our own parity standard is another.

"But even more important than these definite, openly announced policies are those policies that reside in a nation's efforts to control and improve its own internal domestic affairs—its tariff, its immigration laws, its attitude toward religion, industrial and social legislation. Each of these touches the world community and creates differences that must be harmonized before world cooperation can be established.

ADVANCING AFGHANS MENACE PESHAWAR

British Go Into Action When Tribesmen Draw Near Khyber Pass.

GATES OF CITY CLOSED

Peshawar, India, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—British troops were in action today against Afridi tribesmen advancing on Peshawar.

The strength of the horde of Afghan warriors was estimated variously at 5,000 to 10,000. The fighting thus far, two advance guard encounters, had not been of a general nature and the casualties were not divulged. In this city, which is in the path of the attempted invasion, it is believed that only a few on either side have been wounded.

Airplanes continued all day today their bombing and reconnoitering flights over the rocky country in which the hostile tribesmen have concentrated in what is believed to be the greatest number attempting to cross the frontier recently.

City Gates Closed.

Every possible precaution was taken in Peshawar tonight to guard the safety of the residents. The city gates were closed and all permits to leave were cancelled. The populace was warned not to leave shelter.

A defensive line of troops has been formed between the city and the advancing enemy. Heavy detachments are encamped along the fringe of a barren area over which the tribesmen would have to travel in any attempted assault.

British airplanes, said to number upwards of fifty, many of them big bombers and all equipped with war implements, were held in readiness to sweep over the opposing forces if any considerable movement was detected by the scouts who are constantly patrolling the area by air and land, while no actual fear for the safety of the city was felt the military and civil authorities were ready for any eventuality.

Scene of Old Conflicts.

Peshawar and the Khyber Pass have been scenes of much bloody fighting in the past, for even the mogul emperors of bygone centuries had difficulty in controlling the fanatical warriors of the hills.

For years and years the raiders have found loot in the city and in the pass. In the autumn Afghan merchants were accustomed to bring caravans from Kabul, Bokhara and Samarkand—rich convoys loaded with silks, precious stones, rugs and other products of the East. Each one was forced to fight or buy its way through and many were obliterated.

Far to the southwestward, in the Karachi district, trouble broke out again today between Moslems and Hindus, two persons being killed and seven wounded. The trouble was reported to be spreading. About eighteen were killed and many injured in similar trouble earlier this week.

122,698,190 IS GIVEN AS U. S. POPULATION

Official Total Cuts Earlier Estimates; Next Step Is Prosperity Count.

GAIN OF 16.1 PER CENT

(Associated Press.)

The Nation's population was officially announced yesterday by the Census Bureau as 122,698,190, representing the largest numerical growth since 1920 of any decade in its history.

Census officials said completion of this population count represented only the first step of the fifteenth census and that already they had begun to build upon this basic figure other totals, ranging from an enumeration of existing radio sets to a count of the country's industries and farms.

The figure announced for the 48 States and the District of Columbia showed a gain in population of 16,987,570 persons, or 16.1 per cent, since 1920.

Adding in the Nation's possessions, exclusive of the Philippines, to which the census law does not apply, the grand total was set by the Census Bureau at 124,848,664.

Some indication of the volume of additional figures still to be issued by the bureau was given in a prediction by a census official that when statistics are completed on schools, immigration, old age, the numbers and spread of industries in each State, together with the numbers of mines, farms and farmers in each section, the total will fill more than fifteen close-set volumes.

This information will be issued for each State as it is compiled by census workers. Officials indicated it would be available much earlier than in 1920, since the population count was completed twice as fast as a decade ago.

The population total issued yesterday was 31,282 under the figure previously compiled from supervisors' reports. It is subject to revision by the bureau, but no major changes are expected.

STOLEN-BOND RING SUSPECTS CAUGHT

Alleged $1,000,000 Theft Gang Members Seized; Leader Hunted.

SECURITIES ARE FOUND

Chicago, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—The Chicago Daily Times today said three members of an alleged $1,000,000 international bond theft ring have been seized in Loop hotels by detectives, and that the leader was running into a trap set for him by authorities.

The Daily Times said one of its reporters discovered that the three under arrest have been held incommunicado in a local police station since Saturday, and it reported that they are Stanley McCormick, Leo Mergen and R. W. Hampton, alias Bacon, of Indianapolis, Ind.

The newspaper quotes Police Capt. Dan Gilbert as saying that Mergen, a former convict, had $25,000 worth of bonds in his possession when seized, all of which were stolen securities. The bonds included 100 shares of Ohio Public Service Co., two bonds of the Michigan Public Service Co. and an Erie Forge Co. bond, the paper said.

Capt. Gilbert said the Merville stock was taken in a burglary of the company's New York store on December 2, 1925; the Ohio bonds, with $20,000 worth still missing, were taken in an inside job from the company's safe in Ohio; the Michigan bonds were stolen from a messenger en route from a suburban bank to a downtown bank recently, and the Erie bond was taken in a holdup at Memphis, Tenn., last year. adetectives. Judges to See Billings In Jail About Pardon

San Francisco, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Justices of the California Supreme Court today decided to go to Folsom Prison next week to question Warren K. Billings, serving a life sentence for the 1916 Preparedness Day bombing here, on his application for a pardon.

The hearing will be Wednesday or Thursday, possibly at night, when all prisoners will be locked in cells, minimizing danger of a demonstration.

GOLF ACE ARRESTED IN MIDST OF MATCH

BAIL SOUGHT BY FRIENDS

New York, Aug. 8 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—More than a year after his indictment for grand larceny, Arthur (Ducky) Yates, former State golf champion, was arrested today in the midst of a tournament at Great Neck, Long Island, by Detective James W. McKittrick, of District Attorney Crain's office, on a grand larceny charge.

Yates' friends spent the evening trying to arrange for bail so he may continue tomorrow in the quarter-finals of the State amateur championships at the Lakeville Golf and Country Club in Great Neck.

Although Yates is reputed to be many times a millionaire, and has many wealthy golfer friends, no one appeared to furnish bail. He was to be held at police headquarters until $2,500 could be raised for his release.

The charge grew out of an occurrence in the lobby of the Biltmore Hotel in 1925. Madeline McKay, of this city, charged Yates persuaded her there to part with $2,200 for the purchase of stock in a railway signal device company. The New York County grand jury indicted Yates in June, 1929, on a grand larceny charge. Since then, it was said, he has been sought in vain.

Nevertheless, newspaper clippings for the last year show he has been playing golf in various parts of the country.

Yates is the son of F. W. Yates, millionaire Rochester railway magnate. He played tackle on Cupid Black's famous Yale football team.

After today's match, Yates declared the whole matter was a frame-up and a mistake.

He has won two matches in the State tournament, defeating Henry L. Weatherwax, 6 and 4, yesterday afternoon. Tomorrow he is scheduled to meet Eddie Driggs.

Woman in Little Rock Tries to Kill Children

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Mrs. George Waller, formerly a prominent clubwoman of this city, slashed three of her children with a razor and then attempted to commit suicide with the same instrument at her home here today. An older daughter overpowered her before she succeeded in wounding herself seriously.

The children, George, 13; Emily, 11, and James, 8, were attacked as they slept. They were cut on the wrists, but at a hospital where they were taken for treatment doctors said their wounds were not serious. Authorities believe Mrs. Waller went insane after worrying over financial affairs.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

THE Democrats have before them at the present time one of the greatest opportunities for a constructive, enduring work that the country has ever known.

It would involve considerable sacrifice on their part, to be sure, but after all when their patriotism is put to a test who is there to say that they will not measure up as well as anybody else?

It would involve, indeed, considerable political denial. The very roseate picture which they now have of the November elections would be considerably dimmed.

BUT the country in time, and it is not unreasonable to expect, in the not too distant future, would recognize their contribution to mankind and out of sheer gratefulness vote them into power.

This country is not without gratitude as is evidenced by what it has done for its soldiers and the recognition which it gives to its good and its great. And the Democrats, while quite likely jeopardizing their chances of success this fall, would be by far the gainer in the end, because a belated success that would inevitably come when the country fully realized their sacrifice would be a deep-rooted one, resting, in fact, on such secure foundations as would be hard to overturn.

AS it stands they have the Republicans on the run, and they are showing no mercy in their continued attack.

There is Senator Fess, that militant crusader of whom one Republican paper has already said would step over a bed of roses without crushing a petal—there he is with his back against the wall shouting the new Republican cry: "It is not our fault."

One does not blame the Democrats, either, for pressing right on against him yelling, "Oh, yes, it is. Your tariff did it. You are responsible for everything."

One can appreciate how the Democrats feel about this, why they go so gloatingly to the attack.

BUT after all, isn't there a bigger and more lasting contribution they can make than that political success which seems to lie through this course?

Wouldn't it be better, would not the country be eternally grateful if the Democrats were to stop right now, desist in their attack and exact a pledge from the Republicans that never again will they claim to be responsible for prosperity, that never again will they prate about it as they did over the eight-year period just passed?

If the Democrats will exact such a promise from the Republicans, and particularly one that under no circumstances will they let Secretary of Labor Davis make any more Pollyanna statements, the country will take care of them. It will pension them if nothing else.

And unless they do take advantage of their present opportunity to obtain such a promise then most of us hope that prosperity will never return.

TYDINGS RIDICULES CREAGER OPTIMISM

Marylander Calls G. O. P. Leader in Texas Flop as Crystal Gazer.

TALK TO MORROW IS HIT

Senator Millard E. Tydings, of Maryland, does not agree with Republican National Committeeman R. B. Creager, of Texas, that the Democrats of the Nation will be divided into a Northern and Southern group in 1932. He was replying to an interview given out by Mr. Creager in Mexico City, in which he sought to anticipate a rift between Democratic forces, and predicted the reelection of President Hoover.

"In the role of bearer of glad tidings to Ambassador Morrow at the latter's home at Cuernavaca, Creager displayed the same ineptitude that has focused attention upon his ill-starred party leadership in that State," said Mr. Tydings. "Felicitating Mr. Morrow upon his recent victory for the Republican senatorial nomination, Mr. Creager opined that he would carry New Jersey by an overwhelming majority, adding: 'I happen to know positively that Mr. Frelinhuysen and Mr. Fort will campaign for him this fall.'"

Hopeful of Reelection.

"Mr. Creager spoke with equal optimism when as further enlightening his distinguished host he took a hopeful view of Mr. Hoover's chances of reelection which he apparently felt was justified by his vision of a disunited Democracy.

"If Ambassador Morrow gave strict attention to the outpourings of his guest, he, no doubt, recalled that back in 1928 the voluble Texan in the exuberance of his exultation over the defeat of the Democratic national nominees in Texas asserted that the State at last had renounced its traditional adherence to Democracy and, henceforth, would be a political battleground in national elections.

"Ambassador Morrow probably recalled that only last week the man who led the Democratic revolt in Texas ran a poor fourth in the race for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Sees Democratic Dissension.

"Republican National Committeeman Creager also dwelt on the dissension between the Northern and Southern wings of the Democratic party. In the same newspapers that carried the cheerful interview Mr. Creager had with Ambassador Morrow, appeared displayed stories from Washington, telling of the revolt of the Southern Republican leaders against the national administration on the very eve of a meeting of the Republican national committee, called to receive the forced resignation of National Chairman Claudius H. Huston.

"If Republican National Committeeman Creager does not know it, it is not amiss to remind him that every Democratic revolter of 1928 who has offered himself for office in a Southern State within the past year has been defeated overwhelmingly by regular party candidates.

"As a crystal gazer, Republican National Committeeman Creager is a flop."

Foe of Steel Merger Dies From Pneumonia

Youngstown, Ohio, Aug. 8 (A.P.). Myron C. Wick, jr., 35 years old, member of a prominent Youngstown family and one of the leading opponents of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube-Bethlehem Steel Corporation merger, died of pneumonia in a Youngstown hospital today.

Mr. Wick was taken ill a week ago today, during the hearing of the suit to enjoin the merger. Two days ago his condition was reported improved, but a change for the worse developed yesterday. It was announced that the hearing of the injunction suit will be adjourned until after the funeral, but then will proceed.

Florida Holdup Nets Auto Robber $6,500

West Palm Beach, Fla., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—An unmasked robber armed with a rifle held up the cashier of the contracting firm of Watts & Sinclair here today and escaped with a $6,500 pay roll.

C. S. Gannon, bookkeeper for the contracting firm, told police he was returning from a bank with the pay roll and was about to enter his office when the thug drove up in an automobile, stepped out with a rifle in his hand and forced him to drop the money bag and walk on up the street. The thief picked up the bag and sped away.

engine is made abroad. That is disconcerting. With the resources now available, the science of construction and the art of safe navigation ought to command the most intense research by both governmental and private agencies. We can not afford any second place."

Lindbergh Flights Recalled.

In reply, both Mr. Jahncke and Admiral Moffett called attention to the flights of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh from New York to Paris, the recent flights of the Southern Cross and others which have been made with aircooled engines of American manufacture.

"There are only two possible exceptions wherein this country may not absolutely lead in aircraft engines. The Germans have concentrated on improving airship engines and have a better engine—the Maybach—than any other airship engine available at the present time in this or any other country.

"Also, the competition resulting from the Schneider Cup races caused intensive development by competing nations of high-speed water-cooled engines, and in the water-cooled type there are in existence abroad several engines of 1,000 horsepower and above which are superior to ours. However, in the lower horsepowers, those for everyday usage, American water-cooled engines have no superiors."

Divorce Is Asked For Second Time

Reconciliation Fails, Wife Asserts in Requesting Limited Decree.

Evangeline M. Landis, of Chapin street northwest near Fourteenth street, yesterday filed in District Supreme Court a suit for limited divorce against Earl S. Landis, of Shannon place southeast near Twenty-second street. She also asks custody of the only child and adequate allmony.

The suit is the second which the woman has brought against the man, according to the petition which was filed through Attorney Vivian O. Hill. A previous suit for limited divorce was filed in June, 1926 after the husband is alleged to have deserted her, but it was withdrawn after a reconciliation. Another rift came a week later, however, the wife asserts, and from that time until six weeks ago the husband has been contributing $15 a week to the support of the plaintiff and the child. During the past six weeks, however, the wife asserts, the sum has been halved, and she continues that about the time the amount was cut the husband sued her in Arlington County for divorce.

Mrs. Landis charges that her husband is not a resident of Virginia and that the action is unjustified. She asserts that Landis is suing her because he desires to marry the woman with whom he is alleged to be keeping company.

Fine of $100 Fixed On Liquor Charge

Boy's Plea of Being "Framed" by Police Disregarded by Court.

Despite his plea that he had been "framed" by the police, Thomas Washington, Negro, of Reeves court northwest, was convicted in Police Court yesterday on a liquor possession charge and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 or serve 30 days in jail.

The boy told the court that he did not have any liquor in his automobile, and that if any was found in it the police had placed it there after he had been taken to the Second Precinct stationhouse.

Washington was arrested by Policeman F. Boneslawsky Thursday night at Rhode Island avenue and Ninth street northwest. The Negro was alleged to have driven across a crosswalk when halted by a red traffic light, and to have failed to exhibit a registration card when asked to produce it. The policemen said the boy declared the registration card was in the car, but a search revealed only two one-half-gallon jars of liquor.

LAWYER WHO SLEW WIFE AWAITS FATE

Amarillo Attorney Blames Only Self and Asks Death in Chair.

DECLARES HE IS SANE

Stinnett, Tex., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—A. D. Payne, Amarillo lawyer, tonight was awaiting punishment for the murder of his wife and maiming of his 9-year-old son with a dynamite bomb in the family motor car June 27. His 63-page confession is signed and in the hands of authorities.

He pleaded that the punishment, preferably death in the electric chair, be expedited. He had renounced insanity in making his confession.

"No sir," he said, "I am not insane. I am just abnormal. I know I was committing murder and am not trying to dodge the penalty now."

Edward W. Thomerson, district attorney, tonight said the case probably will be presented to the grand jury convening August 25.

Not Sorry for Slaying.

Payne, detailing a series of plots covering eighteen months to kill his wife so she would not learn he was "the meanest man on earth," He said he was not sorry for the murder. He said he feared Mrs. Payne would learn of his financial losses and his realtions with Verona Thompson, his stenographer.

"If I had it to do over," he said, "I would do the same thing again."

"Don't you feel relieved? Isn't your conscience easier?" he was asked.

"No," Payne replied. "I feel just the same as I did when I was planning to kill them. I have only one regret. I am sorry the blast that killed Mrs. Payne did not blow Junior to his death."

Payne said he had hoped to take his own life and told what officers regarded as a far-fetched plan to "blow up" himself with dynamite.

Says Wife Was Devoted.

He said he had thought of killing Mrs. Payne before he met Verona Thompson, whose statement of an affair with him led to his arrest. He declared that his inability after a season of prosperity to maintain the family living standards had prompted his thoughts of destruction and that he was not influenced by infatuation for "the other woman."

"My wife was faithful, devoted and companionable," he said.

It was not known how long Payne would be kept in the Hutchinson County Jail, where he was brought for questioning and as a precaution against possible mob violence after his arrest.

Capt. C. S. Root, 56, Killed by Taxicab

U. S. Coast Guard Official Succumbs to Hurts From Accident.

Capt. Charles S. Root, 56 years old, in charge of the intelligence section of the United States Coast Guard, died yesterday morning at Casualty Hospital from injuries received when he was struck by a taxicab last Tuesday morning at the intersection of Massachusetts avenue and Sixth street northwest. An inquest will be held at 11:30 o'clock this morning at the morgue. Meanwhile, James I. Brooks, colored, 25 years old, alleged driver of the taxicab, is being held at the Sixth Precinct.

Capt. Root's home was at 1315 Clifton street northwest. He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Charles S. Root. He was born in Connecticut, went to sea at an early age, serving for five years in an old-fashioned square-rigged sailing vessel and later on in merchant vessels where he learned engineering.

He had served 30 years in the Coast Guard at the time of his death. He had been awarded the gold life-saving medal of honor for the rescue of approximately 40 persons during the Galveston, Tex., flood in 1900. During the World War he served as an engineer on the transport ship Martha Washington.

Herrick's Dry Job Plea Fails to Aid

Must Face Trial, in Spite of Application for Work in Bureau.

The fact that Manuel Herrick had applied for a position as undercover agent will not save the former representative from Oklahoma from prosecution on charges of possessing liquor, officials of the Prohibition Bureau announced yesterday.

When captured at a still in southern Maryland several days ago, Herrick is said to have told agents he was there to secure information for the bureau. Barefooted, unshaven and clad in blue denim overalls, the former representative was placed in the Baltimore jail after he failed to make bond of $1,500.

Prohibition headquarters revealed yesterday that Herrick had applied for a commission as a dry agent, but had been told there were no vacancies. An arrangement had been made, it was stated, whereby Herrick might supply the bureau with tips at his own risk and without compensation.

Beauty Shop Is Sued For $10,000 Damages

The F Street Beauty Shop, Inc., of 1203 F street northwest, was named defendant in a suit for $10,000 damages filed yesterday in District Supreme Court by Roxie Hicks, of 759 Twentieth street northeast, who says she is a former customer.

Charges are made in the declaration of suit that the woman's scalp was injured while she was getting a hair wave. She alleges that the defendant was negligent in the operation of an electrical waving apparatus. The treatment was received March 22, 1929, it is said. Attorneys James A. O'Shea, John H. Burnett and Alfred Goldstein appear for the woman.

Mexico Will Keep Out Undesirable Americans

Mexico City, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—The Department of the Interior has instructed Mexican officials along the United States border to tighten their vigilance in keeping out undesirable Americans.

It is understood that the instructions are in part due to a request from Washington for aid in preventing the passage of liquor smugglers and bootleggers across the frontier. Another reason is the keeping out of gamblers.

declared that both he and the girl were tired of living.

A number of letters from Miss Limerick to Turner, found in his automobile, were couched in endearing terms and spoke of plans for meeting him in Washington on week-ends. The letters also indicated that Miss Limerick knew Turner was married and that for this reason they could not be married. One letter spoke of a possible divorce, so they could be united.

Miss Limerick was the daughter of Joseph Limerick and is survived by two sisters and one brother.

WALSH SUCCESSFUL SEEKING HIS ARREST

Promoter Accused of False Pretenses, Gives Bond in Marlboro.

MAN, 82, COMPLAINANT

James R. Walsh, of Battery Park, Md., sought on a warrant charging obtaining money under false pretenses since last week, yesterday appeared in police court at Marlboro, Md., and had himself arrested and freed under bond of $500.

As the original warrant had been forwarded from Marlboro, which is in Prince Georges County, to Montgomery County where Walsh lives, Judge J. Chew Sheriff issued a duplicate warrant. Walsh had spent practically all of Thursday trying to get himself arrested, while police of both counties were trying to arrest him, but as he could neither find any of the policemen with the warrant, nor Judge Sheriff to issue a duplicate, he had to remain at liberty until yesterday when he knew the judge would "stay put," as he was holding court at Marlboro.

The warrant was issued on complaint of George Erb, 82-year-old inmate of the Soldier's Home, who charged that Walsh had mulcted him of $3,000 in a fraudulent stock venture, one payment of $1,000 being made by Erb to Walsh at Hyattsville, in Prince Georges County.

Walsh explained that the reason he had gone to Prince Georges County seeking to be arrested was that he knew he would be held without bond for the Prince Georges authorities if he had been arrested in Montgomery County. The case will be brought before the October grand jury. Stedman Prescott, Rockville attorney, represents Walsh. Bond was posted by Clay Plummer, of Gaithersburg, Md.

Hoover Receives Gift From Scouts

Carved Buffalo Horn Is Presented President for Birthday.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday received the first of his fifty-sixth birthday anniversary gifts from a group of picked Boy Scouts from the District of Columbia.

Although the Chief Executive's birthday anniversary is not until Sunday, the gift, a carved buffalo horn symbolic of pioneer days, was presented before Mr. Hoover left Washington late yesterday for his Virginia lodge, where he will observe his birthday.

The horn was carved by the boys themselves for Mr. Hoover, who is honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America.

Drought Cuts Cotton Crop 500,000 Bales

(Associated Press.)

A cotton crop about a half million bales smaller than that produced last year was indicated yesterday by the Agriculture Department on the basis of conditions existing August 1.

Total production this year was placed at 14,362,000 bales, of 500-pound gross weight each, as compared with 14,828,000 bales ginned from last year's crop. The condition was placed at 62.2 per cent of normal. Prospects in some States have been affected by the drought but in Texas this year's indicated crop is 550,000 bales larger than that of last year.

FRESH OUTBREAKS FEARED IN MARION

Scene of Double Lynching Visited by Throng of Morbidly Curious.

SOLDIERS ARE CALLED

Marion, Ind., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Intense excitement over last night's mob violence, which resulted in the lynching of two Negroes, still prevailed in the city of Marion tonight. As a safeguard against recurrence of mob spirit, city, county and State police were on duty and two companies of the Indiana National Guard were en route. Although apparently quieted down somewhat, unrest still pervaded the atmosphere and fear was manifest in many quarters, either of a new outbreak or of reprisals for the hanging of Thomas Shipp and Abe Smith on the lawn of the Grant County Courthouse.

The latter fear was expressed outwardly late today when Dr. W. T. Bailey and the Rev. William Oglesby, State leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, appealed to Mayor Jack Edwards for State troops to guard lives and property.

News that State troopers were expected soon from Camp Knox, Ky., where they are in training, helped to bring the tenseness to a high pitch.

Meanwhile, an investigation of last night's violence, in which a mob of several thousand people stormed the county jail, smashed the doors and dragged their two victims to their doom, was being planned at a conference between Prosecutor Harley F. Hardin and Earl Stroup and Merl M. Wall, deputy attorneys general.

Grand Jury to Be Called.

Hardin announced today that he would summon the Grant County jury September 1 to investigate last night's affair. Another safeguard was taken today when Sheriff Jacob Campbell spirited two other Negro prisoners from the jail to the Indiana State Reformatory at Pendleton. They were Herbert Cameron and Robert Sullivan, held on robbery charges.

Although Shipp and Smith were the only victims of last night's violence the mob also sought Cameron as the third of a trio accused of having fatally shot Claude Deeter, 23-year-old Fairmount youth, and criminally assaulted his 18-year-old girl companion, Mary Ball, Wednesday night. Deeter died yesterday from the effects of four bullet wounds which Shipp is alleged to have confessed having inflicted.

Prosecutor Hardin announced today that he would demand the death penalty for Cameron when the grand jury convened, since, he declared, this youth had a hand in the affair as well as the others. Smith is said to have confessed that he criminally attacked Miss Ball.

Coroner Returns Verdict.

Coroner O. L. Stout, of Upland, late today returned a verdict that Shipp and Smith met their deaths by hanging by a mob composed of persons so far unknown.

Loitering on the streets tonight was forbidden, and throughout the day milling crowds were ordered to "keep moving."

Hundreds of persons gathered on the courthouse lawn to view the tree from which the beaten bodies of the Negroes dangled for more than eight hours, and the jail was filled with a constant stream of people curious to see the grim evidences of the mob's onslaught.

The bodies were not cut down until nearly 6 o'clock this morning. The coroner and Sheriff Campbell previously had attempted to take the bodies away but the mob prevented them and the officers let them remain rather than take a chance on stirring up new violence.

Ohio Professor to Head College in Connecticut

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Dr. Charles Chester McCracken, professor of the school of administration of Ohio State University, has been elected president of Connecticut Agricultural College.

While no official announcement was made, several trustees today confirmed a report that Dr. McCracken had been selected at a meeting of the board yesterday. He will succeed Dr. George Alan Works, who resigned after criticizing the State's policy of emphasizing the agricultural aspects of the curriculum at the expense of the humanities.

Rioting Students Kill Soldier in Sao Paulo

Rio de Janeiro, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Belated dispatches from Sao Paulo say that one soldier was killed yesterday in a clash between law students and police. Wounded were eight policemen, two soldiers, one student and one older civilian.

The city was quiet today and authorities said they expected no further disorder. They added that the trouble began when students who had been permitted to hold a mass meeting to honor Joao Pessoa, assassinated president of the State of Parahyba, rioted when they were not permitted to parade.

Earheart Memorial Is Unveiled in Wales

Burry Port, Wales, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—A memorial was unveiled today to commemorate the feat of Miss Amelia Earheart, of Boston, who, with Wilmer Stutz and Louis Gordon, landed here June 18, 1928, after flying from Newfoundland.

The ceremony was in charge of Sir Arthur Whitten Brown, who made the first flight of the Atlantic in 1919 with the late Sir John Alcock. Several thousand persons attended, including many Americans who are visiting the Llanelly Eistedfodd.

before Earl D. Flory, assistant manager of the McCrory Store, and Harvey W. Smith, a messenger, who were accosted as they were leaving the store with a satchel of money.

Bennett and Irving were brought to Washington by Detectives Thomas Nally and L. M. Wilson. Upon arriving at headquarters, the two suspects joked about the speed with which they were driven to Washington. Bennett, is a sturdy, grim, Gallic type, while Irving is his direct opposite, slim, dark, with a personality brightened by a lively humor. They spent but a few minutes at headquarters before being taken to the Third Precinct.

They did not appear at the 7 o'clock "line up" in the squadroom of the Detective Bureau.

G. O. P. OPENS DRIVE; SOUR NOTE IS HEARD

Fess Defends Tariff While Farm Board Man Sees Bloodshed Ahead.

MANN MOVEMENT LAGS

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The rejuvenated Republican organization headed by Senator Fess loosed its publicity drive yesterday, but with a discordant note.

The senator, thinking it would be a good idea to send out a blast before leaving the city for a rest, after which he will undertake his business, whole-heartedly charged that the Democrats were basing their attack on the interests of foreign countries, not this country.

Warmly defending the tariff and asserting that "every foreign country possessed of productive resources tends to follow our lead in stimulating home production in the interest of employment of its labor," the senator declared "the subtle campaign methods now in vogue to stir up foreign antagonism toward recent legislation in the interest of the American workman and American agriculture, almost entirely confined to American citizens at home and abroad, and for partisan and selfish purposes, will be rebuked when the inevitable resentment of our people will surely be forthcoming."

Williams Speech Is Slip.

Just about the time this was being distributed about town, however, attention was being called to what might be termed the outbreak of Carl Williams, cotton member of the Farm Board, before the Virginia Institute of Public Affairs at Charlottesville, Va.

Mr. Williams was quoted as predicting bloodshed if the Farm Board did not succeed in relieving the farmer and as saying that the only help the tariff gave to the farmers was to the peanut growers in one or two States.

Senator Fess obviously can not get anywhere with such slips in the Republican camp as this.

Mr. Williams was at the White House to see the President during the day, but in company with farm leaders and on the subject of the drought. It is exceedingly unlikely that any reference was made to his Charlottesville speech, and comment was withheld on it at the White House.

President Has Other Worries.

The indications are that the President has so much to do, faced as he is with such a situation as few Presidents have been faced, that he can not bother with the political claims of senators or the political slips of his subordinates.

He had intended to look over the political situation when the Senate adjourned but the drought has precluded this.

In the meantime the indications are that the threatened Mann movement in the South, whereby the supporters of Col. Horace Mann, Southern Hoovercrat general in 1928, challenged the administration for the control of Southern delegates to the 1932 convention, will die aboruing.

R. O. Lifsey, the Alabaman who attended the meeting of Mann followers near Savannah, Ga., several days ago, is expected to repudiate it as soon as Oliver D. Street, Republican national committeeman from the State, returns from his trip to Washington. Mr. Lifsey is postmaster at Montgomery and it is a fair assumption that he had no idea what he was getting into. Mr. Lifsey was one of those appointed to the committee to incorporate a permanent organization.

Street to Be Loyal.

Mr. Street, while here in Washington, gave the administration leaders assurances that he would not take part in the Mann movement. There is no reason why he should. He is recognized here and has no grievance at all.

It is the fact that the administration has just such other cases in the South as this that will make hard going for the Mann movement. For example, the North Carolina and Virginia organizations will not affiliate with him. C. Bascom Slemp, Virginia leader, would hardly lead his forces into the Mann camp, and neither would the North Carolina leaders. Slemp, as a matter of fact, never relished the prominence that Mann got as a Southern leader. That is what Mr. Slemp used to be called.

Mann might be able to get some following in those Democratic districts of Tennessee, but never in the two that are Republican. His home is in Tennessee and Claudius Huston, deposed national chairman, also comes from down there.

Two Districts Are Out.

It is a safe bet that he will not get into either the First or Second districts because neither Representatives Reece, of the First, nor Will Taylor, of the Second, has any grievance with official Washington.

In Texas, R. B. Creager, the Republican boss, is in such a happy and inflated mood that he visited Ambassador Morrow in Mexico City and gave out a statement saying that Mr. Morrow would go to the Senate and Mr. Hoover would be renominated. So, of course, he will not affiliate with Col. Mann.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Jahncke has been given Louisiana, so all that is left for Mann in which to operate is Georgia, Mississippi, Florida, and South Carolina, the sawmill belt, which does not amount to a row of pins from the Republican viewpoint.

Restrepo Colombia Premier.

Bogota, Colombia, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—President Enrique Olaya Herrera yesterday inaugurated president of the Republic of Colombia, has announced his cabinet. Carlos E. Restrepo will be premier.

HORTON LEAD GROWS WITH HULL WINNER

Reece Stays in Front for Republican Nomination in Tennessee.

BROCK IS EASY VICTOR

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Gov. Henry H. Horton strengthened his hold on renomination for another two year term as 1,859 precincts out of 2,251 gave him an unofficial majority in yesterday's Democratic primary of more than 38,000 over L. E. Gwynn, Memphis attorney. The vote stood: Horton, 128,882; Gwynn, 90,443.

Representative Cordell Hull, former chairman of the Democratic National Committee, won the Democratic nomination for the six year United States senatorial term by a plurality of approximately 54,000 over Andrew L. Todd, Murfreesboro capitalist. The unofficial count from 1,799 precincts was: Hull, 120,963; Todd, 66,328.

David W. Dodson, Nashville educator, the third candidate, received only scattered support.

Brock Wins Easily.

Senator William E. Brock, Democrat, of Chattanooga, seeking to return to the Senate for only the short term from November to March, won the nomination overwhelmingly from Dr. John R. Neal, of Knoxville. The vote from 1,429 precincts was: Brock, 79,915; Neal, 29,717.

Representative Carroll Reece, Republican, of the First District, continued to hold his lead for renomination. Returns from 178 out of 240 precincts gave: Reece, 17,338; Sam W. Price, 16,105.

Mitchell Piles Up Lead.

In the Fourth District, where three candidates sought the Democratic congressional seat relinquished by Hull, Judge J. R. Mitchell added to his lead over two opponents. With 172 out of 273 precincts reporting, he had 9,380, as against 6,962 of E. A. Albright and 2,744 of J. H. Owen.

Representative J. Will Taylor, Republican, Second District, won renomination easily over Judd Acuff, Knoxville attorney.

C. Arthur Bruce, Memphis lumberman, was well in the fore of Harry T. Burn, Sweetwater attorney, in the Republican contest for the governorship nomination. With 506 precincts reported, Bruce had 20,200 and Burn 13,960.

WOMEN MAY INSIST MRS. DODSON REMAIN

son had invited them, into a unanimous demand for her to reconsider her resignation. Failing, however, thus far to swerve her from her decision, the women are likely to appeal to the President.

"The women's executive committee is unanimous in its belief that Mrs. Dodson's resignation should not be accepted," said Mrs. Virginia White Speel, national committee woman and chairman of the Republican women's activities for the District of Columbia.

"She is held in the highest regard by every member of the committee. We feel that her resignation as director would be a public calamity."

So long as there is possibility of Mrs. Dodson's remaining no names are being suggested as her successor. What was termed Mrs. Dodson's simple but convincing manner of talking, her poise and common sense and her likable personality were reasons given by the committee women for wanting her to remain.

Mrs. Dodson would make no comment on her resignation, but her coworkers described her position, while Huston was chairman, as "responsibility without authority, shadow without substance."

"The women feel that Mrs. Dodson has amply demonstrated, in important positions she has held in the past, her ability to make decisions and deal with important problems herself," Mrs. Speel said.

Mrs. Dodson was the first chairman of the women's division of the Iowa Republican State central committee, having organized the Republican women of the State following the granting of suffrage. She also was the first woman to sit as officer on a national convention committee.

Republican committeewomen leading the movement to retain Mrs. Dodson as woman's director are Mrs. Paul Rewman, of South Dakota; Mrs. Worthington Scranton, of Pennsylvania; Mrs. Ellis A. Yost, of West Virginia; Mrs. Martha McClure, of Iowa; Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, of Massachusetts; Miss Grace Semple Burlingham, of Missouri; Mrs. Guy P. Gannett, of Maine, and Mrs. Speel.

Baby Feud Is Renewed By Familes in Chicago

Chicago, Aug. 8 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The Watkins-Bamberger baby feud was renewed today when Mrs. Margaret Watkins sought possession of the baby now in the possession of the Bambergers through court proceedings. A petition for a writ to produce the child in court and for an injunction restraining Johanna and Charles Bamberger from leaving the city was filed in the superior court by Attorneys Barratat O'Hara and Ronald Oldham.

The bill alleges that the child was wrongly christened George Edward Bamberger, and that the infant is the son of Mrs. Watkins. It also alleges that the Bambergers plan to leave the city with the child and asks that they be restrained from leaving the jurisdiction of the court.

RESCUING SUGAR.

The organization of a powerful group of Wall street and Canadian banking interests to rescue the Cuban sugar industry from its "present deplorable position" is especially interesting because of the storm that so recently centered about the sugar tariff. Congress increased the duty against Cuban sugar from 1.76 to 2 cents per pound in spite of widespread protests and a general belief that the higher duty would be of little value to domestic producers. Facts that are coming to light in connection with the organization of this relief movement tend to substantiate that view.

The Cuban industry is almost entirely dependent upon the United States for a market. Following the World War most of the European countries developed sugar supplies of their own in the interest of national defense. It is of the utmost importance to the United States that the Cuban industry be preserved for the same reason. This country can not expect to favor the foreign sugar interests of the Philippine Islands in time of peace and fall back on the Cuban supply (because of its proximity) in times of emergency.

Statistics released by sugar economists show that during the first six months of 1930 the United States imported only 1,068,197 tons of sugar from Cuba, compared with 2,289,009 tons for the corresponding period of 1929. This is a reduction of more than one-half. On the other hand imports from other sources increased. An analysis of these imports brings the country face to face with the issue that Congress dodged a few months ago.

Imports from Hawaii were about normal, but there was a considerable increase from Porto Rico. The largest increase, however, was from the Philippines, which sent 481,694 tons of sugar to the United States from January to June. This almost equals the total Filipino imports for the previous year. If the same rate of increase is maintained for the last six months of the year, the Philippine sugar trade in this country will be almost doubled. This sugar enters the country duty free in competition with the domestic as well as the Cuban industry.

It was pointed out when the subject was before Congress that a higher duty on Cuban sugar with no limitation from the Philippines would not give relief to the domestic producer, but only transfer trade from Cuba to the Philippines. Domestic producers saw the loop hole in the protection that was offered them, but went home thinking it would be a number of years before imports from the Philippines could be materially increased. The current situation is plain evidence of their mistake. Congress voted a premium to the foreign sugar interests of the Philippine Islands and aroused the ire of the American people in so doing.

To thus stimulate the sugar industry in the Philippines does not conform to common sense. The future status of the islands has not been determined. Should they be given independence the industry built up on the basis of a free American market would be ruined. Furthermore, it is uneconomical to promote a sugar industry that is so far away that it would be of no value in time of war, when an adequate supply may be obtained from Cuba, and domestic sources. The relationship between the United States and these islands may ultimately be very similar. Why should one be favored above the other?

By refusing to face the Philippine issue Congress made a grave mistake. But the problem has not been definitely avoided. It will be brought to Washington again by the demand of farmers that the Philippines be cut free, and by the distress of Americans interested in the Cuban industry. As long as American ports are open to unrestricted sugar imports from the Philippines the problem will continue to be acute.

DROUGHT RELIEF.

If there has been any doubt that the Government would commandeer all its resources to ameliorate the situation brought about by the drought it has been dissipated by President Hoover's prompt action in calling a conference of the governors of affected States to consider measures of relief. The President's ability for dealing with emergencies of this kind was well established during the World War and substantiated by his initiative in the recent business depression. The American people, he says, will be glad to take care of their own countrymen. In so far as the agencies of Government and community organizations can cope with this kind of a situation, people suffering from the drought may be assured of relief.

The survey as to the extent of the drought, its damage and possible means of relief has not been completed by the Department of Agriculture. But the situation is known to be sufficiently serious to demand action. President Hoover is to be commended for not waiting for the official report. Whatever relief is given will be most effective if rendered immediately. Nature may avert a serious crisis, but since rain can not be depended upon it is wisdom to push plans for amelioration with all possible speed.

Destruction of animal feed has been much more serious than the loss of human food. The prospective surplus of staple crops reduces the seriousness of the situation from a national standpoint. But a wholesale loss of animals would be a severe blow to farming communities. The present situation threatens 1,000,000 farm families with distress.

It is difficult to know what can be done by the Government itself in such an emergency. Provision can be made for movement of stock to unaffected areas. Precautionary steps against epidemics can be taken. Measures for conservation of water can be instituted, and provision can be taken against extra fire hazards. Such activities clearly call for action by the States as well as the Government. The situation also calls for whole-hearted public cooperation in any measures that may be found effective.

PORTAL PARKS.

The Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission has appointed a committee to confer with District officials regarding the proposed portal park to be located on Wisconsin avenue at the District line. This project has been under discussion for some time and it is to be hoped that appointment of the committee will lead directly to the actual establishment of the park. It is highly desirable that the gateway to the Capital on this much-traveled highway to the West be improved. Thousands of tourists enter Washington each week over this route.

Portal parks should be established at each of the major gateways to Washington. At present, the visiting motorist has no way of knowing when he passes across the State boundary and into the District. There should be imposing entrances on all the main highways, to bring visitors instantly to the realization that they are entering into their Capital City.

The portal park proposed for Wisconsin avenue promises to be the forerunner of other parks. When it is developed, a demand will arise for similar improvements in other parts of the city. It is for this reason that early construction of the Wisconsin avenue gateway is desirable. In 1932, Washington will celebrate the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington at which time each of the entrances to the city should be magnificently parked.

REAPPORTIONMENT.

Now that the census figures definitely fix the population of the United States at 122,698,190, it appears that the shifting of seats in the House of Representatives will be much more extensive than was expected. All of the preliminary calculations seem to have gone wrong, and States will not feel secure in counting their losses or gains until the official report is sent to Congress. Even then the results would be changed should Congress rule out the method of "major fractions" as the basis of the reapportionment.

At the time Congress voted on reapportionment it appeared that there would be only about 17 changes, 11 States losing and 6 gaining. The most recent calculations are that 35 seats will be affected. Instead of gaining 6, California will likely acquire 9 new congressmen. Instead of losing 1, New York stands to gain 2. Pennsylvania will apparently lose 2. Montana was slated to gain 1, but now it appears that that State was the only one among the 48 to show an actual loss of population.

All this confusion is due to the system of "major fractions" used to apportion seats in the House on the basis of population. On an average, every 281,000 inhabitants are entitled to elect a congressman. But the Constitution provides that every State shall have at least one representative. Otherwise Nevada would have no representation in the House, and the status of Wyoming and Delaware would be questionable. This leaves only 387 seats to be allotted on a strict population basis, as it is the intention not to increase the membership of the House.

The method of "major fractions" was used in 1840 and again in 1910. Since it worked out satisfactorily in the last reapportionment it is generally assumed that Congress will not apply a different system this time. The intricacies of the system are too numerous for the public to follow with any interest, but its fundamentals are relatively simple.

One congressman is allotted to each State. That accounts for 48 seats. To determine what States are entitled to the forty-ninth seat, the fiftieth, and so on through until all seats have been allotted, the population of each State is divided by 1½, then by 2½, 3½, and so forth. After this process of division has been carried out fully, the quotients are arranged in the order of their size. Since New York is the largest State, its quotient from dividing by 1½ will be the largest, and therefore that State is entitled to the forty-ninth representative. Pennsylvania must be awarded the fiftieth congressman for the same reason, and Illinois the fifty-first. New York would then be entitled to the fifty-second, because its quotient from the division by 2½ is higher than any other remaining number in the list. This process is followed through until all the 435 seats have been awarded.

The reapportionment will go into effect for the election of 1932 regardless of whether Congress acts. In the absence of any additional legislation the seats will be automatically apportioned, in accordance with the report of the Secretary of Commerce. But to avoid any confusion or delay Congress will no doubt find it wise to declare the reapportionment soon after it convenes in December. This would expedite the rearrangement of congressional districts within the States.

Cal Coolidge says that if postage rates are raised to 2½ cents it might be necessary to coin a 2½-cent piece for those who can not finance 5 cents worth of stamps in one purchase. Come, come, Cal; the depression never was that serious!

To those who have at one time or another "felt like 2 cents," Mr. Coolidge's proposed 2½-cent piece suggests a new standard of comparison in keeping with the increased cost of living.

Some Mexican official is reported to be seeking a war alliance with the United States. He must have the country confused with Chicago.

What the country needs is a free-for-all sitters' contest in which Congress could participate.

WHEAT AS A BARGAIN

From the Wall Street Journal.

Evidence accumulates, Roger W. Babson finds, that the smashing decline in grain price is being carried too far. Wheat, he notes, is lower than it has been since 1914 and approaches 1907 panic levels. The discovery of the New England economist, however, is not, as the journalist trade would put it, "spot" news, since wheat has been fluctuating around current levels for more than a month.

Mr. Babson believes that wheat appears to be well deflated, even taking into account world depression, lack of demand for export, surplus supplies and all other unfavorable factors. Nevertheless wheat appeared to be in the identically same position about a month ago. He cites two influences which may cause a recovery in farm prices. First, bargain prices always stimulate consumption. If one is inclined to doubt this, says Mr. Babson, watch the crowds at a fire sale or bankrupt sale, even in time of business depression. Second, staple farm products are selling so far below their cost to the producers that the latter will almost surely curtail the planting of winter wheat this fall, and will be very careful about planting other crops next spring.

While Mr. Babson's second statement will undoubtedly be heartening to Chairman Legge, of the Federal Farm Board, its accuracy may be questioned. The plan has received some attention in the Northwest area, on the condition that the entire country conforms to it. Acreage reduction has met with decided opposition from the wheat-producing areas of the Southwest, and more particularly in Kansas, which is generally a one-crop State.

One may say easily enough that wheat at $1 a bushel or lower is a bargain. Wheat sold under $1 for the first time during the past season on June 14. Sixteen days later, the crowd having failed to take advantage of the "big sale," the salesmen working behind the counter of the Chicago Pit offered the major cereal under 90 cents and a few days later at 83⅜ cents for July wheat. Still radical price revision failed to inspire any semblance of impressive buying power.

Last year, faced with a phenomenally large crop yield, Europe, excluding Russia, exported 286,000,000 bushels of wheat and imported 1,128,000,000 bushels, according to Department of Agriculture publications. The latter figure, one large grain house believes, may have been underestimated around 50,000,000 bushels. On August 1 this grain house estimated that the Continent would export 320,000,000 bushels in 1930 and import only 1,005,000,000 bushels, notwithstanding appreciably smaller crops in Italy and France.

There are better reasons than those Mr. Babson submits for believing that the wheat market has seen its worst. Weather damage to all crops is only now being fully appreciated. A shortage of feed crops promises to force the feeding of wheat to live stock and effect a substantial reduction in the exportable surplus of that grain. This is not good news to wheat farmers. It is too much in the nature of a salvage operation for that. But it is at least one ray of light to save the farmer from despair.

JUST FOLKS

THE WEARY MOTHER.

The weary mother sat her down
And slowly sewed the buttons on.
Oh, there were dances in the town
That night to which she might have gone.
And there was music sweet to hear,
And there were books she might have read,
But for a small boy sleeping near
She chose at home to sew instead.

And then she washed his little blouse
And nicely pressed it for the morn.
The next door neighbor left her house,
Her head held high, as if in scorn,
As if to say: "I go to dine
Where all is brilliantly gay,
Where silverware and glassware shine,
While busy at your tasks you stay."

The weary mother dressed her child
And proudly watched him walk the street
Upon his way to school and smiled
To see him look so trim and neat.
Her face was bright with happiness
The next door neighbor couldn't know,
She had no little girl to dress,
No little boy for whom to sew.

Not much of dances long remains,
Though music sweet is good to hear,
Time quickly ends the lovely strains.
The cares it soothes will reappear.
But toil for little girls and boys
Rewards the long and tedious night
And weary mothers find their joys

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

My dear Louise: It is the immemorial privilege of your sex to change its mind, but I think you can save yourself considerable heartache in years to come if you will learn to "make up your mind" a little more slowly.

Every week or so I hear that you have met some stranger—boy or girl, man or woman—who is "wonderful" or "perfectly adorable" or something of that kind, and then a week or two later I hear that the gold has begun to tarnish.

The flawless one who appeared to be so much finer than your ordinary acquaintances has turned out to be a mere human and you are keenly disappointed.

The fault, however, is not in the stranger. The fault is in you.

It's the kind of fault born in people—like a mean temper or a cheerful disposition—but it is one you can overcome by using a little bay-horse common sense.

The trouble with you is too much imagination and a disposition to expect too much.

When you meet a stranger who is at all presentable you forget that he is on his good behavior and at once endow him with all the virtues. At last you have found somebody in whom there is no fault.

It is very complimentary, but it is also very unfair. Nobody could measure up to the perfection you imagine in people you don't know very well.

And because you expect too much, it follows inevitably that you judge too harshly when you find out how badly you were fooled.

A safer and saner way is to begin by assuming that all people are much alike—strangers much like your intimate friends, except that they are hiding their faults to make a good impression.

If you will remember that and learn to suspend judgment until all the evidence is in you won't fall quite so hard, as you express it, when you meet ordinary people aglow with their company manners, and then you won't have so many disappointments to swallow when the shine wears off.

Looking on the bright side isn't a bad fault, but bread and butter tastes much better if you weren't expecting cake. Love, DAD.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

HOW MR. COOLIDGE DOES HIS STINT.

Widespread curiosity on the part of the American public has been expressed as to how former President Calvin Coolidge writes his daily syndicate article; whether he has any set time, how lon it takes him to bat out the stuff, where he gets his ideas, &c. This department, having conducted a secret investigation, is in a position to give the full facts to the world.

* * * *

First of all, Calvin works pretty well up with the current news, although the New York morning papers reaching Northampton are the early editions, containing a lot of fillers with headings such as "Pearl Divers Carry On Family Traditions," "American Safety Pin Exports Reach New High," "Tortoise Bears Initials Inscribed in 1867" and "Asparagus Culture a Fine Art." These papers are often late reaching the Coolidge manor house. This disturbs Mr. Coolidge no little, particularly if he has planned to get his work out of the way early and have a good day's sport balancing a budget or stick-whittling, or something.

* * * *

Having received and read the papers, Calvin sits down in the living room with paper and pencil. He has had this pencil since he was a small boy. The paper, however, is hard to keep that long, especially since he has taken up the writing game. Mr. Coolidge now proceeds to think. He unconsciously draws a few funny faces on a scratch pad, and adds a few figures, geometrical forms and meaningless circles. This is a habit of all writing men.

* * * *

Presently an idea comes to him for his daily article. At this point Mrs. Coolidge calls to him to come and help rehang a mirror and move a chiffonier. Calvin mutters something under his breath, but obeys like a good New England husband.

* * * *

This done, he returns to his literary pursuits, but can't find his pencil. A breeze from an open window has blown the paper with his notes on it away, too. He calls Mrs. Coolidge and demands to know what she did with his pencil. Mrs. Coolidge says she never saw his old pencil. The maid is asked if she picked up a pencil anywhere or swept up a sheet of paper with important notes on it. The maid replies, a little indignantly, that she hasn't even been in the room. After a time Mr. Coolidge finds that he has his pencil behind his ear.

* * * *

He now decides to go out on the porch and work. Here an Armenian rug and lace peddler interrupts his thoughts and urges him to buy a shawl, all done by hand. He chases the visitor away, but before he can concentrate on a good beginning for his daily article he is interrupted by (1) a neighbor who wants to borrow a cup of sugar, (2) a boy who can go through college if he gets 8,978,000 subscriptions to a magazine, (3) a tourist who wants to borrow a tire iron.

* * * *

Mr. Coolidge is now pretty sore. He decides to go to a room Mrs. Coolidge is fitting up as his den. The maid is dusting this, so he goes to the attic to get away from everything. Here he sits on an old trunk and tries to recall what he had in mind to write. A huge fly keeps lighting on his nose. It is pretty annoying to have a fly pester you like this when you are trying to frame a significant message for the world. Finally Mr. Coolidge wears down the fly and gets well into his opening paragraph, when he is called down to answer the telephone. It turns out to be a wrong connection.

The woman on the other end wants a dozen eggs, a pound of butter and a quart of milk sent up right away and she'll send Minnie down with the money later.

* * * *

Calvin now decides to try the cellar. It is cool and quiet down there behind the furnace. He is about to collect his thoughts again, when three strangers come in and start banging around with tools. It seems they picked this moment to come and give the heating system its prewinter overhauling.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Motor Police Discourage Crime Whose Votaries Are Often Boys and Young Men Unemployed Because Sisters and Sweethearts Monopolize Jobs Formerly Reserved to Them.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: According to my belief, the motorization of the police force, with which Commissioner Crosby is now experimenting, can not come an hour too soon. In Washington, as well as elsewhere, means for the suppression of crime have not kept pace with the increasing chances to break the law without punishment that seem to encourage contemporary criminals. The automobile itself makes possible the commission of crime and long-distance getaway. In numerous cases in the past few weeks it has served our local bandits (so-called) particularly well. So far as banditry is concerned, the idea that the danger is from the outside is erroneous. In these days every great center of population, no matter how God-fearing and law-respecting the general run of its citizenry may be, is likely to produce its own bandits. The reason is plain. The white-collar jobs which formerly gave thousands of our boys and young men an early start in life are now monopolized by their sisters and sweethearts. In the absence of work which they are able and might be inclined to do, quite a percentage of these boys and young men hesitate on the borderline of lawless adventure. From this class will be recruited the most troublesome lawbreakers of the future. Indeed, until they are taught that the easy-money, moving-picture stunts to which they are inclined are really dangerous, the crime problem will grow from bad to worse.

By all means, then, let the police force be motorized. But that is not enough. To curb crime we must be willing to pay the price. In order to meet the menace of the auto bandit, the tin-horn gambler, the ubiquitous bootlegger and the ruthless racketeer, the manpower of the police department must be materially increased, perhaps doubled. L. P. L.

Another Movement Suggested—This One to Eliminate Hitless Hurlers At the Old Bailiwick.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: "The business of pitchers cracking out homers against the Nats has got to stop. Jack Russell, of the Red Sox, slammed out one in Washington Sunday, while Charley Ruffing did so today," is a crack from The Post's column, "In the Wake of the Game."

Permit me also to observe that this business of Nat pitchers poking pop flies or weak grounders, or punching out, should cease.

The idea that pitchers should learn to bat has been given a slight amount of managerial attention, but some day a manager with more than the usual share of common sense and patience will profit by it.

In the early days of the game star pitchers began to make the importance of their specialty an excuse for carelessness at bat, until finally the idea was spread that ability to pitch and ability to hit were not usually to be expected in the same individual. This view seems to have been that of the raw pitching talent breaking into the big leagues up to the present time. As a result, it has been our common and agonizing experience to witness batting rally after batting rally busted by the infantile stick work of pitchers.

Without considering the fact that as a usual thing he is a husky lad with good eyesight, the average fan would think that the very nature of a pitcher's work might be good for his batting eye. At any rate, I do not see why it should interfere with his learning to bat any more than that the hitting of an infielder should be weakened by his special activities at the hot corner, at short, or on second base.

It seems to me it is about time to start a movement for the elimination of hitless hurlers.

FAITHFUL FAN.

Judge Smith Well Qualified to Represent Eighth Virginia District, Writes a Falls Church Citizen.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Judge Smith's sweeping victory in the Eighth Virginia District Democratic primary is due, in no small degree, to his manly and masterly stroke in refusing to close his eyes, stop his ears, kneel down and follow blindly the dictates of the Antisaloon League.

In answering that organization's questionnaire, Judge Smith promptly replied that he would support the eighteenth amendment and the laws enacted in support thereof, so long as those laws remain on the statute books. This should have been quite sufficient answer to satisfy the most ardent dry. Certainly no one who thinks for himself could have asked for more. But what happened? In reply to the league's further question, as to whether he would, if elected, support all legislation offered to strengthen the amendment, Judge Smith made the only reply that any man qualified to sit in Congress should make. He refused to promise any individual or group, in advance, that he would support such legislation; it would first have to be submitted and then by him be given careful consideration. This was his masterful stroke, which aisde from his many other virtues won him thousands of votes.

The people of Virginia now, as in the past, prefer to be represented in the halls of Congress by men who will do some thinking for themselves.

Mrs. Morrow To Leave for Mexico City

Will Depart on Thursday With Small Company to Capital.

MRS. DWIGHT W. MORROW, wife of the United States Ambassador to Mexico, will leave on Thursday to join her husband in Mexico City. They will remain there several weeks before returning to their home in Englewood for Mr. Morrow's senatorial campaign, in which Mrs. Morrow will again take an active part as a speaker and a broadcaster.

In the party which will leave Englewood next week in the Morrows' private car will be Miss Constance Morrow, the youngest daughter of the Ambassador and Mrs. Morrow; Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Hulst and Mr. and Mrs. John I. Howe.

Since Mr. Morrow has been Ambassador, he and his family have made many trips to and from Mexico, and always when they return they are accompanied by parties of guests who enjoy short visits in the southern republic. The embassy, unlike many of the United States embassies over the world, is not a large and imposing structure. At the end of a narrow street in a suburb of Mexico City, Cuernavaca, the visitor is confronted by a pair of large iron gates, and inside a series of low stucco or adobe buildings of one story and containing two or three rooms each. They are connected by a long cloister which encloses the beautiful patio which the Morrows use for their dining room. The cloister serves the purpose of reception room and ballroom when there is dancing. At the back of each of the suites of rooms is a walled garden of rare and brilliant flowers. There are seven of these gardens connecting with each other and each one more lovely than the first.

President Hoover tentatively accepted the invitation of President Ortiz Rubio to visit Mexico when the latter was here several months ago.

Ambassador Morrow, who will resign his post this fall to make his senatorial campaign, has urged Mr. Hoover to make the visit before that time. The President, it is said, desires to make the visit between his proposed Western trip and the time Congress convenes in December. This will leave him October and November for the trip, when he could also visit Porto Rico and Cuba.

HIDE IN THE DARK

By FRANCES NOYES HART

Author of "The Bellamy Trial"

Time: All-Hallows Eve.
Place: Lady Court, an old manor house south of Washington.

CAST OF CHARACTERS.

Lindy Marsden, lonely, lovely, a dark-eyed romanticist, and mistress of Lady Court.

Doug King, hilarious and jovial, the life of every party and the founder of the March Hares.

Nell Sheridan, sleek, dark, highly successful in his career as a lawyer and husband of Trudi, wise, witty and chic, with all the ease of manner of a grand duchess and the lack of manners of a fishwife.

Chatty Ross, small, coy, blindly adoring wife of Tom Ross, the least successful man in the room, shabby and sensitive among his wealthy friends.

Hanna Dart, a gentle lady, immaculately beautiful, whose reserve masks a deep affection for her husband.

Gavin Dart, a rather tired and immensely successful business man of 50, with shrewd, dark eyes and steel-gray hair.

Ray Hardy, the youngest member of the party, not long married and overwhelmingly in love with

Joel Hardy, her charming and irrepressible husband, who has not grown five minutes older in the last ten years.

Jill Leighton, graceful and gracious, stepsister of that legendary Sunny, the beloved girl whose strange death ten years ago still lies like a shadow over the gay group.

Larry Redmond, an agreeable young banker, who can not understand why Jill hates him.

Kit Baird, wanderer and adventurer in strange lands, who in his casual way does every romantic thing magnificently well.

THE STORY THUS FAR.

Thirteen gay revelers, calling themselves the March Hares, have gathered at Lady Court, an old manor house. As the party gets under way, some one starts a graphophone. The record is "Underneath the Stars." Sunny's tune. Sunny herself, whom every one loved, having been drowned in Washington.

Later Lindy, alone with Kit, confesses her love for him, while in another part of the house Larry proclaims his love to Jill. Kit and Doug quarrel when Lindy (for the moment) declines to dance with King. The situation is saved when Lindy tells a murder story.

Lindy corners Kit again and teases him about being jealous of Doug. Later, as she chants, "Mirror, mirror——," Kit's face appears in the glass. She drops the mirror, which is broken, and Doug is furious. Kit discovers a bridge has been washed out, and the party is marooned.

Some one suggests cards until midnight. Kit is a big winner at poker, with Doug the victim. Then Doug accidentally cuts his thumb, goes upstairs to treat the wound, and calls for Lindy to aid him.

NOW CONTINUE THE STORY.

"Well, of all the confounded gall!" commented Joel Hardy. "Why didn't he whistle for her like a dog?"

"Possibly because a dog can't whistle." Kit Baird smiled down inscrutably at his guitar. "And now how about abandoning the lute for the more serious business of the evening?"

"Larry, you might cut around and unlock that door at the back of the chapel and see that the service quarters are dark. What time is it, anyway?"

"About ten to 12."

Hanna, who had been tranquilly peeling chestnuts into a little copper bowl, gave a sudden wail of dismay. "Ten minutes to 12? Oh, heavens, that's simply too dreadful. Gavin, I absolutely forgot that I'd told Mademoiselle that Jd call up to find out how Jeff's cold is——"

No Telephone Service.

Gavin said easily, "Well, my dear, that's no very harrowing catastrophe. We'll try the first thing in the morning. The little [illegible] was getting on all right when [illegible]."

"No, no—she'll [illegible] here till dawn waiting to hear fro[illegible]ne. Do hurry. It ought to be eas[illegible] to get a call through at this time of night."

"Then if some one will show me where the phone is——"

"In that cubbyhole to the right of the stairs." Joel followed him to the door. "Here, I'll turn the light on for you out there. It's one of those old-fashioned kind. . . . What's the matter, doesn't she answer?"

"The darn thing's deader than the Dead Sea. How about this storm?"

Joel cried, "Oh, but of course it's the storm. If it could pull up trees and tear down bridges, what couldn't it do to a telephone wire? Well, now we are marooned!" She added in the electrified silence, "Children, we won't be able to get any one to fix the bridge!"

A small, cold voice by the fire said: "No—not any one. We waited too long . . . now it's too late."

Trudi demanded sternly, "Is that little bird of evil omen at it again? Put a bag over her head, Joel. Personally, I've always ached to live in a house without a telephone for even five minutes. Come on back, Gavin. You won't make it work by looking dignified and reproachful. . . . Ah-ha, the prodigal children back, and just about in time, what's more. That clock's going to be tolling 12 before we know it. Were there any lights upstairs except the ones on the two landings, Lindy?"

Lindy, her face bent over the abandoned card table by the door, said in her exquisite and unruffled voice: "I'm not sure. Did you turn out the one behind you, Doug?"

Doug steadied himself with a hand on the sofa. Even in the firelight it was obvious that he was drunk with something headier than wine. He was swollen and flushed with some immense secret triumph that made the earth itself reel beneath his feet.

He said, "Yes. Don't know about the others, though—thought I saw one down the north corridor."

Trudi announced solemnly, "Doug King, I've been waiting for this night for ten years. The last time we were out here you bet me $10 that next time you were the Hider you'd find a place that I wouldn't dig you out of for three hours. Does it stand?"

"It stands."

"Is this the next time?"

"This is the next time."

"You heard him, children—he's the Hider. Sure you understand the rules of this game, Gavin? You, Ray?"

The girl by the fire who could not warm her hands said, "Sure," and moved quietly into the cold shadows.

"All right, then, we'll put out this fire. Get that bucket, Kit, it still has some water in it. Swash it over those coals in the corner . . . we don't want even a glimmer."

The room plunged headlong into darkness.

Doug's Plan to Hide.

Doug King, moving toward the figure silhouetted against the window, whispered, "That you, Jill?"

She said, "Yes—why? What is it?"

"Whisper, will you? Listen, I want to try out that hiding stunt we planned last time—you know, the purloined letter stuff—the most obvious place in the house, that no one in God's world would think of looking. How about the sofa in front of the fire?"

"Splendid! Oh, Doug, I've been trying all evening to get hold of you. There's something I simply have to ask you, something really important——"

"All right, all right—later. Only for heaven's sake don't give me away! Make sure that the coast is clear before you come in. There goes the clock."

Trudi's voice rose above the slow strokes like a trumpet calling to battle. "To the third landing, every one."

"Catch that light down by Jill's room some one."

"Can't we even light a cigarette?"

"Not a chance! All present and accounted for? Let's go!"

"Good night, wait a minute. I can't even find the gong."

"All right, stand clear, every one!"

The voices, drifting farther and farther away into the shadows, fell abruptly into silence, leaving the great room waiting, transfixed, in a silence deeper still. One voice rose again.

"Two minutes from the time this gong strikes till it strikes again. Stand perfectly still, every one. We can all hear, even if we can't see. Now!"

It rang out with a long clang that was at once a warning and a menace, echoing and reverberating as though it would never have done—and suddenly was done, leaving something behind more disturbing than all its clamor.

Silence—with even the wind holding its breath to listen. Silence deeper than the darkness . . . the long, intolerable silence of suspended breath.

Far away, from the landing, there was a small sound of stifled laughter, a board creaked and the room, feeling something colder than the wind pass through it, shuddered, and was still.

A Ghastly Scene.

The gong! And instantly the night was filled again with sounds. The sound of small, distant scurryings on the stairs, of hands brushing cautiously along paneled walls, of rebellious whispers, trailing to silence—the sound of furtive breathings, of less furtive stumbles, of a voice raised sharply in inarticulate protest, of a sudden and anonymous break of laughter . . .

In the room feet ran light and swift and were gone—something fell, with a frantic and unretrieved clatter . . . a voice said "damn" softly and another voice from the hall said "hush-h-h" more softly still. Silence . . . and feet again . . . and silence.

In the darkness near the sofa there was a little stir and a breathless murmur edged with laughter . . . and almost before the murmuring had faded, some one screamed—frantically, appallingly, as though horror itself had found a tongue. It tore through the house like something alive and frenzied with terfor, and from the house clamor rose to greet it. Instantly the darkness was filled with running feet and voices.

"What's the matter?"

"Can't any one find those lights?"

"Make her stop, make her stop!"

Suddenly some one found the lights.

Jill Leighton was standing quite still by the sofa, her hands thrust stiffly in front of her, staring straight ahead of her with dreadful, distended eyes—the hands were red, from fingertip to knuckle, from knuckle to wrist—she was staring straight at the ghastly huddle that had been Douglas King.

Confusion.

The group in the doorway stood staring at Jill like lunatics frozen in a nightmare, tranced in incredulous horror, staring at the red hands, stretched out stiffly as a doll's—staring at what lay beyond them. . . . Upstairs a door slammed; there was a quick clatter on the stairs and some one shouted peremptorily:

"Hey, what's the racket down there? Holding a mass meeting?"

Kit Baird said in a low voice, "Shut up, you fool," and Larry asked quietly from the hall, "Is something wrong?"

The voice from the stairs inquired in tones of startled indignation: "Hey, how do you get that way? What's going on down there, anyway?"

Chatty Ross, clinging to the table by the door, said in a flat little monotone: "It's Jill—Jill Leighton. She's killed Doug King." And the girl with the red hands screamed again, straining frantically to push them farther from her.

Larry Redmond, shouldering his way through the huddled figures, said as quietly as before, "Stand still, darling. Close your eyes—don't try to move. That's my girl."

He took the dreadful little hands in his, wrapping his handkerchief about them, lifted her in his arms, and swung to confront the faces, still frozen in the dark doorway.

"I gather you'd have stood there and let her go stark, staring mad before your eyes? You're a fine crew, I'll say that for you." He stood, surveying them with a bitter contempt. "Get a glass of water, some one."

Sherry reached out and poured it blindly, the glass chattering against the lip of the pitcher, unheeded and unrestrained, as he remarked in a voice that wavered, and slipped abruptly from control. "Well, this is s-some party, I'll tell the world. S-some party——"

Thought He Was Asleep.

He put the pitcher down with a crash and turned his face to the wall, his shoulders heaving.

It was Lindy who retrieved the glass and carried it across the floor. It was filled to the brim, but not a drop spilled; and, though she was whiter than the girl in Larry's arms, the voice of silver and dreams was as unshaken as her hand. She said gently:

"Put her down there, Larry—in the chair, that way. See, she hasn't fainted; she's all right." She knelt, slipping a hand behind the tawny head, holding the glass to the blanched lips. "Darling, we didn't mean to frighten you. It was just that people in a nightmare don't move or act or speak like real people, and for a minute we were all in a nightmare. Dring this for Lindy—drink it for Lindy, because she loves you so."

Jill, staring over the rim of the glass with the eyes of a desperate child, whispered through stiffened lips.

"Lindy, I thought he was asleep . . . Lindy, I thought has was asleep and I tried to wake him. . . . I tried——" She pushed the glass from her, a terrific revulsion contracting her face, and buried her head on Lindy's shoulder, shaken with something more dreadful than tears.

Larry asked, his eyes still gray ice. "Who was in this room at the time the lights went on? Incidentally, just why were the lights turned on?"

Kit, leaning against the door jamb, inquired with mild interest, "Are you the prosecutor, Larry? Jill screamed, didn't you hear her?"

"No, I was out near the linen press on the second floor. The first thing that I heard was Joel shouting from the stairs and I came on down past him. Were you all standing where you are now when the lights went up? Who turned them up?"

Kit suggested equably, "Ask one thing at a time; some of us might get rattled."

"Were you all here when the lights went on?"

"To the best of my belief, all of us that are here now were here when the lights went on. But we aren't all here now, are we?"

"Well, I don't see Ray Hardy, for one. And for another, Gavin Dart."

RETIRED CHAPLAIN IN CAPITAL PULPIT

Lieut. Col. Pruden to Preach in Transfiguration Church Tomorrow.

SERVED IN TWO WARS

Washington is the home of retired Army and Navy officers, and among the lot are many splendid gentlemen who have been chaplains in both services. Their life in the service has been cast in such a peculiar mold that it is not always easy for them to fit themselves into civilian life when Uncle Sam hands them a pink ticket. But they do not forget that they volunteered in the army of the Lord before they signed up with Uncle Sam, and their good works go on in places where they are not often seen. This writer knows several such noble ministers.

Not all of them have the opportunity that Chaplain John Frazer of the Navy had to serve a congregation while the pastor went out into the highways and byways to get the money with which to build such a beautiful edifice as the Church of the Pilgrims worships in. But they help out in other ways.

One of these retired chaplains, well known to the Army, is Lieut. Col. Alfred A. Pruden, who will occupy the pulpit of the Church of the Transfiguration at all services tomorrow. His history has been interesting.

Trained in Alexandria.

He is a Virginian, born in Nansemond County in 1866; educated in that county and in the military school at Suffolk. An Episcopalian, he took his theology at the famous old seminary near Alexandria and then served as rector of churches at Radford, Va., and Durham, N. C.

While in the latter parish the Spanish-American War broke out. He volunteered and went to Cuba as chaplain with the rank of captain, serving in the First North Carolina Infantry. One of his efforts led to securing a "chapel, library and recreation tent," the first of these familiar institutions in the Army; and it was so successful it has been universally adopted by the chaplains, and in later years the War Department furnished the tents.

When that war ended, Chaplain Pruden became connected with St. Mary's School at Raleigh, N. C., and during his two years' service there he personally raised the funds to pay off a large and burdensome debt and give the school endowment to expand and prosper.

The call of the Army was on him, and on February 2, 1901, he enlisted in the regular establishment and served as chaplain of the old Second Infantry for more than 13 years in the Philippines, in Hawaii, and in various parts of the United States.

When the World War sucked the United States into its fiery furnace Chaplain Pruden was stationed at Fortress Monroe. He immediately set about raising $10,000 with which to equip six recreation centers to take care of the soldiers concentrated on the Virginia coast.

Taught Army Chaplains.

His big job, however, was training ministers for their duty as Army chaplains, and this job the War Department gave him. It is one thing to preach to a congregation and tend a flock, and quite another thing to be spiritual director to an army gathered from all parts of this great Nation.

Maj. Pruden, for that was his rank, organized the school of chaplains and took command of it. Under his direction several thousand clergymen of all creeds, many races and several colors were taught "how to perform their ecclesiastical functions under military conditions." This made Chaplain Pruden the best known "sky pilot" in the service.

In 1920 this good man retired with the rank of lieutenant colonel, and has been living quietly in this city of churches and preachers.

Churches in Prayers To Ask Drought End

Petitions for Showers by Elijah and John Axley Are Recalled.

By DAVID RANKIN BARBEE.

Those who know their Scripture know how the Prophet Elijah, one of the greatest of the heroes of Israel, met a situation just like the terrible drought through which this country has been passing for more than 40 days. It may be possible that some of the brethren do not know their Scripture, or the history of the Jewish race; and for the benefit of such the Biblical narrative is quoted here.

"And Elijah went up to the top of Carmel; and he cast himself down upon the earth, and put his face between his knees.

"And said to his servant, 'Go up now, and look to the sea.' And he went up, and looked, and said, "There is nothing.' And he said: 'Go again seven times.'

"And it came to pass at the seventh time, that he said: 'Behold, there ariseth a little cloud out of the sea, like a man's hand.' And he said, 'Go up, say to Ahab, 'Prepare thy chariot, and get thee down, that the rain stop thee not.'"

Great Rain Followed.

"And it came to pass in the meanwhile, that the heaven was black with clouds and wind, and there was a great rain."

This is what the ministers in the drought region are doing today. Many of them who have not given old Elijah a thought for a long twelve months, are telling God what a good deed he did when Elijah asked him and are pleading for the cloud "like a man's hand."

Reports are reaching Washington of daily prayer meetings, as at Hagerstown, Md., where the people suspend all work and go to their churches to pray for rain. The Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, has ordered special prayers said in all the churches of his diocese for rain. Similar petitions will go up from thousands of pulpits tomorrow. The people who are suffering are in dead earnest about this matter. They are in a position where they can not help themselves, so they turn to the invisible God, who made the rain, and ask His help.

Terrible Drought in 1857.

Just recently, in doing some research work through the files of old newspapers of the decade just anterior to the War of '61 I ran across numerous references to the terrible drought of 1857, which was one of the severest Washington had ever known. For 40 days and 40 nights literally, the news reports stated, no rain fell. All vegetation was burned to a crisp brown; flowers wilted and fell in a dead heap to the ground; the dust on the streets was so thick that if one walked two blocks he was covered with silt as with ashes, and the water supply ran so low as to be perilous. Most of the houses of that day were supplied from cisterns and wells.

Before the relief came the people met daily in their churches and in their homes and held prayer services—here in Washington and throughout the entire belt covered by the terrible visitation. Our suffering today would seem to be mild in comparison with that which the people endured 73 years ago.

In this scientific age there are a great number of people who will deride any such idea as that an invisible and unseen presence can and does control the elements and can send or withhold rain at His will. There is also a large element which believes that the God of the Jews, who sent the rain that Elijah prayed for, will also send the rain the John Smith prays for. And to this element this writing is addressed.

Prayers by James Axley.

In the early days of Methodism on this continent there was a plain old circuit rider who was the Elijah of his day, for he often wrestled in prayer with his Lord, and his Lord often answered his prayers. In material things he was just as earnest in his petitions as in spiritual things.

His name was James Axley, and he was particularly well known in the South, where, as the companion of the sainted Bishop Francis Asbury, he traveled a wide circuit and preached to many thousands of people. A writer, in 1857, who had known the old man in his last years, during the drought period recalled this incident in the life of James Axley, which shows what faith those early Methodist circuit riders had, and particularly the unusual qualities that marked "Uncle Jimmy," as he was affectionately called.

"Infidelity may scoff," said this writer, "and 'philosophy so-called' may mark it as a 'strange coincidence,' but the fact remains to be attested by hundreds of witnesses still living (December, 1857) that time after time Axley has been known, at popular meetings in times of severe drought, to pray for rain with all the apparent earnestness of humility, childlike simplicity, and Christian confidence with which he would have prayed for the conversion of a penitent; and rain came! So often did it occur in the course of years, that it became common, when he publicly prayed for rain, for some wicked man to say: 'Come, boys, let's go on; we'll get wet; Axley's prayed for rain.'

He Prayed for Rain.

"In this we record but sober facts; and I must mention one case known to several persons now living, who were present and witnessed it. It occurred at Muddy Creek Campmeeting, Roane County, Tennessee, some 24 or 25 miles west or southwest of Knoxville. A drought had prevailed all over that region of country for an unusually long time, and prospects were becoming truly alarming. On Sabbath of campmeeting Mr. Axley entered the pulpit. Over him was a cloudless sky, around and beneath him parched earth. It had been remarked, during his stay on the ground, previous to that hour, that he had been more than ordinarily serious, thoughtful and taciturn—as though something weighed on his mind. On his entering the stand his friends observed that his countenance was deeply overshadowed with a gloom.

"He sang and prayed. In his prayer, on the part of himself and the people, he made a general confession of sin, subsequent unworthiness, plead the merits of a crucified Redeemer, and implored pardon for the past and grace for the future. Then, among the other petitions, devotedly and fervently he asked for rain upon the parched earth.

"The prayer ended, he arose from his knees, with gloom still upon his countenance, so deeply and clearly marked as to excite the sympathy of his friends Instead of announcing his text and proceeding with his sermon, as was expected, he sang a few lines, and again called the congregation to prayer. This time entreaties for rain were strikingly and touchingly earnest and fervent, and the pleas put in different tones from those of his first prayer.

"A second time he arose from his knees. Now his countenance was indicative of intense mental suffering. A third time he sang, and a third time he bowed in prayer. In this prayer he entreated God, for the sake of Christ, and in mercy to infants and unsinning animals, which had not abused His goodness, despised His mercies, blasphemed His holy name, desecrated His Sabbaths, nor violated His commandments, to send rain, and preserve them from the horror of want.

Third Prayer Is Ended.

"This prayer ended, he arose, with a countenance lighted up and as calm as a 'summer eve.' He then announced his text, and preached in his usual manner, without the most distant allusion to the unusual manner in which he had opened the exercises, or the feelings that had prompted him. He simply went forward, and did as I relate, giving no reason to any one.

"But ere that sermon was ended the dark horizon and distant thunder announced the coming rain. The same God that heard Elijah had heard him. Many preachers and people present seemed awe-stricken.

"On his going into the preachers' camp soon after the service, and while the clouds were gathering, a brother ventured the remark: 'Brother Axley, it seems God is about to answer your prayers.' With a look and manner that plainly showed he was deeply pained by the allusion, he simply replied: 'It will be a great mercy if He does;' and turned and walked out of the camp and away from the encampment.

"He never alluded to these scenes after they had passed, nor did any one who knew him dare to do so in his presence."

There may be no Axleys in the ministry today, but the same God who heard him and heard Elijah is still living, and the world is still peopled with infants and unsinning animals. God may be testing the faith of His people by this experience. Who knows?

POET WILL PREACH IN MOUNT VERNON

Bishop Horace M. Du Bose Has Served Muse but Latterly Politics.

FOUNDER OF EPWORTH

A poet comes to Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church tomorrow in the person of Bishop Horace M. DuBose, of Winston-Salem, N. C., who is the second of the trinity of bishops to fill this pulpit during the vacation of the popular pastor, Dr. William A. Lambeth.

Within recent years, Bishop DuBose has not been listening to his muse, but has rather turned his genuius to archeology and politics and to founding a Lincoln Memorial Church at Hodgenville, Ky., the birthplace of the emancipator. This last named venture has created a great stir of opposition in the South, particularly in the Southern Methodist Church and among the Daughters of the Confederacy.

During the last presidential campaign Bishop DuBose was president of the Antisaloon League of Tennessee, which State was his episcopal district, and as such he took an active part in that campaign under the leadership of Bishop James Cannon. Tennessee, a normally Democratic State, voted for Hoover.

As an archaeologist, Bishop DuBose was a leader in the great expedition conducted by Prof. Ernst Sellin, of the University of Berlin, one of the foremost European explorers, an expedition financed largely by Duke University and which led to epochal discoveries at Shechem in the plains of Palestine.

Father of Epworth League.

His place in history will probably rest upon the fact that he is the father of the Epworth League, the young people's society in American Methodism. For many years he was secretary and editor of this department in his own church, and after that was editor of the Methodist Review.

By birth Bishop DuBose is a native of Alabama, of French extraction. No man has yet traced the influence of French civilization on the course of events in America, and while much has been written about the Huguenots in Virginia and in the Carolinas, and something about the French colony of Louisiana and the French settlements in the Mississippi Valley founded by the intrepid Jesuits and others who first sailed down the Father of Waters, practically nothing has been written about the French in Alabama.

The first French settlement in America was on Biloxi Bay—the Back Bay, it is called—and a little later the colony moved to Mobile, which for many years was the capital of the colony of Louisiana. Here came the first rebellion in our colonial history, when all the women in the colony organized against the men and rose up in a mighty demand for their rights.

"No rights, no corn pone," they shouted. They got their rights! An Alabamian finds no meal, breakfast, dinner or supper, complete without its ever present corn pone. If it should be denied him, he would curl up and pine away and die. That most delicious of breads is to him what "baked beans and brown bread" is to a Boston breakfast.

Emigrated to Alabama.

After Napoleon's defeat at Waterloo a ship load of his soldiers, led by some of his marshals and generals, came to Mobile, and going up the Tombright River founded a number of settlements, to some of which they gave classic names and to others the names of some of their great battles. Hence came Marengo County. Hence came Demopolis and hence Linden, named for the battle of Hohenlinden. This migration is strangely left out of the histories of Alabama, even the monumental history by the late Dr. Thomas M. Owen, the son-in-law of Senator John H. Bankhead, but the travelers who visited Alabama in that early day have not failed to chronicle its existence and history.

Most of these French immigrants were Catholics, but some of them were Huguenots, and from the latter stock our bishop was descended. He was born in Choctow County, a good old Indian name, and his family patronymic probably was DuBois.

As a Methodist preacher he has labored in Mississippi, in California, where he was both pastor and the first editor of the Pacific Methodist; in Texas, in Georgia, and elsewhere. He has had a varied experience in his long life, writing poetry and novels in his young manhood, and biography and history in his maturer years, and his last writing being a series of essays, in which famous European scholars participated along with famous Americans, on the fundamentals of the Christian faith. These he called the Aftermath Series, which linked him with the fundamentalist group in theology.—D. R. B.

GREGORY TO PREACH IN COVENANT PULPIT

Congregation to Hear Popular Minister Who Served Them Last Year.

NOW PASTOR IN UTICA

A young minister who is very popular with the congregation of the Church of the Covenant, the Rev. John B. Gregory, will occupy that pulpit tomorrow morning. He served as stated supply all of last summer and until Dr. Macartney, the pastor, arrived in January to take up his labors. On leaving here Mr. Gregory received a call to Utica, N. Y., where he is pastor of the Olivet Presbyterian Church, having been installed in March.

This young minister was born in a Presbyterian manse and educated in a Presbyterian college. His father, the Rev. C. E. Gregory, is and has been for many years pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Morganton, N. C., one of the oldest and loveliest towns in the old North State.

Although the family is of Ohio extraction, it was adopted into the hearts and homes of the people of Morganton, and there the boy grew up, and there he made his decision to become a Presbyterian minister. He was ordained when he was 19 years of age and then went to Hamilton College, at Utica, and later to the famous old Scotch Presbyterian seminaries in Edinburgh, where they dipped him in the cerulean waters of the Covenanter's faith. Thus his Presbyterianism became fixed as the stars in heaven.

It is said that Mr. Gregory preaches hot-weather sermons all the time—that is, about fifteen minutes—his discourses being compact and full of meat.

For the succeeding Sundays in this month, during the absence in California of Dr. Macartney, the Covenant pulpit will be filled by Dr. Frederick W. Evans, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Troy, New York, and by Dr. Charles E. Jefferson, of Broadway Tabernacle, New York City, one of the most eminent ministers in the country.

night and at the patrol competitions this morning.

Mrs. May Flather, wife of Henry D. Flather, Washington capitalist, whose $10,000 contribution started the camp project and after whom the camp is named, was lauded for her efforts in behalf of Girl Scouts. Not only her gift but her spirit to help make life better for the girls was praised. Mrs. Flather, responding, said that it had been a great joy to her to aid the camp.

Mrs. Cheatham, as chairman of the building committee, then presented the camp to the Girl Scout Council of the District of Columbia through Mrs. Garrett Miller, jr., head of the District organization. Mrs. Miller then dedicated the camp to the "happiness and betterment of the Girl Scouts of the District of Columbia."

Four Girl Scouts, one representing each troop, next extended their thanks to the camp benefactors, while Miss Dorothy Greene, the camp directress, told of activities at the camp and plans for the future. Mrs. Cheatham was the principal speaker at the exercises.

J. L. Kramer, of Stokesville, foreman of the construction force, then presented the rustic gateway erected by the 50 resident workmen in appreciation of their steady employment during the summer. The dedicatory ceremonies were staged in the shaded lawn in front of the camp dining hall. The throng formed a quadrangle, with Mrs. Hoover and the District of Columbia leaders at one end facing the 170 green-clad Girl Scouts at the opposite end. To Mrs. Hoover's right were the workmen, their families and the neighbors from Stokesville.

LINDBERGH'S RADIO SPEECH IS BALKED

until it was all that his words had not reached their goal.

"Are you nervous?" some one asked in the little chilled room at the studios of the Columbia Broadcasting System just before the flying colonel began to speak.

He looked briefly about the soundproof cubicle. The two cylindrical microphones were on their high pedestals, the officials huddled in a corner, his wife quietly smiling from a wicker chair. The voice testers were going through their preparatory litany: "one, two, one, two, one two."

"Why should I be nervous about going on the air?" asked the man to whom the air is home.

Reads Prepared Address.

And then he proceeded to read his prepared address, unmindful that all his vast and waiting audience was deafened by the storm. His considered message to the world was about what he thought of aviation, its function and its future.

Fortunately, two separate broadcasts of the Lindbergh speech had been arranged. The first, the one the storm destroyed, was a shortwave broadcast, intended purely for other lands. That was at 3:30 p. m., Eastern standard time. The other, at 10 o'clock, was for domestic listeners, and also was carried by short wave. So that if disappointed listeners in other continents cared to stay up until the small hours of the morning they could get another chance to hear.

In his address, which took just eight minutes to deliver, Col. Lindbergh spoke of the close alliance between development of transportation and the general improvement of civilization.

Advance in Living Methods Seen.

"If we accept the principle," he said, "that life today is preferable to that of ancient times, then it is logical to assume that any future improvement in transportation will result in a corresponding advance in methods of living."

He spoke of the great continental air systems of today and predicted that within a few years transoceanic lines would link these into a worldwide network. In closing he urged the necessity of internationally uniform air regulations, so that the intercontinental fliers of the future should not be impeded by national restrictions.

Col. Lindbergh seemed perfectly calm while he was talking before the twin microphones.

VACATION.

After days of strenuous toil and nights of weary vigil, Jesus said to His assistants, "Come ye, yourselves, apart into a desert place and rest awhile." (Mark vi:31.)

All life is subject to rhythmic law. Periods of relaxation must follow periods of great physical or mental exertion. A bow, to retain its elasticity, must at times be unstrung. We must have periods of rest in order to maintain our highest efficiency.

Shakespeare has Macbeth say:

"The innocent sleep:
Sleep that knits up the ravell'd sleeve of care,
The death of each day's life, sore labor's bath,
Balm of hurt minds, great nature's second course,
Chief nourisher in life's feast."

While the writer of the Psalms reminds up that "He giveth His beloved sleep."

At this season of the year, thousands hie away for longer or shorter periods from office, store or desk, to the country, lake, sea or river, to rest awhile.

This it necessary and good. However, too frequently such a vacation represents a period of dissipation, rather than relaxation, and instead of our being a beneficiary of great possible good we are in reality its victims. Consequently we return to our tasks less prepared for their exactions than before. It is not unusual to find a period of recuperation necessary following a "vacation" period.

"Apart" is the keynote of this message from the Master. This meant separation from the daily and hourly contacts which their work involved. It included change of environment and association. They went from the "crowded ways" of life to a desert place apart. To withdraw from the clatter and noise of business to the open spaces, the rivers, the lakes, or to mountain fastnesses, where one may walk in the shade of the trees, follow the brooklet as it meanders through the meadows, or listen to cadences of the waterfall, or the deep organtones of the breakers as they roll up on the beach, leads to true recreation and renewal of spirit.

When one gets close to nature he is well on the way to get close to God. The child, busy in his life of imitation, at last seeks repose in its parents arms. We who are merely children of a larger growth will do well to seek rest in the arms of the All-Parent.

Into our periods of vacation, no excesses should be permitted to invade. Moderation should be the constant watchword. Without this fine control, the value of a vacation is canceled and its purpose defeated.

The full enjoyment of a vacation can come only to those who have faithfully striven and served. To all such comes the call of mountain, river and sea, blending in one sweet harmony with the Master's voice, "Come ye apart and rest awhile."

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

DECLARING there is very little difference in the amount of power used by radio stations this year and the amount used during the last few years, W. D. Terrell, chief radio supervisor, sees no connection between broadcasting and the drought.

"When there was an excessive rainfall several years ago," Mr. Terrell commented, "some one suggested closing the radio stations to prevent floods."

Apparently having exploited him every other way, they are going to drag Zaro Agha, the old Turk, to the microphone for a few words Monday night (WJZ, 6:30 p. m.).

A feminine listener reading in this column that Eskimo Harry Reser imitated a locomotive with his banjo last week, a steamboat this week, and would imitate a couple of swinging doors next, appeared puzzled and asked seriously:

"How on earth could anybody imitate a couple of swinging doors?"

TO introduce their new screen-grid radiola superheterodyne, claimed to be four times more sensitive than recent models and three times as selective, W. H. Anthony, jr., manager for Joseph M. Zamoiski, new R. C. A. distributor, is making preparations to entertain dealers from nearby Virginia, Maryland and the District at dinner at Wardman Park next Wednesday evening.

About 200 dealers are expected. C. J. Zamoiski will be the toastmaster and the speakers will include E. H. Vogel, of Camden, advertising manager of the R. C. A.-Victor Co.

The guests will assemble at 5:30 p. m.

Whether they win or not, the boys in the District and the 48 States competing in the local baseball games for the right to be on the two contesting teams in the American Legion's junior series will be able to hear the championship series broadcast from Memphis, beginning Thursday, August 28.

"ARE Summer Camps Safe?" a question made pertinent in the minds of thousands of parents by the recent drowning at a Maine boys' camp of Al Lasaman, former New York University football star, will be answered in a radio talk by Albert W. Whitney, vice president of the National Safety Council, tonight. (WEAF, 5:30 p. m.)

On a recent evening a party of automobile tourists drew up to the curb of the principal thoroughfare in Skowhegan, Me., and asked a lone pedestrian why the streets were so deserted.

"Folks are all inside listenin' to Uncle Abe and David," he explained. "This is their home town."

CASSEROLE OF CHICKEN WINGS AND EGGPLANT.

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

If you want a new casserole dish, save out the wings and backs the next time you cut up chickens to fry and combine them with eggplant. These few pieces will never be missed from the platter of friend chicken and they will be enough to give savory flavor to the eggplant and make another substantial dinner dish. Here is this recipe:

Chicken wings and bony pieces.
Salt.
Pepper.
Flour.
Fat.
1 cup chopped green pepper.
Water.

Wings of young chickens and pieces too bony to fry successfully are excellent prepared in this way. Salt the chicken, roll in flour, brown lightly in fat in a skillet and transfer to a casserole. Cook the eggplant, green pepper and onion in the fat for about ten minutes, season to taste and add to the chicken in the casserole. Rinse out the skillet with ½ cup of hot water, pour over the chicken and vegetables, cover and cook in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) for about one hour. Serve from the dish.

Filipino Catholics Plan Outing.

Honoring its founder and moderator, the Rev. Eduardo V. Aniceto, S. J., the Filipino Catholic Association of America will hold its first annual excursion tomorrow at Seaside Park. Mass will be said for the excursionists at 8:30 a. m. Sunday at the Gonzaga College Chapel, 19 I street northwest. Swimming, boating and dancing are on the excursion program.

Jan Interprets the Mode

Paris, August 8.

AND then the lingerie woman came in, and oh-o-o-o-o, what lovely things she had! And what prices!

So Alana ordered a millyun-dollar nightgown and a billion-dollar deshabille.

And then she waited weeks and weeks, you remember? And then it wasn't right, and then I wrote and told you all about it?

Well, Dah-ray to the rescue, as usual. I just up and designed the set I illustrated for you today, and we dashed over to another lingerie house and in no time at all there it was in all its loveliness and tissue paper foldings, and we just expired in ecstasy—that is, Alana expired because I was already expired, as it were, and am.

And that only reminded me that you, too, could make a French handmade set like this. What, really? You just bet you could—with Dah-ray's help!

'Nif you don't bee-leve it, send her a stamped, self-addressed envelope in care of The Washington Post and get her illustrated directions for doing so—you'll see how easy it is then. French handmade undies grown in your own back yard, as it were!

• • • •

Allow me to quote from my own article of July, 1926—just for fun.

"A concerted effort to stimulate interest in the longer skirts is being made by the Couture, especially of London. This particularly in regard to afternoon and evening gowns and wraps," reads a fashion note.

"I would like to see the short skirt on young girls, on small and slender women, for sports wear, for tailleurs—and nowhere else! For tall women, for statuesque figures, for afternoon wear, for negligees, for dinner gowns and formal wear—the longer skirt, or at least the draped skirt that is both long and short. Nothing lends more elegance than this long line."

Dahr—lings—was I right?

It is raining cats 'n dawgs 'n little fishes today—Paris is literally swimming. Having taxied around for four hours, I beg to report that I am safely home, albeit a bit damp and moldy, and we hit only one other taxi amidships, a bust in the rear and skidded into a tree. That's quite a mild record for a Paris taxi in the rain! Coming over this fall? Bring a raincoat—they are fearfully 'spensive here—know, I couldn't buy one today.

And tomorrow there's the weekly Dare fashion letter for you to look for in The Sunday Washington Post. Please don't forget it.

A Goofus Poet's Lament

I often wish that I might hear
The bark of a meadow lark,
Or failing this that I might see
A sperm whale try to park.

But I just hear the common sounds,
Like goldfish warbling scales,
And only see the frequent sights,
Like Horseflies driving nails.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

MY delphiniums seem to have been attacked by some disease. The tops wither and curl and the roots rot. I can not find worms about the plants. I am a great admirer of the columbine, but owing to the presence of the borer have been unable to raise them. Can you suggest anything to use to get rid of this worm? C. F. A.

Frankly, I can not tell you anything very definite about the delphinium blight. This form of blight which causes the upper leaves to curl is thought to be a near kin to the peony blight. Little is known of a real way to control this disease. By way of encouragement let me explain that investigations are being made at Washington and at Ithaca, but so far no reports are available. Whenever you detect blight among delphiniums always avoid fresh manure when planting and use lime freely. Sulphur in the ground may also prove valuable. Bordeaux mixture should be used to spray the plants. Apply this spray every two weeks. If you care to write again, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, I shall be glad to tell you of the name of a proprietary preparation which will aid you in getting rid of the borer.

Please tell me how to feed my iris. MRS. S.

Scatter bonemeal in sufficient quantity to whiten the soil over the soil where the iris are growing. Bearded varieties are said to like lime. They shoud have three applications of the former and one of the latter each season.

Please tell me the name of the plant of which I am inclosing some leaves. Is it a species of spirea? PLANT LOVER.

Yes. Likely it is astilbe arendsii.

Do you know of any way to preserve a collection of mounted leaves so that they will not crumble or break? MISS MARTHA K.

Sometimes botanical specimens are preserved with colorless shellac.

Please tell me how to care for the plant of which I inclose a leaf. Do cornflowers require much sun and water? MRS. A. J. R.

Geraniums require a soil composed of good loam, sand and manure in equal parts. They also require a great deal of sun, and they do better when kept on the dry side. When growing in pots they bloom more profusely if kept a trifle potbound. Cornflowers like a generous portion of water, and while they enjoy sun, they are among the limited number of annuals which will tolerate shade for a large part of the day.

How often should a pandanus be watered? How should a shoot that has grown to quite a size be taken from this plant? E. K. K.

Water a pandanus three times a week while it is in the house and every day while in the open. Cut off the shoot with a sharp knife and root it in sand; later transplanting it into good soil.

Please tell me the best soil in which to grow dracaenas. MRS. HOWARD G.

A soil compounded of leafmold loam and enough sand and charcoal to keep the soil open and prevent it from becoming sour. When the plants are growing rapidly, it is best to add a third of cow manure to this compost.

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is supplied.

What Today Means to You

"LEO."

IF August 9 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6 a. m. to 7 a. m., 1 p. m. to 2:40 p. m. and 11 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to noon and 8 p. m. to 9:30 p. m.

Fate will go with you hand in hand on this date, if you do not pull back. You must do your best, or she will leave you to your own devices. Sportsmen will be favored with unusual energy and mental alertness, and will play a good game.

The child born on this August 9 will be affectionate, warm-hearted and sympathetic. There will be more promise than performance in its case, for it would both lack ambition and real backbone. It will be rather weak willed. Under proper guidance and influences, however, it may overcome some of its weaknesses.

Independence and originality—two qualities that season life—are among your strongest traits. You rebel against the monotony of fashion and custom. You are bent on being your own self and not in appearing as much like everybody else as possible. You are an odd pea in the pod. You think your own thoughts, too, and are not a parrot for some one else's brain and mouth. You not only like to lead your own life, but you "jolly well" let others do the same. You are interested in people, but never gossipy curious about them. You are not a tattler between friends, or a human filter of confidential news. You may be praised for your very wise tongue.

Your love of nature is very intense and sincere. It would be difficult for a person of your type to remain single, and there is a danger of your marrying in haste, repenting afterward. Literary and musical ability are indicated for you, and you will enjoy both good reading and music, if you never make further use of these talents. You have a sufficient flair for business to make you practical in these respects. On the whole, you have a well-balanced nature. You are keen at your work and keen at your play, and you do not mix one with the other. You do not allow yourself to worry, and your courage overrides fear when trouble is at your door.

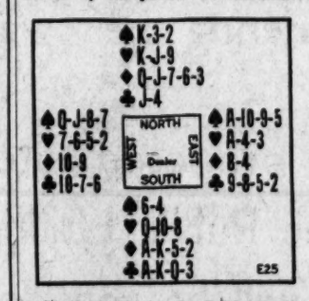
Work's Bridge

(This article is intended for the Auction and Contract Bridge beginner.)

The Bridge novice is apt to hear a good deal of talk about the Rule of Eleven, most of which is Greek to him; nevertheless the Rule of Eleven is something which every player should understand; and while it has been discussed repeatedly, a further effort seems needed to clarify it.

When a spot card is led against a No Trump, unless it be of a suit which the leader's partner has bid, it is undoubtedly the leader's fourth best card of that suit, and that suit is the long suit of the leader. The Rule of Eleven means that by subtracting from eleven the number of pips on the card led, it is possible to ascertain readily how many cards of that suit, higher than the card led, are not in the hand of the leader. Then either the partner of the leader or the Declarer, by looking in his own hand and dummy, can tell how many are in the hand that he does not see.

The following hand affords an illustration of the benefit that may be derived from the use of the Rule of Eleven by the partner of the leader:



South would be the Declarer playing No Trump, and West would lead the 7 of Spades. Supposing that a small Spade should be played from dummy, East could subtract seven from eleven and find the remainder to be four, whereupon he would know that there were only four Spades higher than the Seven not held by West. East could see three of those four in his own hand and one in dummy, and with perfect safety could play the Five of Spades on the first trick and thus enable West to continue the suit through North's King. In that way game would be saved as the adversaries would make four Spades and the Ace of Hearts.

An examination of the hand will show how beneficial this would be to the West and East Players. If East did not use the Rule of Eleven and felt that he had to play the Nine in order to avoid a possible Eight winning in closed hand, the Nine would win and he then could not save the game, no matter what card he played.

Mrs. Brady Denies She Is to Be Nun

Sister, Present at Audience With Pope, Says Plan Not Mentioned.

New York, Aug. 8 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—New York representatives of Mrs. Nicholas Brady, widow of the late New York utilities magnate and heir to his vast fortune, denied, today on behalf of Mrs. Brady that she had decided to become a nun.

An announcement following a telephone conversation with Mrs. Brady in London stated that she had unequivocally denied that she intends to enter a nunnery, found an order, or to change her present mode of living.

The denials were directed against a despatch from Rome yesterday, indicating that Mrs. Brady intended to take the veil and possibly become the mother superior of a religious order of her own, following several audiences with the pope.

In Norwalk, Conn., Mrs. John Cavanagh, sister of Mrs. Brady, said that "such a story is preposterous." Mrs. Cavanagh accompanied Mrs. Brady on a recent visit to Rome, including an audience with Pope Pius, and said that at no time did Mrs. Brady indicate any intention of becoming a nun.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

HEADS NEED COVERING.

A FEW minutes ago we passed a mother taking her five months' baby for a perambulator ride. The baby wore but one garment—a bathing suit. The head, face, arms, shoulders, some of the upper chest, and practically all of the legs were uncovered. The perambulator was without a top and the baby wore no hat or other shield for the head, face, and eyes. He was a husky looking youngster, a trifle too fat, but otherwise fit for a frolic or whatever offered. His skin was nicely tanned. He lay on his back with eyes closed and was presumably fast asleep.

This mother knows of the good effects of sunlight, of the sterols of the skin, and how sunlight changes them to vitamins, and possibly other substances that promote hardiness, stimulate growth, prevent rickets, and build up resistance to disease. Her method of garnering a few bottles of sunshine tonic for her young one was right in every particular save one.

A block farther down the street we passed another mother with a perambulator. This time there were two children, possibly twins, and in their second year. They were dressed about the same way, including the absence of hats. Let us add the official weather record for the approximate time and place was: "Temperature 82, bright sunshine, no clouds."

What was wrong with the methods? The exposed heads. Had the first baby's eyes been opened he would have looked, or tried to look, directly at the sun. The retina is far more sensitive to sunlight than the skin. It breaks under light action long before the skin begins to burn. Glare produces blindness that goes by more than one name.

Children given ultra-violet treatmnt always wear colored glasses. In several trades colored glasses are a part of the required equipment for every worker. Even if the eyes are not harmed by exposure to glare, a penalty of nervousness and irritability may be exacted. It is probable that harm results from exposure of the head to bright sunlight—this aside from the harm to the eyes. In hot climates the whites recognize the need of keeping the head covered.

In the latter amount is included savings pass book accounts of $6,070,683,000, time certificates of deposit of $1,357,461,000 and postal savings of $107,980,000. Savings pass book accounts on June 30 numbered 15,954,689.

Bank Examiner Appointed.

Mr. Pole also announced yesterday the appointment of Ira I. Chorpening as chief national bank examiner for the Fifth or local Federal reserve district. He succeeds the late Ralph W. Byers and will have his headquarters in this city.

Mr. Chorpening, who is 49 years old, was born in Iowa and after three years' banking experience, was employed by the office of the Comptroller of the Currency for a period of ten years. He was appointed a national bank examiner in 1921 and assigned to the Minneapolis Federal Reserve district where he served until his transfer in 1926 to the San Francisco Federal Reserve district, from which assignment he comes here.

Certificate holders of Colonial Investors shares have been notified that the regular semiannual dividend, due August 15 to holders of record of July 15, will be paid August 15.

The amount of the regular dividend declared is 50 cents, in addition to which an extra dividend of 20 cents has been declared, making the total dividend payable August 15, 70 cents per share.

Directors Are Pleased.

Directors of the corporation are very much gratified at the results obtained during this period and are particularly pleased to be able to declare the third consecutive extra dividend of 20 cents or more per share. This makes a total of $1.45 per share paid during 1930, which is a 6 per cent per annum yield, based on the average price of the shares to date, for the year 1930.

Rights and fractional shares received through the declaration of stock dividends were sold during the recent six months period, but no stock dividends were disposed of during this period, neither were any shares sold which were received through splitups of common stocks.

Radium Victim's Jawbone Removed

Woman, Doctor Says, Will Never Be Able to Eat Solid Food Again.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—The lower jawbone of Mrs. Helen Tuck, of Red Bank, a sufferer from radium poisoning, today was removed in Newark Memorial Hospital. The operation was performed by Dr. Joseph Knef, who said she was in a "precarious condition" and he would not know the result of the operation for several days. He said she would never again be able to eat solid food.

Mrs. Tuck complained of a pain in her jaw Wednesday and went to Dr. Knef for an examination. He ordered the operation immediately afterward. The woman is a former employe of the Radium Corporation of America at East Orange.

Along with other women employes she was engaged in painting luminous watch dials. Several already have died from what doctors diagnosed as radium poisoning. She is suing the corporation for $250,000 damages.

Jack Pickford to Wed Mary Mulhern, 21

Salinas, Calif., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Jack Pickford, screen star, and Mary Mulhern, former New York stage actress, today filed notice of intentions to marry.

Pickford, brother of Mary Pickford, gave his age as 33 years. Miss Mulhern hers as 21. Friends said the couple would be married at Delmonte Lodge, in Pebble Beach, immediately after obtaining the marriage license. Under California law three days must intervene between the application for and the issuance of the document.

Treasure of Spanish Galleon Eludes Divers

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Aug. 8 (A.P.). The lure of Spanish treasure has led Capt. Tom Newman on an unsuccessful salvage attempt off the coast of Pompano.

Legend says a Spanish galleon was driven on shore by an English ship and that the Spaniard was wrecked. Capt. Newman located the wreck three-quarters of a mile off Hillsborough Light and spent several days pumping sand out of her hold. Yesterday divers went down and found the wreck empty.

BEHIND THE SCREENS

With NELSON B. BELL

ALMOST exactly a year ago when I first viewed First National's production of "The Careless Age"—which did not play in Washington until many months later—I was impressed by the poise and the unexpected facility in reading lines revealed by Douglas Fairbanks, jr., in a role that imposed no slight task upon him as leading juvenile of a cast that also included such veteran players as Holmes Herbert, Carmel Myers, Kenneth Thomson, Doris Lloyd and Ilka Chase.

It seemed to me that for a lad who only two years before had been the 17-year-old prankster of the Will Rogers company, in the Capital filming scenes for "A Texas Steer," he showed remarkable development and extraordinary promise. Prankster, I mean to say, in his leisure moments when not professionally engaged before the camera. Under the more or less—mostly less—watchful eye of Sam Hardy, a former room mate of his dad's when they trod the boards together, young Doug was the practical joker and inveterate cutup of the party. It was this recollection of him fresh in my memory, no doubt, that made his work in "The Careless Age" so much of a surprise.

That, however, is not so much the point as that in "The Dawn Patrol," from which I have just come as this is written, the junior Fairbanks confirms my earlier impression of his capability as an actor. And again he finds himself in pretty fast company. To match performances with Richard Barthelmess, Neil Hamilton, Gardner James and Edmund Breon in this one is no mean achievement.

Through whose coaching or by what instrumentality Fairbanks, fils, has come by his perfect diction and faultless tempo, I do not know, but come by it he certainly has and another of his years with such promise of a distinguished future does not at the moment come to mind.

You will also be diverted at the Earle by a trailer on "Love Among the Millionaires" in which Clara Bow, looking as mature as Helen Morgan, sings a song with her arms!

You will be interested to know—or will you?—that a new operating contract recently entered into between the Rainbow Companies and the General Outdoor Advertising Co. is producing a substantial increase in the volume of Rainbow tubes being used in al fresco advertising.

One order just received from this source is the largest neon theatrical display ever made and is for "Hell's Angels," soon to open at two Broadway theaters for a simultaneous run. This single display will utilize more than a mile of luminous Rainbow tubes.

Curl that around your cornice and see how it lights the place up!

Stand by for early announcement of which of the several downtown building projects contemplated for high-priced and desirable corners, accessible to all kinds of traffic, will embody a theater. One will. Others may.

In corroboration of the statement recently made in this column to the effect that the combination of Waring's Pennsylvanians and a William Haines feature was threatening the house record at the Palace, I am informed by M. J. Cullen, managing director of the Loew interests in the Capital, that the week which closed last night missed the record only by the box-office difference between a week that contains a legal holiday and one that does not.

The Palace record is now held by a New Year's week engagement, during which night prices were assessed on both Sunday and the holiday. With that advantage, last week would have copped the biscuit—which is very fair for any August week running high fever temperatures!

And, speaking of high fever temperatures, that is the way "Mike" Cullen celebrated his first wedding anniversary last Wednesday. Having attempted for several days to laugh off a midsummer cold, Mr. Cullen observed the end of his first year of married bliss by seeping himself in an alcohol bath, while Mrs. Cullen, the former Hazelle Jennings, plied him copiously with hot lemonades and other simple remedies that are great to take on a hot night.

Mike did not entirely snap out of it until he saw the final boxoffice statement last night—those figures ran so high he forgot all about his measly little fever of 102! Or else the kiosk discouraged him with its 108, I don't know which.

Reconciliations sometimes are brought about in strange ways. A story being told in Hollywood concerns the settlement of a misunderstanding of some ten years duration between Mary Pickford and Elsie Janis.

One of Miss Pickford's greatest sorrows was occasioned some time ago by the death of her mother. Elsie Janis' mother, Mrs. Janis Bierbower, died only a few weeks ago. Mary immediately called Miss Janis to offer her sympathy, and through this kindly act they have again become close friends.

The first to tell Mary of Mrs. Bierbower's death, it is said, was the first Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks, now Mrs. Jack Whiting.

Hollywood!

And since you bring that up, the apparent absence of night life in cinemaland usually causes visitors to wonder if all the prominent citizens stay home and read.

They stay home all right, but they don't always read. Players give and attend parties in private homes because of the freedom such gathering places allow them.

Night clubs never have prospered in Hollywood because the stars don't like to go to them to be stared at, and visitors and townspeople avoid them because there are no stars at whom to stare.

In other words, night life has fallen down on a pair of stares!

Canadian Aviation Head Gets Back $600 Fine

Ottawa, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—A $600 fine imposed in St. Paul on Maj. Gen. J. H. MacBrien, president of the Aviation League of Canada, has been ordered returned, he was informed from Washington today.

The fine was for a violation of a regulation which requires airplane pilots to report to customs officers on arrival in the United States. It was pointed out to Washington that the general had made every effort to find an officer in both Chicago and St. Paul.

"It Controls the Nerves"

"I am a saleslady in a store. My nerves got the best of me and I never had good finger nails because I could not stop biting them off. My appetite was poor and I was always tired. One of my friends told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I know that it controls the nerves because I have no desire to bite my nails now, and they are long and well kept. My appetite is enormous and I feel like a new person. I have recommended your medicine to many girls with the same good results."—Ethel Fleetwood, 3023 Bandir. Street, New Orleans, Louisiana.

Lower Gas Rates will be filed

I strongly urge all home owners to find out about heating their homes with gas before ordering their winter's supply of fuel.

The proposed rates which will be filed with the Public Utilities Commission before Sept. 1 will be considerably lower for house heating.

A telephone call to National 8280 or a postcard to the house heating department, 419 10th Street, will bring you information about heating your house with gas that will very much interest you.

STOCKS SAG HEAVILY WHILE SALES CLIMB

COTTON PRICES HARD HIT

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—The dribble of liquidation that had been coming into the stock market this week suddenly swelled into a flood today, sweeping away most of the remnants of the July rally.

The price index of 90 leading shares dropped 6.2 points, the largest break since mid-June when the market was approaching the bottom of the early summer decline. At the close, the composite figure stood at 161, the lowest since July 9, when it was 160.9. The year's low is 154.

Losses ranged from 2 to 9 points in popular investment stocks, although there was the usual number of more severe declines in erratic shares. Support was meager and the bear faction, which supplied the impetus for the break, failed to cover, leaving final prices the lowest of the day.

The market was heavy at the opening, but the decline did not become severe until publication of the Government crop estimate on cotton had broken prices of that staple more than $3 a bale here. Almost simultaneously, a financial news agency published a report that operations of the United States Steel Corporation had dwindled to 61 per cent of capacity, a loss of 3 per cent in less than a week. The short interest, which had been concentrating on Warner Brothers Pictures, Rock Island, Southern Railway and a few other issues, greatly extended its position and quoted values melted away rapidly during the afternoon.

3,300,000 Shares Traded.

Trading increased substantially, totalling slightly more than 3,300,000 shares, of which 900,000 shares changed hands in the last hour when the liquidation was at its height.

The break was a damaging blow to the aspiration of bull leaders who had hoped that the market would come out of its dullness on a rally. It was recalled, however, that the tendency in recent months has been rather the opposite, and that some strenuous selling has followed such lulls as were seen earlier this week.

There were unconfirmed reports that some of the operators who had piloted the July advance had decided to abandon further attempts until later in the month, or after Labor Day, when the passage of the vacation period might bring out a larger following for speculative action on the up side. The public's part in the market since June has been negligible, although a fair volume of stock has been taken out for investment purposes.

U. S. Steel, which on Tuesday sold as high as 170¼, came under severe pressure. The bears, deciding that the unfavorable operating figures constituted news well suited to their cause, offered the stock freely on the theory that a break below previous resistance points would open up the remainder of the market. With only minor interruptions, steel slumped to 161, where it closed for a net loss of 5½.

American Can was one of the weakest issues, tumbling 9 points under liquidation based on the assumption that the drought would curtail the demand for its product. Officials of the company said it was too early to gauge the effect of the fruit and vegetable pack and that operations so far were being maintained at recent schedules.

American Telephone Hits Low.

American Telephone was another bear target, dropping 8 points, to 202⅜, against its year's low of 200¼. Air Reduction, Allied Chemical, Autostrop, Foster Wheeler, Ingersoll Rand, Underwood-Elliott-Fisher, United Aircraft, Diamond Match, American Foreign Power and Electric Power & Light lost 6 points, Westinghouse Electric, American Tobacco B, Eastman Kodak, Houston Oil and Stone & Webster, 6 to more than 8, and General Motors, General Electric, Radio, Bethlehem Steel, Gillette, Johns-Manville, Standard Oil of New Jersey, North American, Consolidated Gas and A. M. Byers 2 to nearly 5. The largest loss was in J. I. Case, off 17¾. Vanadium and Worthington Pump broke 13.

Warner Brothers Pictures, whose directors omitted the quarterly dividend, closed off 6¾, at 28⅛, a new low. Southern Railway, Transamerica, Rock Island, Louisville & Nashville and Corn Products also made new lows.

A renewal of profit taking in the grains, partly inspired by reports of the possibility of rain, sent corn down about a cent and a half net. Wheat was unchanged to ½ lower. Heavy selling of cotton futures, based on the Government crop estimate, which placed the yield about 308,000 bales higher than had been expected, left that market weak, off $3.10 to $3.40 a bale net.

Except for the French franc, which was firm, important foreign currencies eased. There was no gold movement.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Wild price fluctuations that for velocity and extent rivaled war time market changes found a climax today in about 8c a bushel collapse in corn. Forecasts pointing to general relief next week from the drought that for weeks has been devastating millions of acres of corn and other crops were mainly responsible for a quick reversal from new soaring of grain values. Wheat tumbled down 4c with corn, but brisk rallies, both in corn and wheat prices, were in progress as the day came to an end.

Corn closed extremely unsettled, 1⅜c to 2c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Wheat closed irregular at ¼c net decline to ½c gain, oats ½c off to ⅛c up and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10c.

A storm of selling orders swept into the grain pits swiftly following word from Washington that by the middle of next week the prevalent Nation-wide drought gave promise of being terminated. Predictions of adequate moisture supplies were accompanied by assertions that a high pressure barometric area had developed over far regions of northern Canada, including the McKenzie Valley, and that Weather Bureau officials had drawn inferences which warranted hopes of general rains in the United States. This outlook was in violent contrast with influences which earlier had sent grain prices soaring, and the strain led to excited efforts of traders to alter their market position so as to put a stop to losses.

Much of the buying which preceded the late collapse of the corn market had been based on reports of drought and heat that has reached a total unparalleled in the history of American crop disasters. Increasingly unfavorable wheat harvest advices from Canada, indicating about 50,000,000 bushels reduction from recent estimates of yield, were also a factor tending to hoist grain prices here. On the other hand, breaks in cotton market values and in securities had an unsettling effect on the confidence of corn and wheat traders, and was in a measure chargeable with preparing the way for the sensational upset of grain.

Late rallies of prices for wheat and corn were ascribed to buying based on belief expressed in some quarters that prophecies of a general breaking up of the drought next week were yet indefinite, and could be regarded more as a guess than a promise. On the other hand, wheat export business today from North America continued to lack volume. Oats held up much better than corn did, and for the most part appeared to be following wheat. Provisions, &c.

Provisions mainly reflected upturns in the value of hogs.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—A severe break followed the publication of the Government crop report in cotton here today. The new October contract which closed yesterday at 12.96 broke to 12.27, or within 5 points of the previous low record for the season and 69 points or $3.45 per bale below the closing quotation of yesterday. That delivery closed at 12.32, with the general market closing steady at net declines of 62 to 68 points.

The market was rather nervous and somewhat irregular, but showed a tendency to work off before the Government report made its appearance. The opening was steady at an advance of 10 points to a decline of 2 points, with the more active months showing advances in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables and further prebureau covering.

The demand was much less active than recently, however, and after the initial buying had been supplied, prices eased under realization or liquidation. Before business was suspended for the 20-minute interval to receive the Government crop report, active months showed net losses of 11 to 17 points and when it was resumed, after publication of the figures, the market weakened under heavy general selling. This was supposed to include reselling by recent buyers as well as liquidation of long accounts.

Some trade buying and covering was reported on scale down order but the pressure continued and the market reached the lowest points of the day in the late trading when new December contracts sold at 13.46 and March at 13.70, with active months generally showing net losses of 65 to 71 points. Closing prices were a few points up from the lowest on covering.

Evidently the Government's crop indication of 14,362,000 bales was above the average expectation of recent buyers. The private reports which preceded the official figures had shown a condition of 66.5 on the average, but a crop indication of only 14,190,000 bales and it was said that some traders here had been more inclined to expect an estimate of under than over 14,000,000.

Weakness in the grain market accompanied by reports of prospects for a break in the drought before the middle of next week were referred to as contributing factors on the afternoon decline. The relatively large Government yield figures were attributed partly, at least, to prospects for less than average boll weevil damage this season.

Port receipts today 17,803; U. S. port stocks 1,571,219; exports 5,096, making 33,514 so far this season.

Curb Review

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—A large wave of liquidation finally developed out of the recent ripples in today's Curb market, and covering upon the utility shares, swept important issues 1 to 8 points lower.

Total sales were swelled to 614,500 shares, moderate in comparison with past performances, but nearly double the volume of business during the earlier sessions of the week. The decline was relatively moderate, when compared to the losses suffered by big board stocks, perhaps because short selling is less active on this market.

Electric Bond and Share was the principal target of selling, declining 4 points to 76 in a heavy turnover. The year's low is 70¼. American Gas and Electric, recent firm spot, lost 5½. Such issues as American Superpower, Middle West, Insull Utility Investment, and United Light A lost 1 to 2 points.

The Natural Gas issues were less actively sold, although United Gas and Missouri Kansas Pipe Line lost about a point. Appalachian Gas, however, held relatively steady, coincident to a report that its subsidiary, Texas Gas Utilities, had been placed on a profitable basis, as a result of increased sales to Central Power & Light.

In the Industrials, Deere was subjected to Bear selling, on the basis of the prospect of impairment of the agricultural implement business by the drought. The stock dropped 7 points to a new low at 65, then rallied to 70. Dresser Class B stock, and Aluminum Co. lost about 5. Columbia Pictures sagged 3. Ford, Ltd., eased only a fraction.

In the oils, Gulf tumbled about 8 points to the year's low at 117. Humble lost about 4, and Vacuum dropped nearly 3, then rallied 1. Cities Service dropped a point, but was quickly supported and cut its loss to ⅜, closing at 27⅜.

In the investment company group, Goldman Sachs sagged about a point to another new low at 15¾.

RAILS GAIN AS BONDS SLUMP WITH STOCKS

Convertibles Sink as Sales Climb to $9,495,000, Week's Highest Mark.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY DIPS

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—With the exception of a few prime investment issues, the forward movement of bonds was checked today in sympathy with the share market. Wide irregularities in price movement were mirrored in the closing prices with the domestic list of bonds suffering considerable unsettlement. Sales expanded to the highest point of the week, reaching $9,495,000.

The list of popular convertibles turned downward in the wake of equity issues, and losses averaged more than a point in about a dozen issues, with Warner Brothers 6s depressed the most on the movement.

Some liquidation developed in investment bonds. The performance of carrier obligations was of a mixed variety. About a dozen high grade issues soared to new highs for the year, with other carrier obligations ranging from steady to easy. The same was true, to a lesser degree, of utilities on comparatively thin sales. Foreign dollar bonds held steady. Quickened interest was displayed in U. S. Governments and fractional gains were the rule.

Warner Brothers Sinks.

Passing of a dividend by Warner Brothers, while partly discounted previously, caused further recessions in the convertible 6 per cent bonds which sagged 3½ points and then recovered about a point before the close, resting at the lowest figure of the year. Philadelphia, Reading Coal & Iron 6s and Chicago & Northwestern 4¼s, St. Paul 5s and Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific 4½s lost about as much.

In the face of the downward trend, Canadian National 4½s, Chesapeake & Ohio 4½s A, Chicago & Northwestern 4¾s, Pennsylvania 4½s, New York Central Refunding 5s and 4½s, Great Northern 5s, Union Pacific 4½s, New England 5s and Boston & Maine 5s reached new 1930 peaks. Chicago & Alton 3½s soared 2½ points to within a fraction of the price at which the Baltimore & Ohio has offered to purchase them in acquiring the road.

Missouri Pacific issues were reactionary and the 5½s lost 1¾ points. St. Louis, San Francisco 4½s, Southern Railway 4s, Erie 5s, International Great Northern 6s and St. Paul 5s of 1975 were other weak spots.

Best Grade Utilities Steady.

Best grade utilities ruled steady. American and Foreign Power 5s were active and sold around the year's peak price. Consumers 5s reached a new high on a few sales. Recessions of one-quarter of a point were suffered by many other bonds in the group.

The activity in Belgian governments and the rally of Mexican governments involved in the new debt settlement were outstanding among foreign dollar bonds. Mexican 4s rose 2¼ to a new peak. South Americans were irregularly lower.

Liberty 4th 4¼s were quite active and sold up to within one-thirty-second of the year's high before receding. Treasury issues were very firm, with the 4¼s gaining one-fifth of a point.

NATS' RALLIES WIN UPHILL GAME FROM INDIANS, 5-4

Burrows Out Of Municipal Golf Play

Capital Entry Beaten by Wingate, 5 and 4, in Semifinals.

Jacksonville Man to Play Greene Today for U. S. Title.

MUNICIPAL GOLF COURSE, Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 8 (A.P.) Robert E. Wingate, of Jacksonville and Joseph S. Greene, of Philadelphia, went into the finals of the national public links championship here today by winning two matches each. Tomorrow one of them will be crowned Municipal Links champion to succeed Carl Kauffmann, of Pittsburgh, who held the championship three years.

Wingate eliminated B. H. Burrows, Washington entry, and Larry O'Palka, of Detroit, 5 and 4 each. O'Palka reached the semifinals this morning by winning from Walter Barton, of Akron, 6 to 5.

Greene coasted into the semifinals by eliminating the last of the West Coast players, Barney Lucas, Los Angeles, 4 and 3, in the morning match, and became the finalist with Wingate when he surprisingly upset Dominick Strafaci, Brooklyn sharpshooter, 2 and 1.

Wingate Favorite In Finals.

Wingate, 33-year-old veteran, ruled the favorite for the 36-hole finals tomorrow. Three years ago Wingate got to the finals and was defeated by Kauffmann, who was disqualified in the current renewal of the play because of what was termed by U. S. G. A. officials as an inadvertant scoring error, in the first qualifying round.

Greene, 24 years old, now is closer than he has ever been to a public links title.

O'Palka was the match play sensation until Wingate eliminated him. He defeated the tournament medalist, Al Quigley, of Chicago, in easy style in the first round and again demonstrated marked ability in match play. He weakened, however, in his play with Wingate and finished the turn four down to the local man.

Should Wingate win his match tomorrow he will bring the James D. Standish, jr., trophy to the South for the first time since it was offered nine years ago.

Burrows 3 Down At Turn.

Special to The Washington Post.

Municipal Golf Course, Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 8.—Ted Burrows, of Washington, D. C., dropped his quarter-final match to Bob Wingate, local ace, here this morning, 5 and 4, and Washington's Team was eliminated from further competition in the national public links tournament being staged here.

The match was closer than the score would indicate, and had Burrows been a bit more accurate with his putter the result would have been in doubt much longer, and might have been reversed.

The well-liked Capital City entry rattled off a good 38 on the first 9, climaxing his efforts on that part of the course with a great birdie 3 on the ninth, but still was 3 down. Wingate's 35 took some of the fire out of Burrows' game, but he still tried hard to get back in the lead.

Burrows Becomes 3 Down On Eleventh Hole.

On the twelfth he had a 4, while Wingate was 3 putting for a 5, but Burrows again went 3 down when his opponent racked up a birdie on the long eleventh. Burrows' tee shot found the rough on 12, but he came out nicely and had a chance for a half, only to miss his putt.

Again on 13, Burrows smashed a long drive to the rough and once more he recovered ably, only to three-putt and give Wingate a dormie 5 lead. Burrows played the fourteenth perfectly, but had only a half and lost the match.

MACKS WIN 2; LEADING BY 8 GAMES

Grove, Shores Turn in Victories Over Chisox, 5-1, 4-1.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Airtight pitching by Mose Grove and Bill Shores today gave the Athletics both ends of a double-header with the Chicago White Sox and further increased their grip on the 1930 American League pennant to eight games. The champions won by scores of 5 to 1 and 4 to 1.

Jimmy Dykes' home run in the third inning provided the winning rally in the opening game. The victory was Grove's eighteenth in the season, against four defeats. In the sixth inning Al Simmons hit his twenty-eighth homer of the year with two on base. Shores, in allowing only four hits in the second game, bested Ted Lyons. Al Simmons, with two runs driven in and one scored, led the Macks to triumph.

Homers by Grimm, Blair Beat Braves for Cubs

Chicago, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Home runs by Charlie Grimm and Clarence Blair, coupled with effective pitching by Bush, gave the Cubs a 6-to-1 victory over Boston in the first game of the series today.

The National League champions had a 2-to-0 lead going into the seventh, when they put on a batting spree at the expense of Sock Seibold. The assault included the homers of Grimm and Blair. Boston's single run was the result of a personal effort of Berger, who found Bush for a home run in the ninth. A perfect throw to the plate in the sixth by Kiki Cuyler completed a double play and halted the most serious Brave effort.

Allison-Wood Win Way to Finals

Shields, Conqueror of Tilden, Defeated by Wood in Thriller.

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Two bitterly fought five-set matches today put Sydney B. Wood, of New York, and Wilmer Allison, of Fort Worth, Tex., in the final round of singles in the forty-seventh annual Southampton invitation tennis tournament.

Wood, who won the Seabright Bowl last week with an unexpected victory over Ellsworth Vines, Pasadena sensation, disposed of Frank Shields, of New York, 1—6, 1—6, 10—8, 7—5, 6—4. Allison, who returned from Europe only a few days ago, took another spectacular battle from Frank Hunter, of New Rochelle, N. Y., No. 2 in the national ranking, by scores of 6—4, 9—11, 4—6, 7—5, 6—2.

Wood Rallies After Second Set.

Shields, who sprang the year's biggest sensation by eliminating Bill Bill Tilden in the quarterfinals yesterday, apparently was headed for a straight set victory over Wood after the first two sets of their match. The Seabright winner, utterly unable to cope with Shields' powerful strokes, could take only one game in each set.

In the third set, however, Wood, had determined upon a plan of battle. The speed that had baffled him at first was his "meat" thereafter and when he took the long drawn out eighteen-game session, the end was in sight. Shields was tiring badly but he gave Wood a big argument in the fourth set, taking it to deuce before Wood won it after twelve games. In the fifth set, a severe leg cramp handicapped Wood badly, but Shields was so weary he could not take advantage of the break this game him and Wood took the deciding set with the loss of only four games.

Allison's Volleys Baffle Hunter.

The Hunter-Allison match found the Texan running Hunter ragged when his volleys were shooting across the barrier and Hunter reversing the situation when his own forehand bludgeoned Allison into efforts in his forecourt work. Both played below their top form, Hunter especially. The New Rochelle veteran has yet this season to touch the form which brought him his No. 2 ranking in 1929.

The fourth seeded team of Richard N. Williams and J. Gilbert Hall advanced to the final round of doubles with victories over Wilbur F. Coen, of Kansas City, and Harris Coggeshall, of Des Moines, 6—2, 7—5, and over Phil Neer, of Portland, Oreg., and Edward W. Feibleman, of New York, 9—7, 6—3, 6—3.

Tilden and Hunter were eliminated in the quarter-final round by Wood and Shields, 6—4, 6—3. The New York youngsters play Berkeley Bell, of Austin, Tex., and Gregory Mangin, of South Orange, in the semifinals to determine which combination shall face Hall and Williams in the finals.

Boston Beats Tigers, Scoring 6 in First

Boston, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—The Red Sox, greatly aided by a six-run rally in the first, broke Detroit's six-game winning streak here today in the first game of the series between the teams. The Bostonians won, 8 to 6, although the Tigers staged a four-run rally in the eighth.

Hoyt started on the mound for the Tigers, passing three men. Subsequent singles by Oliver, Reeves, Sweeney and Connolly gave the Sox half a dozen runs, although the last two hits were off the relieving Hogsett. Boston made only eight hits to Detroit's thirteen.

Big "Gate" Marks End Of Fight Broadcasts

New York, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Madison Square Garden indicated a definite policy of nonbroadcasting important boxing matches today in announcing official gross receipts of $181,178.38 for the Chocolate-Berg fight last night at the Polo Grounds. The match was not broadcast and the "gate" was nearly $20,000 in excess of that for the Singer-Mandell lightweight title bout, which was put on the air.

The net receipts were $152,377.18 and the paying spectators numbered 34,922, exceeding ringside estimates substantially.

The reports of referee Patsy Haley and the two judges, Joe Agnello and Charles Mathison, who gave Berg a 2-1 verdict, revealed wide difference of opinion.

Haley scored six rounds for Berg, two for Chocolate and two even. Agnello listed five for Berg, three for Chocolate and two even, while Mathison scored seven for Chocolate, two for Berg and one even. The officials agreed on only three rounds, the second for Chocolate, the fourth and ninth for Berg.

MILES RIVER FEATURE TO VINT TROIS

Wins Free-for-All as Three Boats Are Capsized.

Special to The Washington Post.

EASTON, Md., Aug. 8.—The ninth annual regatta of the Miles River Yacht Club, of St. Michaels, which is being held on Miles River off St. Michaels today and tomorrow, is the largest and best regatta the club has ever held.

There are twenty different yacht clubs from Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Washington, D. C., represented with about 150 yachts and the river today was lined with yachts and pleasure crafts of every description filled with both young and old people who enjoyed the races, while the shores around the river front were packed with people, and it is estimated that there were on the shore and out on the river in boats between nine and ten thousand persons.

The following events were pulled off in the morning:

Class B, outboard motors over a 5-mile course, in which there were seven entered and three started and was won by Flying Fish, piloted by Walter Bean, Kennett Square Yacht Club of Philadelphia.

Second—Ducky-All-So, piloted by Theodore Schriver, of Philadelphia.

Third—No name, George Becker, Cheslie Yacht Club, of Atlantic City. Time, 8 minutes 2 seconds.

Runabout boats of stock model design over a 10-mile course:

First—This L'duet, John L. Rascob, jr., of Chester River Yacht Club, of Centreville, Md., piloted by Mr. Rascob.

Second—Senorita, owned by M. Vorhees, of Northeast Yacht Club, Kennett Square, Pa.

Third—No name, owned by M. Conord, of Kennett Square Yacht Club, Pennsylvania. Time, 20 minutes 44 seconds.

Runabout boats of 22-horsepower over a 10-mile course:

First—Heathen, owned by Howard Van Schriver, of Philadelphia.

Second—Peter Pan, owned by C. Van Schriver, of Philadelphia.

Third—Bob Jack, piloted by C. T. Thomas, of St. Michaels.

Time, 17 minutes 4 seconds.

The sailing boat races came off in the afternoon, in which there were some very clever handling of boats.

The prettiest and most exciting race of the day was the free-for-all, which included star boats, canoes, sloops and other designs. At the start, the Gob, owned by T. F. Moyer, of Chestertown, capsized and withdrew from the race. Just about the finish of the race, the Island Bird, owned by J. H. Caulk Kemp, and the Mary Rider, owned by William H. Green, were struck by a squall which came up and both boats capsized just after crossing the finish line, plunging the occupants of the boats in the water. Several boats went to their assistance and helped them get their boats ashore.

The following is the result of the races:

Sailing scows, over a 2-mile course in which there were nine scows started. It was won by: First, Eventually, sailed by James Lavery; second, Hoo-Doo, sailed by W. B. Matthews; third, May Be, sailed by Charles Stevens, of Oxford. Time, 48 minutes 5 seconds.

Sailing sloops—Nine entered, but only one finished. The Unhearing Chase, of the Essington Yacht Club, of Pennsylvania, over 10-mile course. Time, 1:08:43.

The Marconi race, over 5-mile course. There were nine started, only two finished. First, Terrified Hare, Miss Elizabeth French, of Claiborne; second, Gold Bug, Miss Olive Cockey, of Claiborne.

Free-for-all—Sloops, canoes, stone boat and boats of other designs; twelve started. Won by the Johnson brothers, of Easton, who sailed the Vint Trois, over a 10-mile course; second, Magie, owned by G. Bob Wilson, of Turn Mills; third, The Powder, owned and sailed by John J. Rascob, jr. Time, 2:01:38.

PITCHES HIS 18TH VICTORY

mound ace of the Athletics, who turned in his eighteenth victory yesterday against four defeats in setting down the White Sox, 5-1.

TRIBE FACES LISKA AND HADLEY

Ferrell, Miller Will Oppose Nats Today in Twin Bill.

MANAGER WALTER JOHNSON rejoined the Nationals here this afternoon and was welcomed by his mates, who have been sympathizing with him during his bereavement. In order to save his regular pitchers as much as possible, the "Old Master" took a long turn on the hill during his team's pregame batting drill—too long, in fact, according to Trainer Mike Martin, for Johnson was nearly all in at the finish.

With Johnson back on the job, Capt. Joe Judge stepped back among the rank and file, although Johnson stated that he was greatly pleased with the first-sacker's handling of the team, and plans to follow along with Joe's announced pitching order.

This means that Irving Hadley will perform in one of the games in today's double-header, with Ad Liska drawing the assignment in the other. Wesley Ferrell and Walter Miller are expected to do the alien slab work. Ferrell, the ace of Peck's staff, will be seeking his nineteenth victory and his eighth victory in a row.

Orders Rice to Stay In Line-up.

One of Johnson's first acts was the veto of Sam Rice's announced plan of taking a needed rest. There is no question but what the veteran is well worn and can not do himself justice in the present rundown condition, but Johnson believes that if the Nationals are going to do any gaining on the leading Mackmen they must put their best foot forward now, for reports from Philadelphia are that the world's champs are showing unmistakable signs of wear and tear, and for this reason he is insisting that Rice remain in the game, especially as Dave Harris is still slowed up from an ankle injury.

Johnson did not perform his usual duties in the coaching box back of first yesterday, but he was on the bench, in uniform, and flashed the signals and otherwise was in command of the Nats' maneuvers.

Pitcher Fred Marberry may be able to get back in action earlier than was at first thought when an X-ray photograph showed a broken bone in his right wrist. The cast will be removed from his wrist next Wednesday or Thursday and Marberry is confident that it will be only three or four days later before he will be able to take a turn. The big pitcher is keeping himself in first-class physical condition otherwise by doing plenty of running and Trainer Mike Martin declares that this work will keep his salary wing from losing much power.

Lou Fonseca, leading American League batter last season, who has been at his home in California recuperating from a broken wrist received in a collision with Art Shires early this season, while the "Great One" was a member of the White Sox, rejoined the Indians here yesterday.

His hurt wrist is still weak and he can not grip a bat properly with it, but "Lefty" Wiseman, Indian trainer, is now busily engaged trying to rub out the adhesions and Fonseca should be ready to play within the next ten days or two weeks. There is some doubt, however, as to whether or not he will displace Morgan at first. Manager Peckinpaugh admits that he has not yet decided what shifts he will make when Fonseca reports himself ready.

Carnera Seeks Work In Windy City Rings

Chicago, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Primo Carnera, Italian heavyweight, is in Chicago looking for a chance to work at his trade, according to his head manager, Leon See—but won't starve if he doesn't get employment.

Primo, See said, has saved $150,000 since he left Italy. See also said Primo gets 66 2-3 per cent of his purses, with the other 33 1-3 per cent going to his management.

Dawn-to-Dusk Golf Record to Floridian

Sarasota, Fla., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—David McEvoy, 21, of Venice, Fla., today claimed the endurance record in dawn-to-dusk golfing. The youth shot 185 holes over the Venice Links to break the mark set by George J. Ganem July 29 near Torrington, Conn.

McEvoy traveled about 45 miles to cover four more holes in a shorter time than that accredited to Ganem by news dispatches. With the aid of a flashlight, the endurance golfer teed off at 4 o'clock and finished at 7:20 o'clock that evening.

His total score, the last of several official scorers said, was 866 strokes. The average time was about 45 minutes for each nine holes. Dispatches said Ganem compiled 853 strokes over 181 holes from 4:15 a. m. to 8:22 p. m.

Yanks Win 4th Straight, Beating Browns in 8th

Yankee Stadium, New York, N. Y., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—The Yanks won their fourth in a row by taking the opener of the series with the Browns, 5 to 3, on the strength of the three-run rally in the eighth.

Harry Rice was responsible for three of the Yanks' runs, driving in Lazzeri with a single in the second inning, hitting his ninth homer into the stands in the fourth inning and coaxing a pass from Wally Stewart in the ninth with the bases filled.

Pipgras went the route, allowing but five hits, all of which were scattered over the last four frames. It was Pipgras' thirteenth win of the year.

Pinch Hitter Harris' Double in 6th Deadlocks Score.

Fischer Relieved in 7th With Indians Leading, 5-4.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

WITH Manager Walter Johnson back on the job again, the Nationals stepped out and grabbed themselves a ball game yesterday, defeating the Cleveland Indians, 5 to 4, in the first game of a long home stay. It was not so much that the Nats did win as how they did it which pleased the gallery of about 8,000, for the natives overcame a 4-run alien lead to cop the verdict. They lost half a game in their first place chase, however, for the Mackmen stepped out to eight games in front by twice downing the White Sox.

For three innings yesterday Southpaw Melburn Shoffner loomed mighty large out there on the mound. Although the Nats had men on bases in every round, Shoffner always seemed to have a little in reserve to shut them off when hits meant runs. He showed signs of weakening in the fourth and fifth, however, when the Nats scored a run in each and they finally whittled him down to their size in the next frame, when they pounded him off the hill in favor of Pete Jabolowiski, while knotting the count at 4-all.

Rice's Error Gives Tribe First Run.

Carl Fischer, performing in only his second major league game and making his debut here, had plenty of stuff, fanning seven in the six frames he toiled. A three-base error by Rice and two doubles, one a scratch one, and a sacrifice fly, wrapped around two bases on balls, were responsible for the early lead hung up by the Indians. After the fourth Fischer did well until relieved for a pinch hitter, and Lloyd Brown pitched shut-out ball during the last three frames, although he was in hot water in the seventh.

The home gang won the game in the eighth when, with two out and the string tied, Heinie Manush, who had done nothing his first four times up, doubled down the first-base line. Joe Cronin then cracked out his fourth successive single to propel the big left fielder over the plate.

Cronin wa snot the only Washington hero, however. Dave Harris up as a pinch-hitter for Fischer in the sixth, came through with a double, which scored Catcher Roy Spencer, after the latter had tripled to drive another run over the counting block.

Porter Singles, Scores On Error.

The Indians broke the ice in the third, when Porter singled sharply to right. Rice broke for the ball but let it skid by him all the way to the scoreboard, the runner scoring. Porter probably would have tallied anyway, for two other one-basers were inserted in this frame later.

In the fourth, Fischer walked Montague, lead-off man, and Goldman filed to Rice. Schoffner bunted toward third and, when the ball passed the onrushing Bluege, it went as a double. One scored on Seeds' sacrifice and, after Porter coaxed a pass, Morgan doubled two more home. The Indians had men on bases in all of the other frames except the ninth, but this proved to be their last productive frame.

The Nats did not start until after the Tribe had quit for the day. In the home fourth, Cronin led off with a double and scored on Judge's scratch single and Bluege's helpful out. Myer's safe bunt, a walk, and Cronin's third hit of the game scored another in the fifth and it was in the next session that the score was tied.

Spencer's Triple Scores West.

West opened this round with a single to right and Spencer tripled him home. With one ball called on Fischer, Manager Johnson suddenly decided to put Harris at bat and the latter showed his appreciation of the compliment by doubling home the tying run. Shoffner and Jablonowski between them managed to prevent further scoring, although the Nats had the bases filled as a result of

IN THE WAKE OF THE GAME

FISCHER started well, fanning Seeds, the first man to face him after the count reached three and two. The youngster fanned Morgan later in the round and also struck out Montague and Shoffner in the second, making four victims in the first two frames.

Cronin made a good try for Porter's short pop back of Bluege in the first, but missed it and this went as the first hit of the game.

Hodapp was credited with all three Cleveland assists as the Nats were set down in their opener.

L. Sewell coaxed a walk starting the second, stalling of four successive wide ones.

Fans were given plenty of excitement when the Indians turned in a double play in the home second. Bluege was on third, Spencer on second and one down when Fischer rolled to Shoffner. Bluege finally was run down between third and home and L. Sewell then pegged sharply to Hodapp to nip Fischer trying to reach second during the excitement.

Cronin raced over near second to make a pretty stop and throw on Seeds' roller opening round 3.

Rice evidently forgot he was "all in" when he singled with one dead in the third. He tried to stretch his drive to center into a double and was thrown out by feet. It was a plain case of suicide.

Shoffner did the unusual of bunting a double in the fourth. With Montague on first, the Cleveland pitcher dropped a bunt toward third which skipped past the incoming Bluege. Before the ball could be retrieved, Montague was on third and the batter had pulled up at second.

Morgan's double, which scored two mates in the fourth, hit the fence on top of the base of the left-field stand.

Judge showed considerable speed in beating out his infield tap to Goldman in the fourth. Cronin went to third on the hit.

Buddie Myer did not handle a ball afield until he tossed out L. Sewell in the fifth. Bluege also was credited with his first chance in this frame,

JAMESTOWN AND EQUIPOISE CLASH AT SARATOGA

Juvenile Turf Stars Meet Today

Widener and Whitney Aces in Saratoga Special Sprint.

Equipoise Is Held at 6-5; Ormsby Has Supporters.

SARATOGA RACE TRACK, Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 8 (N. Y.-W. N. S.).—Jamestown, winner of the Flash Stakes on the opening day of the meeting, and the United States Hotel Stakes last Saturday, will have his real test, an ordeal of racing battle that will try the highest in the twenty-eighth running of the sporting Saratoga special, for 2-year-olds, at six furlongs, here tomorrow, when he meets H. P. Whitney's Equipoise, star of the spring and early summer juvenile racing, and Ormsby, the best colt in the Belair Stud barn.

That he will come through with colors flying, as his sire, St. James, did seven years ago, is the firm faith of George D. Widener, his owner; Jack Joyner, his trainer, and a considerable portion of the followers of racing gathered at this beauty spot for the week-end racing treat.

Race Has Evoked Much Interest.

The race has evoked nearly as much interest and divided the racing clans as much as the Belmont did two months ago, for Equipoise also has his following and it is a large one. And then, too, there are a number who have not lost their faith that Ormesby is the colt of the year despite the fact he was driving to beat Condescend Wednesday.

To add to the value of the race to the winner rather than interest to the race, the field is swelled to five by the presence of W. R. Coe's Polydorus, winner of the Tremont Stakes, and Mrs. Katherine Elkins Hitt's Sun Meadow, a winner at Arlington Park.

Horse.	Wgt.	Jockey.	Odds.
EQUIPOISE	122	R. Workman	6-5
JAMESTOWN	122	L. McAtee	7-5
ORMESBY	122	E. Sande	9-2
SUN MEADOW	122	C. Watters	10-1
POLYDORUS	122	L. Pator	10-1

Women's Golf Field Is Led by Mrs. Keefer

Ten courageous women golfers yesterday braved the intense heat and played up and down hill over the Banockburn course in a miniature tournament under the auspices of the Women's District of Columbia Golf Association. Mrs. Frank R. Keefer, of Chevy Chase, won the prize for low gross score with a card of 91, and Mrs. Jerome Meyer, Woodmont, with 93—16—77, won low net. The matches resulted as follows:

Mrs. Keefer defeated Mrs. Meyer, 2 up; Mrs. Newman Little defeated Miss Fay, 4 and 3; Mrs. H. B. Hird defeated Miss Elizabeth Harris, 7 and 6; Mrs. T. N. Beavers defeated Mrs. J. T. Powell, 4 and 3; Miss Sue Gantt defeated Miss Kenyon, 3 and 2.

2-Man Team Golf Play To Start Tomorrow

The annual two-man team competition at the Bannockburn club will begin on Sunday, August 17. Entries will close at noon on that day and pairings will be made immediately thereafter. The schedule calls for one round a week, the first round to be played between the 17th and 24th instant, with the last round on or before September 28th.

Competition will be on a handicap basis, but no team will be eligible where the difference between the handicaps of the partners exceeds ten strokes. There will be prizes for winner and runner-up and the names of the winners will also be engraved on the Barry-Pate cup.

Sailing Club Races Scheduled for Today

Another race such as held last Saturday will be staged this morning by the Sailing Club of Washington, the race being scheduled to start at 9:30 a. m. A distance of 6 or 8 miles is to be traversed, with the start at Georgetown.

Dependent upon the force and direction of the wind, the course will be decided upon this morning. If a northwest or southeast wind is prevailing the course will lead upriver from the bridge, past the Three Sisters, around a buoy near the Hen and Chickens and return. One or two laps of this course will be required, dependent upon existing conditions.

Should the wind prove unfavorable for this course the fleet will repeat last Saturday's race to Long Bridge and return. In this event the finish will be the upstream side of the piers of the Aqueduct Bridge.

ROMP FOR ST. ELIZABETHS

The Auths Baseball Team was no match for the St. Elizabeths Hospital Nine yesterday, being snowed under a 20-to-2 count on the hospital diamond. Brown and Davis smacked home runs for the winners, while Goodwin pitched a fine game.

Boots and Saddle's
(Reg. U. S. Patent Office.)
—Saratoga Selections—
By J. B. SNODGRASS.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 9.—The attendance for the running of the Saratoga Special, the Whitney Stakes, and the North American Steeplechase tomorrow is expected to exceed that of any other day of the first third of the season here. Especially interesting will be the reappearance of WHICHONE in the Whitney, following closely on his sparkling victory in the Saranac.

The Saratoga Special is the feature because of an all-star cast of two-year-olds. The great rivals, H. P. Whitney's EQUIPOISE and George D. Widener's JAMESTOWN, impressive winner of the Flash and the United States Hotel Stakes, cutting deeply into the prestige of EQUIPOISE as probably the best 2-year-old of 1930, are entered.

The Special often has been referred to as the last word in sporting gestures, as the association stands off, offering no purse, but the jackpot which goes to the winner is chipped in by the various owners, who pay $500 for entry of three, one to start and half forfeit if such owner fails to start any of his nominations. This builds a rich purse, and the candidates are in a sense a survival of the fittest. The race today will decide the best 2-year-old in training.

Just as JAMESTOWN was stealing the spotlight from the Whitney colt, EQUIPOISE came out on the track and ran six furlongs in a workout, alone, in the identical time of JAMESTOWN'S best race, six furlongs in 1:11 3-5. No whip was used, whereas McAtee had to whip JAMESTOWN. The issue seems close between the two, but it is by no means a two-horse race, as ORMESBY, from the Belair Stud, won impressively this week after being virtually left at the post, defeating CONDESCEND. The other starters are POLYDORUS and SUN MEADOW. The last named won a race in fast time in Chicago, and POLYDORUS has been in good fields but is probably outclassed. The selection for the race, probably following the line, is EQUIPOISE, JAMESTOWN, ORMESBY.

FIRST RACE—Is for 3-year-olds at seven furlongs, claiming. PARADISE LOST won a good race this week, beating MONTFERRAT and should repeat. PRETTY PATSY has worked well, and Wednesday led FRUMPER to the stretch in a mile race. ROYAL PANOPLY has been racing in Chicago and was third to ANTE BELLUM and ROMANY BAW, after meeting interference.

SECOND RACE—The second event is the North American Steeplechase, a fixture here and JOLLY ROGER, not at his best, seems good enough to win, for he by far outclasses the field. WAYFAIR has won two races here from weak fields, and should be second. FLOWER ROCK showed improved form last out, winning brackets.

THIRD RACE—BOBASHELA comes from Chicago after having beaten Dr. Freeland and others on a fast track, when he prefers mud, and is selected to defeat COMSTOCKERY in the Hermis Handicap. It is at a mile. BROWN ADMIRAL should beat GOLD BROOK and FULL DRESS for show money.

FIFTH RACE—This is the secondary feature, The Whitney, a memorial stake, in which Harry Payne Whitney's WHICHONE, first rival of Gallant Fox, will appear again, after a smashing victory earlier in the week in the Saranac Handicap, in which he ran a mile in 1:37. This will be merely a workout for the convalescent star, and he should win at prohibitive odds. The other starters are MARINE and VANITY and they should finish in the order named.

SIXTH RACE—This event with sixteen entries for 2-year-olds, a condition affair with some very good material. If SUN MEADOW does not start in the special, where he has little chance, he will have a good opportunity to win this, with BLACK TYRONE the dangerous rival. CUCHULAIN should earn third money.

ESCUTCHEON, running in best form, was perfectly rated for a mile, moved up very fast, ran into lead in stretch and drew away to win easily. CONCLAVE broke slow, moved up gradually, slipped through on inside on turn and finished gamely. FLYING GAL sprinted into a long lead in the first quarter mile, tired suddenly at end of a mile and a furlong and just lasted to save the show. DUSTEMALL lacked early speed, but closed fast under a drive. FLEECE D'ARGENT closed some ground. GOOSE EGG, well up for a mile, dropped back beaten. SNOWFLAKE was outrun.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 5:02. Off at 5:02½. Winner, Howard S. Bowns' b. f. WU trailed far back in early part, but finished fast. NAYLOR ran a good race and is worth noting. FLORHI was kept on the outside for entire trip. TIMELY is a very rapid beginner. She rushed into the lead, saved ground, but tired suddenly in final furlong and was doing her best to win. STEFANA broke fast, but was allowed to drop back. She closed with a rush. CHICSU was kept well up from the start and ran a good race. TRANSFORMATION displayed good speed and is improving.

ESCUTCHEON WINS SPA FEATURE

Field's Mare Pays 7-1; Conclave Second in Alabama.

SARATOGA RACE TRACK, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Marshall Field's Escutcheon scored in a romp in the fiftieth running of the Alabama Stakes here today and she stepped the ten furlongs in the fast time of 2:04 1-5. W. R. Coe's Conclave was second and Flying Gal, in the Belair Studs silks, third. Harry Payne Whitney's Dustemall finished fourth. The Alabama Stakes is one of the oldest and richest fillies stakes on the program of the Saratoga Racing Association.

The victory of Escutcheon was somewhat of a surprise to the big crowd as she was quoted at 7 to 1 in the betting.

The race is over the mile and a quarter route and it takes a real good filly to last it out. Flying Gal, under Sande's ride, was rushed to the front and opened five lengths lead over the field going around the paddock turn. She maintained her advantage for the next half mile but it was plain that would not last it out. She showed signs of tiring around the big turn and Escutcheon moved up very fast.

The Field filly came around Flying Gal and taking a long lead, won galloping by four lengths. Conclave beat Flying Gal three lengths for the place. The race was worth $13,875.

Whiskery Scores By 8 Lengths.

Chicago, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—The Morven stud's 6-year-old Whiskery easily won the Shady Side Purse, the feature number on today's program at Hawthorne race track. The Wild Rose Farm's Crossco was second and the Keenland stud's Jean Lafitte was third.

The Shady Side was an allowance affair, for 3-year-olds and upward, over the mile and 70 yards distance and was worth $950 to the winning stable. It was run over a slow track in 1:44 2-5.

Whiskery, off slowly and trailing the field to the quarter pole, improved his position steadily, passing horse after horse, and taking command when straightened out in the stretch, drew out in the run home to win easily by two and a half lengths. Crossco, always close up, went into the lead at the far turn, but was outrun in the home stretch and finished second by eight lengths. Jean Lafitte after being outrun the first half mile closed strongly to take third by a neck over Klingstone. Lieut. Russell and Outer Harbor finished in the order named.

Whiskery paid off at $6 to $2 in the mutuel machines.

Bud Charlton Wins Latonia Feature.

Latonia, Ky., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Bud Charlton from F. M. Miller's Barn, captured the Bellevue feature event on the afternoon card, a test of a mile and 70 yards for 3-year-olds.

Royal Yeoman took the place money, while Mindoro accounted for the show end of the purse. When the break came Bud Charlton was off running followed by Royal Yeoman and Mindoro. They finished in the order named. Royal Yeoman challenged at the bend for home, however, but was no match for the winner. Bud Charlton ran the distance in 1:46 flat and was ridden by the colored rider, R. Simpson. The winner paid $16.96 for $2.

Miss Morrill Meets Miss Greef in Final

Easthampton, N. Y., Aug. 8 (A.P.). Marjorie Morrill, of Dedham, Mass., and Mary Greef, of Kansas City, swept into the final round of singles in the Midstone Club's annual gold cup tennis tournament today and will meet for the championship tomorrow.

Miss Greef, ranked sixth in the national list, brushed aside Dorothy Weisel, of Sacramento, in easy fashion, 6—0, 6—2, but Miss Morrill, ranked eleventh, had to overcome a hard-fighting foe in the person of Sarah Palfrey, of Brookline, Mass., No. 4 ranking player, to reach the finals. Miss Morrill won by scores of 6—4, 9—7.

Miss Gladman and Josephine Cruickshank, of Santa Ana, reached the finals of doubles by defeating Caroline Babcock, of Los Angeles, and Dorothy Workum, of San Mariana, 6—3, 7—5.

Just before nightfall Miss Morrill and Miss Anderson reached the doubles finals by defeating Miss Cross and Mrs. Lawrence A. Harper, 6—3, 4—6, 12—10. The match was by far the best doubles exhibition of the tournament and was marked by the splendid net play of Miss Morrill and her consistent service which time and again pulled her and her partner out of a tight pinch.

SPENGLER NINE WINS LEGION TITLE FROM JASPER

Meiklejohn Protects Lead; Victors Play at Hagerstown.

PILING up eleven runs in the first two innings and with Meiklejohn pitching effectively, the Spengler Post Nine yesterday won the District of Columbia American Legion midget baseball championship by defeating the Sergt. Jasper Post Team, 13 to 5, to end the play-off series between the two series champions.

The victory earned the Spengler lads the right to compete in the No. 10 Regional Tournament at Hagerstown, starting next Thursday. If victorious in the regional tournament against the championship teams of Pennsylvania, Delaware, West Virginia and Maryland the local title winners will go on into the Eastern tournament at Charlottesville on August 21, 22 and 23.

Everett Russell, Tech High star, and ace of the Sergt. Jasper Post hurlers, started for the victims but failed to last through the second inning. Greene, who succeeded him, was yanked immediately for Beach, who hurled the closing rounds in good fashion.

Vernstein's Homer Features Rally.

Vernstein's home run with two mates on the bases capped the first round spurt of the Spengler crew and put his team five runs in front. Spengler came back in the second to slug six runs over the plate.

Meiklejohn, working behind a safe lead, kept the Sergt. Jasper sluggers well in check throughout. Valentine and Vernstein aided the Spengler cause with sparkling fielding plays.

Brickell Hero as Phils Pound Benton, of Reds

Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Philadelphia opened its final series of the year here today by driving Benton from the mound and slugging out an 8-to-5 victory. Brickell, recently acquired by the Phils from Pittsburgh, played a spectacular game. He singled and tripled in five times at bat and made a remarkable long running catch of Durocher's drive to the flagpole with two on base.

The Reds, far behinds, obtained some consolation runs in the ninth, singles by Walker and Meusel, a double by Stripp, two passes and an infield out accounting for three runs.

Hyattsville and Dixie Pigs In League Fray Tomorrow

Mount Rainier to Entertain Brentwood Hawks; Players Gordon and Harding Ruled Eligible for Future Games.

THE three title contenders in the Prince Georges County section of the Capital City League will swing into action tomorrow in a pair of contests that should provide plenty of action for the fans in that sector.

Although the league-leading Mount Rainier Club is scheduled to play the Brentwood Hawks at Mount Rainier, the Dixie Pig-Hyattsville battle to be staged on the Byrd Stadium field at the University of Maryland is looked upon as the day's feature. Both games are scheduled to start at 3 o'clock.

The Dixie Pigs and Hyattsville enter tomorrow's clash tied for second place in the standings with eight victories and three defeats and with much of their chances of overhauling Mount Rainier depending on the outcome.

Manager Henry Hiser, of Hyattsville, will probably depend on the pitching of Tom Mudd to turn back the threat of the Pigs. Clapper, who has been doing consistent work this season is likely to be the choice of the Dixie Pigs.

Mount Rainier will enter its game wtih the Brentwood Hawks a strong favorite. The Hawks will carry the good will of every othre team in the league into this game. An upset of Mount Rainier would tighten the race.

The Capital City League Board last night sustained its action of last week in the case of the Mount Rainier-Hyattsville game. The contest is to be replayed but Hyattsville will be allowed to use players Gordon and Harding in future games. It was proved that the names of those players had been published as eligible.

Giant Hurlers Repulse Pirates in Twin Bill

Pittsburgh, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Taking advantage of the breaks and aided by steady pitching, the New York Giants took a double-header from the Pittsburgh Pirates today, winning the opener, 9 to 1, and the nightcap, 7 to 2.

Bill Walker kept the Pirates' eleven hits well scattered in the first encounter, while Pittsburgh played very erratic ball behind Meine and Chagnon. Hogan led the Giants' attack with four hits, with Lloyd Waner getting the same number for the Pirates.

Carl Hubbell was the whole show in the last game, holding the Pirates to five hits, only one of which was made after the second inning. Terry starred at bat with three singles and a triple, while home runs were hit by Comorosky, Hogan and Roettger.

ending it by making a nice stop to retire Goldman at the doorway. Judge, at first, had retired but one man until this session.

Shoffner was slightly spiked by Myer when covering first in the fifth on the Nat second-sacker's bunt to Morgan, which he beat out.

Luke Sewell went to the boxes to the right of the plate to make a nice grab of Fischer's foul opening the native fifth.

Cronin's single which scored Myer in the fifth was his third successive safety of the game. When Judge, who followed, coaxed a pass, the aisles were packed.

With Seeds on first, two out, and Morgan up in the sixth, Fischer uncorked two successive wild pitches, letting the runner advance all the way to third. Spencer could not find the second one, which skidded off Umpire Campbell's foot, Fischer racing behind the plate to retrieve it.

After Spencer had scored West with his triple in the sixth, one ball had been called on Fischer when Manager Johnson decided to put Dave Harris in as a pinch-hitter. The move was a good one, for the "Greensboro Sheriff" immediately doubled home the tying run. Jones replaced Harris on the runways.

Jablonowski had been warming up for several innings before seeing service as Shoffner's relief with two gone in the sixth. He walked Cronin, the first man to face him, to fill the bases.

Spencer was calmly standing by waiting for Bluege to take L. Sewell's high foul in the seventh when the Nat third sacker suddenly yelled for the catcher to take it. And Spencer did, although it took him a moment to "spot the ball."

Spencer nipped Averill trying to steal in the seventh, but he failed to catch Montague when he tried later in the inning.

Brown's fourth ball to Goldman in the "stretch" session was a wild pitch, which let Montague advance from second to third.

Cronin and Myer handled the ball fast in negotiating the double play, which ended Cleveland's eighth after Porter had made his third single with one dead. The Nat shortstop took Morgan's hard-hit bounder while almost on top of the middle sack.

Myer made a fine stop of Hodapp's well-meant grass cutter opening the ninth. He also ended the game by taking L. Sewell's grounder.

COLLINS JUNIOR GOLF CHAMP

$13,000 for Yearling at Auction at aSratoga.

Special to The Washington Post.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 8.—The largest total since the yearling sales began this season was realized tonight when $107,800 was received by various consignors for 51 head which passed under the hammer in the Fasig-Tipton sales paddock. This made for an average of $2,114.

Alec Gordon, trainer for the Fair Stabl eof Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt, sent up from Kentucky a comparatively small consignment of eight head, but one of them sold for the highest price of the evening. This was a Macaw colt and the first of the get of that sire, who was a famous race horse and perhaps best remembered for his dead heat with Nedana in the Carter Handicap a few years back. Macaw won twelve races and more than $55,000, some of his triumphs being in the Brookdale and Queens County Handicaps and Shevlin Stakes.

His first crop are yearlings now and the youngster knocked down tonight changed hands for $13,000, the Brookmeade Stable being the buyre. The yearling is a chestnut, out of Antoinette, a mare which has a remarkable record for producing foals which become winners. The Brookmeade purchase has a few white hairs in a curl and dark spots over his body. He is nicely formed and came into the ring well after 11 o'clock, but many of the spectators had remained to have a look at him.

Most expressed themselves as well repaid for their wait. The bidding for the yearlings was of the rapid-fire variety and there was no doubt but what many horsemen had lokoed him up in the catalog and decided to have a bid on him. Gwynn Tompkins, trainer of the Brookmeade Stable horses, did the bidding and was successful.

The Brookmeade Stable was active in the bidding and the second most costly yearling of the night also went to it. This youngster came from the Hartland Farms consignment and sold for $10,500. He also was a chestnut colt but by Hydromel out of Rosa Mundi.

Herman Hits 2 Homers, 2 Singles; Dodgers Win

St. Louis, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—With Babe Herman showing the way, the league-leading Brooklyn Robins pounded out a 11-to-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals today.

Herman was at bat four times, hit safely four times, including two homers, scored four runs and drove in a like number. In his home-run activities he was assisted by Wright and Flowers, who got one each.

Meanwhile Ray Phelps was breezing to his twelfth triumph of the season, letting the Cards down with ten scattered hits, one of which was a circuit drive by Hafey. Haines started for the Cardinals but had to be relieved by Lindsey in the fifth.

two walks when Judge lofted to Averill for the third out.

Round seven contained quite a scare for the Nats and it was fortunate for them that Averill died stealing after having opened with a single. With two out, Brown walked Montague, who stole, and then uncorked a wild pitch on a fourth ball to Goldman, letting Montague take third. Jablonowski hit into a force play, however, and this was the last threat until the Nats won out in the eighth.

Rice, West, and Spencer had two hits each to run second to Cronin, while Dick Porter, with three singles, led the alien attack.

NAVY YARD gained the lead in the thrilling second series of the Government League yesterday by defeating Naval Hospital, first series winner, by an 8-7 score on the South Ellipse diamond before one of the largest crowds of the season, estimated at 2,000.

The victory was an important one for Navy Yard, giving them a full game lead over Naval Hospital with three games remaining to be played. The Printers will meet Navy Yard Monday and Naval Hospital on Tuesday. Wednesday, yesterday's rivals will clash again.

Pitcher Harover got by some tough spots yesterday to come through with the victory. Navy Yard jumped on Ingram, star of the Hospital pitching staff, for nine hits and an 8-1 lead in four innings, but Crews stopped the run-making.

Harover sailed along smoothly until the eighth. Two bases on balls, followed by Payne's home run, chased three runs across and a pair of singles produced another. Naval Hospital made a bid to win the game in the seventh, but Harover pulled himself together after two runs had been scored and the tying and winning tallies were on base.

Arguments Follow in Wake Of Berg-Chocolate Battle

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (A.P.).—A dozen impromptu demonstrations in the halls of Madison Square Garden as to how Jackie Kid Berg beat Kid Chocolate—or how Chocolate beat Berg, but failed to get the decision—failed to settle any of the arguments welling in the fight marts today over the accuracy of the decision handed down after ten furious rounds in the Polo Grounds last night.

Critics tried to demonstrate in pantomime to other experts how the Whitechapel whirlwind's aggressiveness and eternal punching brought him to the finish line a nose ahead of Chocolate. But in rebuttal other critics peeled off coats and went through motions intended to convey an impression of grace and boxing ability, such as the sleek Negro displayed in one of the greatest battles New York has ever seen. These later displays were intended to show that Chocolate really won the fight, even though he lost the decision. When the demonstrations were over, the official verdict still stood Berg, first, and Chocolate, second.

Fight Was Tonic To Boxing.

Every one, from the managers of both fighters and the promoters down to the faithful in the street, were content with the fight itself. After the miserable failures of other highly ballyhooed shows, the clean, ferocious struggle of Chocolate and Berg was generally considered just the tonic boxing needed to rise from the doldrums in New York.

Only the promoters at Madison Square Garden were dissatisfied with the situation. Frank Bruen, general manager of the Garden, now contends that he has no match for September among the lightweights, inasmuch as Berg insists that he be paid 27½ per cent of the gate receipts to fight Al Singer, the champion, for the 135-pound title. Since Singer is entitled to 37½ per cent of the proceeds and the challenger only 17½, the wage problem may halt the match.

Hopes to Match Stribling.

Bruen hopes that young Stribling, the Macon slugger, who knocked out Otto von Porat in Chicago and Phil Scott in London, all within a space of three rounds, will return from England in time to arrange a heavyweight tilt between the Southerner and either Victorio Campolo, Primo Carnera, or Jack Sharkey for September. If a heavyweight bout can be made, the lightweights will be abandoned for the time being.

D. G. S. PLAYS FOXHALL.

The District Grocery Store Nine will play Foxhall Athletic Club at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon on the Foxall diamond. All D. G. S. players are to meet at the warehouse at 1 p. m.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

BRAGS ABOUT THEFT RESULT IN ARRESTS

Three Are Held in Robbery of Montgomery Store Ten Months Ago.

WELSH FILES CANDIDACY

An irresistible impulse to brag led to the arrest yesterday in Montgomery County of three men wanted for a robbery committed almost a year ago.

On October 25, 1929, the store of E. W. Offutt, on the Bethesda-Rockville pike in Maryland, was robbed, and a large quantity of automobile supplies, hardware, clothing and other merchandise, as well as $2 in cash, was stolen.

No clew could be found until a few days ago, when a man boasted to friends of how he had "gotten away with murder" in staging the theft and evading capture. His tale was overheard and related to County Policeman Roy Rodman, who captured him and two companions yesterday.

The men arrested are Talbott Austin, 20, of Bethesda, Md.; Harold Mansfield, 19, of Montrose, Md., and Walter Herbertson, of 3326 Georgia avenue, Washington. Austin and Mansfield are charged with housebreaking and larceny, under $1,000 bond, while Herbertson is free under $500 bond as an accomplice, having allegedly received a share of the loot without participating in the actual crime. Mansfield, unable to make bond, is held in jail at Rockville. Being a resident of the District, Herbertson was arrested by Washington police who turned him over to Montgomery County authorities.

Barnard Welsh, Rockville, Md., attorney, yesterday filed his certificate of candidacy for office of State's attorney for Montgomery County with the supervisor of elections at Rockville. He will run on the Republican ticket.

Protests filed by residents of Montgomery County, themselves forbidden to sprinkle their lawns, against operation of the Chevy Chase Lake swimming pool have been answered by the Montgomery County Commissioners, after investigation, with the explanation that the pool uses only about 30,000 gallons of water daily, against 2,500,000 gallons ordinarily used daily for sprinkling lawns and gardens.

It was pointed out that a special filtering process makes it unnecessary for the pool management to use the "draw and fill" method commonly used in swimming pools by which the pool must be completely emptied and refilled daily; the only water put into the Chevy Chase pool is just enough to replace that which is splashed out or carried out by wet bathing suits.

It was pointed out further that the pool management has used water only at such times as the county was drawing upon the District supply, and has kept its intake valves closed at other times when to draw water might reduce the actual reserve supply of the county's water. The commissioners explained that they could not consistently close the Chevy Chase pool without taking similar action against soda fountains, dyeing and cleaning establishments, laundries and other heavy users of water.

Not only has the Chevy Chase pool been an exceptionally small consumer of water, but its value in providing facilities for the sweltering citizenry to escape th heat during the current torrid spell has more than offset any slight drain it might have caused on the water supply, it was held.

A committee to confer with District officials and residents of Montgomery County near the State line on Wisconsin avenue regarding plans for a portal park has been appointed by the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission and will meet soon.

Irving Owings, president of the commission, was authorized to meet with representatives of the Bethesda Chamber of Commerce, the District Engineer's office, and other interested bodies to discuss the park which has been under consideration for some time.

Plans for a three-span bridge over the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad tracks at Kensington, Md., at Lincoln avenue, as outlined by the Maryland State Roads Commission, have been approved by the Park and Planning Commission. The bridge will eliminate a dangerous grade crossing.

The commission also has under consideration plans drawn by the District engineer's office for an underpass on Piney Branch road in Takoma Park to eliminate the Chestnut street grade crossing. One approach to the underpass would be in Montgomery County and the other in the District.

The State park and planning body also has approved a 30-acre residential subdivision on the Forest Glen road near the Argyle Country Club.

Two residents of Bethesda, Md., ordered yesterday to appear at the Bethesda police station and post $25 collateral for violating the restriction of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission against watering their lawns, will be arrested and brought to the station house unless they obey the summons early this morning, Bethesda police declared last night.

The two men had been ordered to post collateral not later than 6 o'clock last night, but failed to show up. Both had been warned previously by police.

Fredericksburg School Opening September 8

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., Aug. 8.—The Fredericksburg public schools will reopen for the 1930-31 sessions September 8, it was announced today by Superintendent Guy H. Brown. With the appointment of a full teaching staff some time ago, everything is in readiness for the new reopening.

The system of admitting classes of beginners in February will be inaugurated this year, and the compulsory attendance law will be rigidly enforced.

Youth, 19, Is Drowned Swimming in Potomac

Special to The Washington Post.

Berkeley Springs, W. Va., Aug. 8.—Alphus A. Lineweaver, 19, was drowned in the Potomac River near Sir Johns Run late yesterday afternoon when he stepped into a hole while bathing with boy friends. He was unable to swim.

His companions rushed for help but the body was not recovered until two hours later. No inquest was called. He lived on a fruit farm near here.

Cubbage Guarded Against Revenge

Friends Protect Man, 80, Acquitted in Slaying of Grandson.

Special to The Washington Post.

Luray, Va., Aug. 18.—Though apparently happy and unafraid of anything, Jacob Cubbage, 80 years old, freed Tuesday evening by a jury in the Page County Court, Luray, of the murder of his grandson, Fred Cubbage, is constantly guarded by friends against harm from friends of the slain boy. The jury's verdict acquitting the old man of murder is not received in Cubbage Hollow, where the boy was shot and killed, with universal satisfaction.

Though no threats have been heard against the old man, his friends are not taking his safety for granted. He does not venture far from his home at night. The Cubbage family is the most numerous in that part of Page County, numbering perhaps 150 members, and has been torn into factions by the murder and the old man's acquittal.

The gun with which Jacob Cubbage snuffed out Fred Cubbage's life on June 8 is kept close by the old man. Friends of the old man know that he will defend himself and are trying to avert another tragedy.

NEW VIRGINIA LAWS EXPLAINED TO BAR

Wives Put on Same Basis as Husband in Desertions; Tax Exemption Up.

AGE NO JURY DUTY BAR

Old Point Comfort, Va., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—New laws passed by the 1930 General Assembly were explained before the Virginia Bar Association here today by C. H. Morrissett, State tax commissioner.

Three hundred and forty-one general laws and 128 special, private and local laws were passed this year, Mr. Morrissett said.

Twenty-one bills were recommended to the General Assembly by the State Judicial Council and the State Bar Association combined, and were passed with, however, some amendments.

Both organizations recommended shortening the time in which to file answers in equity, and the limit was reduced from six months to 90 days.

Some change was made in the weight of a witness in equity under oath, but the tax commissioner said the new statute was not far-reaching.

Chancery Case Testimony.

A measure recommended by the State Bar Association permitted oral evidence in chancery cases, and allowed the court to preserve oral evidence in such cases as part of the record. Another measure, providing for trial justices, was amended and in its changed form is "inferior" to that recommended by the judicial council, Mr. Morrissett said.

Two trial justice bills were passed by the General Assembly on its own motion, one providing for a trial justice in counties of from 210 to 250 square miles and in counties of from 40,000 to 46,000 population.

A measure was enacted prohibiting persons more than 60 years old from claiming exemption from jury service, but two classes were added to those who are exempted—persons actually engaged in harvesting or securing potatoes, and fruit growers actually engaged in harvesting their crops.

Under provisions of a new law recommended by the judicial council, if a person disappears for from seven to twenty years notice must be published for twelve weeks before his or her estate may be divided; but if more than twenty years missing no publication is necessary.

A new act in attachment proceedings was passed requiring a plaintiff's bond to be at least double the fair value of the property involved, instead of at least double the amount sued for, as formerly.

Simpler Murder Indictments.

A bill proposed by the judicial council was enacted shortening and simplifying indictments for murder and manslaughter.

Penalties were increased for mutilation of State Library property.

The amount of property which trustees of any church or religious organization may own was limited to 4 acres inside a city or town and 75 acres outside and to $100,000 in money or securities.

The issuance of marriage licenses to persons desiring to be married on Federal reservations in Virginia was provided for, and such marriages which have already taken place were legalized.

Wives were put on the same basis with husbands in a 1930 act which provides that 'if a wife willfully deserts or abandons her husband, and such desertion or abandonment continues until his death, she shall be barred of all interest in his estate as tenant by dower, distributee or otherwise."

Equal legal powers and rights in regard to their children were extended to both parents.

The question of retirement compensation for judges and State employes, as well as public school teachers, is to be studied by a commission.

Badges and emblems and the like of organizations were required to be registered with the secretary of the Commonwealth, and an unauthorized person who wears such an emblem was made guilty of a misdemeanor.

Check on Reassessments.

General reassessments of real estate were abolished except in the counties of Henrico, Chesterfield, Arlington and Fairfax, where such reassessments were made optional in 1930 and compulsory in 1934 and every fourth year thereafter. The act retained general reassessments in cities, but reduced the time from every five years to every four years.

The personal exemption for married persons for income tax purposes was increased by $800 and that of unmarried persons by $250.

Cities, towns and counties were authorized to exempt manufacturing establishments and works of internal improvement from local taxation for not more than five years.

A heavy State tax was levied on fortune tellers.

MAN IS FINED $200 ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Another Is Held in Prince Georges and Lays Liquor Supply to Drought.

BIRTH RATE INCREASES

Vincent Russo, of Baltimore, was fined $200 in Police Court at Marlboro in Prince Georges County, Md., yesterday, after conviction of transportation and possession of 14 cases of liquor. He was arrested on July 24 by County Policeman Harry J. Robinson.

A fine of $50 was imposed by Judge J. Chew Sheriff against Jerome Savoy on a charge of illegal possession of 5½ gallons of liquor. He was arrested at his home in Oxon Hill, Md., in a raid by Constable G. W. Perrygo on August 6.

William Edmond, of 1127 Fourth street northeast, Washington, was fined $50 on conviction for illegal possession of one case of liquor. He was arrested on the Marlboro Pike on August 2 by Policeman L. E. Dutrow.

Harry Wilson, colored, of Champlain street near Twenty-third street northwest, Washington, had visions of being hailed as a sort of modern Elisha relieving the suffering multitude in time of drought, but he ran afoul yesterday of a crew of policemen who apparently believe the drought is better unalleviated.

"Boss, all the creeks is dried up, and the people in Prince Georges County ain't got no water to drink, so I thought I better do something about it," he explained to Policemen A. W. Hepburn, V. M. Nichols, and Harry Robinson when they arrested him with 10 cases of liquor in his automobile near Marlboro, Md., yesterday. He was released under bond of $1,000.

A copy of a letter commending Constable A. C. Thompson, of Prince Georges County, Md., was received from E. Austin Baughman, Maryland commissioner of motor vehicles, yesterday by the Prince Georges County commissioners.

The letter was written by Alban G. Snyder, of 2812 Ordway street northwest, Washington, who praised Thompson for his success in preventing trouble on July 4 when Snyder's automobile was thrown over an embankment when struck by a car operated by Joseph Proctor, colored, of Lanham, Md.

Constable Thompson announced yesterday that he will be a candidate for the office of sheriff of Prince Georges County at the coming election. He will file his certificate of candidacy early next week, he said. He has been a county policeman for seven years and has an extensive record of arrests and convictions to his credit. He was at one time a member of the Metropolitan Police Department in Washington, until he was retired for disability after being shot by a prisoner he was arresting.

Suit for absolute divorce was filed in Prince Georges County yesterday by Russell L. Dale, of Agre road, near Hyattsville, against Cecilia Iona Dale, of 1243 B street southeast, Washington The suit alleges abandonment in September, 1926. The couple was married in March, 1921, and there is one child. B. H. Dolby is attorney for the plaintiff.

Suit for limited divorce and alimony was filed against Harry J. Canvin, of Hyattsville, by Margaret A. Canvin, of Hyattsville, charging desertion. The bill of complaint alleges that Canvin attempted to shoot his wife in 1926, and that he drove her from their home with a butcher knife last Saturday. The couple was married in Washington in March, 1926. There are no children.

The birth rate in Prince Georges County, Md., jumped almost 30 per cent in June over a year ago, according to the report of Dr. William S. Keister, former deputy State and county health officer, who reports 78 births this year as compared with 59 in June, 1929. Deaths also increased, the number in June this year being 47 as compared with 38 a year ago.

Only 3 cases of tuberculosis were reported in the county in July this year as compared with 14 in July, 1929. Cases of other communicable diseases reported last month in the county included pneumonia, 3; measles, 3; typhus fever, 2; diphtheria, 2; typhoid fever, 1; undulent fever, 1; septic sore throat, 1; entercolitis, 1; mumps, 1, and chickenpox, 1.

Plans of the Maryland State Roads Commission for widening the Defense highway between Bladensburg and Lanham, widening the Washington-Baltimore boulevard between Beltsville and Hyattsville, and construction of an overpass at Lanham on the Defense highway, all in Prince Georges County, Md., have been approved by the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

The Defense highway is to be widened 16 to 20 feet, while the Baltimore pike will be approximately doubled in width to 40 feet. The bridge at Lanham is to replace an old wooden structure.

The commission also has approved applications for rezoning from residential to commercial in Prince Georges County filed by Elizabeth Bewley, owner of a frontage of 170 feet on the Baltimore boulevard at Berwyn, and A. M. Gover, owner of two lots at the northwest corner of Edmonston road and Defense highway in Bladensburg.

$550,000 Is Paid For Ford Building

Property on Pennsylvania Avenue Acquired for Municipal Center.

Purchase of the Ford Building at John Marshall place and Pennsylvania avenue for 550,000 was approved yesterday by the District Commissioners.

The purchase price of $550,000 however, was added to by an agreement that the Ford Co. would occupy the building rent-free from now until January 31, 1932. This adds several thousands of dollars to the actual purchase price but the provision was agreed to because the Ford Co. was disinclined to sell its building at this time, unless it could continue to occupy it. The building was purchased for the Municipal Center.

The Commissioners also approved purchase of a site on Defense highway for the proposed new Children's Tuberculosis Sanitarium. The tract comprises 216 acres. It is near Randle Station on the W. B. & A. trolley line to Annapolis, about 12 miles from Washington, and cost $57,900.

Jones, former treasurer, in whose accounts a discrepancy of $23,011.87 was found by accountants.

TIRE TRACKS, CLEW, LEAD TO ARRESTS

Montgomery County Police Accuse Bethesda Man and Boy of Burglary.

HAVE CONFESSED, CLAIM

Clever detective work by two Montgomery County policemen, who identified two men as burglars by the tire tracks of their automobile three days after their alleged crime, led to the arrest yesterday in Bethesda, Md., of the men and the solution, it is believed by the authorities, of at least six burglaries which have mystified Montgomery County officials for the past several weeks.

The Potomac, Md., school was broken into and robbed on August 5. County Policemen W. Harry Merson and Roy Bodman were assigned to investigate the robbery, but their only clue was the marks of automobile tires in the heavy dust around the schoolhouse. A thorough canvass of automobiles in the section was made and the telltale marks were identified as having been made by an automobile owned by Mervin Riley, 24 years old, of Bethesda.

Riley was arrested yesterday, with Charles T. Reed, 15, of Gaithersburg, as they were driving near Bethesda. The prisoners were taken to the county police headquarters at Rockville. Charges of housebreaking and robbery were lodged against them. Police say that Riley has confessed to six robberies involving considerably more than $1,000 in loot. In five of the robberies Reed has admitted complicity, police say.

Riley is held without bond in Montgomery County Jail at Rockville, while Reed was released in $500 bail for preliminary hearing in juvenile court at Rockville Monday.

One of the places which the police say they confessed to robbing was a store in Washington.

Tucker Opponent Sought in Virginia

Republicans Will Meet in Buchanan to Discuss House Candidate.

Special to The Washington Post.

Staunton, Va., Aug. 8.—For the purpose of selecting a candidate to oppose Henry St. George Tucker, of Lexington, Democratic incumbent and party nominee for reelection, Republican leaders in the Tenth Congressional District have called a district convention to meet at Buchanan, Botetourt County, Friday, August 29, at 3 o'clock.

Announcement to this effect was made today by Duncan Curry, this city, vice chairman of the State Republican committee, who set at naught predictions that Mr. Tucker would not be opposed in the November general election. Representation will be allowed at the district convention on the basis of one delegate for each 100 votes for Mr. Hoover in the presidential election. This will give Staunton 10 delegates.

Mr. Curry would make no predictions as to whom the convention would name, but said a candidate would be chosen and backed to the limit by the Republican organization. Graham Buhrman, of Gala, Botetourt County, is the district chairman. The State Republican convention meets in Roanoke, Saturday, August 30.

ARLINGTON COUNTY TAX SUITS FILED

260 Actions Are Instituted by Gloth Against Alleged Delinquents.

ARLINGTON COUNTY, BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Pursuant to instructions of the county board of supervisors, Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth filed 260 suits for the collection of delinquent real estate taxes dating from 1927 back. The suits were filed in the county clerk's office and total more than a quarter of a million dollars.

While the suits yesterday were filed under the direction of the county board of supervisors they are brought in the name of the Commonwealth of Virginia and at the request of the department of taxation of the State. Those filed yesterday represent a little more than half of the suits that are still to be filed, according to Mr. Gloth.

Last year more than 600 suits were filed against property owners for delinquent taxes, but upon reaching Circuit Court Judge Howard W. Smith were ruled unconstitutional in that they were brought under an act of the General Assembly that was passed before the amended constitution was adopted.

The State department of taxation has made a careful examination of the act under which the present suits have been brought and has held that there is little likelihood of any difficulty being encountered in the courts as a result of its wording.

Those who are being sued will now be forced to pay the clerk's cost, tax attorney's fee and sheriff's fee, even if paying the taxes before the case reaches the court if the action goes against them. They will by paying all such taxes as are due avoid a large additional expense incurred through court proceedings.

The board of tax equalization, meeting yesterday at the courthouse, completed its plans for a comprehensive survey of the entire county.

Chairman Emery Hosmer announced that the board will establish a ratio of assessed values to actual values to be applied generally throughout the county.

Offices of the clerk, C. W. Harris, have been opened on the third floor at the courthouse and all complaints should be sent to him by letter or by telephone.

The Rev. Elmer Lucas, pastor of the Cherrydale Baptist Church and president of the Arlington County Ministerial Union, announces that he has called upon all local pastors of Arlington County to hold special services at their respective churches tomorrow to offer prayer for immediate relief from the present continued drought.

He announces that he will conduct special services at his church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at which time the congregation will offer prayer for relief. The Rev. Mr. Lucas invites all citizens wishing to do so to attend the service.

"Never in all my experience have we had such a continued drought as we now are having and with no apparent relief in sight we are face with most serious conditions now and during the coming winter," he said.

"While it was only suggested to me on Thursday that there should be special services held, I have called upon all the local pastors to conduct such services tomorrow and I feel confident my request as president of the union will be met with favor by all," he said.

The fourth annual meeting of the Carruthers Clan, composed of descendants of the late John Carruthers, of Loudon County, Va., as well as other branches of the family, will be held tomorrow at the Miller Cabin section of Rock Creek Park, with the Lyon Park Community House as the alternate place of meeting in the event of rain. The officers of the clan are: Chieftain Thomas N. Carruthers, of Purcellville, Va.; scribe, Mrs. Ada C. Williams, of Washington; bursar, Mrs. Blanche C. Beasley, of Norfolk, Va.; historian, Miss Elizabeth Bennett, of Lyon Park, Arlington County; surgeon, Dr. V. Blackston Williams, of Washington; and counsellor, E. Lester Bennett, of Lyon Village, Arlington County.

Circuit Court Judge Walter T. McCarthy, Col. Charles T. Jesse and William C. Mackall returned today from Old Point Comfort, Va., where they attended the Virginia State Bar convention.

The Ashton Heights Woman's Club announces it will hold the annual picnic Tuesday at Millers Cabin, Rock Creek Park.

The Arlington Volunteer Firemen's and Ladies Auxiliary carnival, which is being held on the grounds adjacent to the new fire house for the past week, concludes tonight.

Despite the intense heat during the past week large crowds have been on hand each night. The ice cream and soft-drink stands have done a rushing business and a record crowd is looked for tonight.

The condition of Col. J. G. Pepper, of Barcroft, who recently underwent a serious operation, is reporeted as much improved at his home.

The monthly meeting of the Clarendon Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held at the home of Mrs. Florence Cauffman, 441 Wilson boulevard, next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. Officers will be elected.

The program will be in charge of Mrs. Ethel M. Gregory, and will be in the interest of the soldiers and sailors' work of the union.

Gude Brothers' Farm Florists's Picnic Scene

Trap shooting, baseball games and varied field events featured the joint annual outing of Washington and Baltimore florists held Wednesday on the Gude brothers' farm near Laurel, Md. Approximately 400 florists attended.

Fatal Barn Fire Hearing Is Fixed

Man Confessing Blame for Son's Death in Flames to Appear.

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., Aug. 8.—C. M. Farmer, who confessed responsibility for a fire which destroyed a barn and inflicted burns from which his 11-year-old son, Stephen, died on May 30, will be given a hearing Monday by a special grand jury drawn to investigate the case at the August term of the Caroline County Circuit Court with Judge Frederick W. Coleman presiding.

Farmer is alleged to have sent his son through a window of a barn owned by Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Perry, of Washington, to steal gasoline. The fuel caught fire from a lighted lantern carried by the boy and trapped him in the building. He died a few hours after being rescued by his father.

D. B. Powers, Commonwealth's attorney for Caroline and brother of Mrs. Perry, was excused from the case upon his own request and Joseph A. Billingsley, a Commonwealth's attorney for King George County, was appointed in his place.

U. S. INTERVENTION HELD SOCIAL TREND

INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS TO GO

Charlottesville, Va., Aug. 8 (A.P.).—Intervention by the United States in Nicaragua was defended as a distinct social trend by Dr. Charles R. Batchelder, of New York City, in an address before the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Virginia tonight. Dr. Batchelder said the intervention in Nicaragua was an outgrowth of the increasing submergence of individual rights before the needs of society.

"Nationalism," he said, "is being replaced by internationalism, to the great benefit of the human race. The emphasis upon the rights of the individual is being replaced by the superior claims of the rights of society."

Although admitting that the interests of the United States in Nicaragua are primarily commercial and economic, and connected with the necessity of protecting the Panama Canal, at the same time, he said, the United States is doing a social service by aiding the Nicaraguan government.

Since 1909, he said, the governments of Nicaragua have been unable to give safety to foreigners and to fulfill their obligations, and a number of American interventions have been at the request of the Nicaraguan government.

Forced to Police Area.

"Our isthmian policy," he said, "does not permit foreign nations to assume political, military or financial control of any American country. Such intervention is felt to threaten our safety, and thus the United States is forced most unwillingly to assume the role of policeman in the Caribbean areas."

Prohibition, industry and women's rights were outstanding today as subjects of the round table and open forum discussions at the institute.

Julius T. Muench, city counsellor of St. Louis, paused long enough in a discussion of the courts to rap the national dry law, which with traffic regulations has created a formidable new class of quasi criminals, he said.

The establishment of an industry in every agricultural community not only to absorb surplus farm products but also to furnish employment for labor when not needed on the farm, was advocated by Joseph Hyde Pratt, consulting engineer of Chapel Hill, N. C., and Wheeler McMillen, associate editor of "The Country Home."

Edward Weist, dean of the College of Commerce of the University of Kentucky, described the harmful effects which the Hawley-Smoot tariff might have. Although its cost per capita each year may be only a few dollars, the effect on foreign trade and the impression it makes upon the nations of the world "are matters of grave importance," he said.

Gains Under Suffrage.

In a review of the accomplishments of the equal rights campaign conducted since woman suffrage became a fact in 1920, Mrs. Burnita Shelton Matthews, Washington, D. C., attorney, foresaw the day when politically, economically and socially men and women would be equal.

Efforts during the ten years of the equal rights campaign from 1920 to 1930, have been concentrated upon putting marriage on a partnership basis, she said, and hav. resulted in sweeping away in twenty States the old common law giving the father sole natural guardianship and control.

Concrete results of the campaign, she said, have been laws extending the power of married women to contract and to sue; allowing married women to choose their domicile for voting purposes; and equalizing as between husband and wife the grounds for divorce.

D. J. Lewis Files Candidacy Papers

Former House Member to Oppose Barnard in Sixth District.

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Aug. 8.—Former Representative David J. Lewis will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Sixth Maryland District, having filed his papers late yesterday.

Mr. Lewis said he filed first in Montgomery County, and it was his intention to have the announcement of his filing simultaneous with the appearance of his answer to the letter sent him by prominent Democrats of Montgomery, Frederick and Washington Counties, asking him to be a candidate. It is understood this letter will be released next Monday morning.

Fuller Barnard, jr., former State's attorney, who will oppose Mr. Lewis for the congressional seat, filed his nomination papers several days ago. Mr. Lewis said that while, according to a ruling of the attorney general, one could file papers as late as the 18th, he thought that because of the impression held by many that 30 days were required, he would hand in his primary certificate within that time.

LEGION'S AUXILIARY HEARS MRS. HARPER

U. S. Director of Education of World War Orphans Is Alexandria Speaker.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Mrs. Dorothy B. Harper, national director of education of World War Orphans and a past national treasurer of the American Legion Auxiliary, was the principal speaker at the meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary of Post No. 24, Alexandria, held on Thursday night in Gadsby's Tavern. She spoke of the program of work of the national organization in educating the children of men who died while in the service during the period of the war and the efforts being made to have all States enact legislation to that end. Virginia, she stated, has already passed such a law and provides certain scholarships for war orphans.

Other guests of the auxiliary were Miss Hazel Nielson, past department president of North Dakota, who spoke of the splendid membership in that State and attributed it to the close cooperation between the posts and auxiliary units. She also said that to her the five stars in the service cross on the legion and auxiliary emblems meant comradeship, heirship, hardship, leadership and scholarship and explained her conception of these definitions.

Mrs. Willette Preston, past department president of Oklahoma and a past national executive committeewoman, also gave a short talk and greetings from her State to Virginia. Mrs. Gertrude Lyons, a noted singer and also a member of the Washington Auxiliary, and Mrs. Thomas, of Washington, were also guests of the unit, the former leading the assemblage in the singing of "America" and "The Star-Spangled Banner" and the latter giving a short greeting.

Mrs. John Ambler Nicholas, jr., whose husband was for a number of years adjutant for the Department of Virginia, American Legion, and who has recently moved to Alexandria, was the guest of the unit.

Mrs. Richard B. English, the retiring president, presented the officer's pin to Mrs. F. Clinton Knight, the president-elect, who will assume office at the September meeting.

Delegates were elected, in their respective order, to represent the unit at the department convention in Harrisonburg, September 7 to 10, as follows: Mrs. Richard B. English, Mrs. F. Clinton Knight, Mrs. W. Milton Glasgow, Mrs. Julian P. Ballenger, Mrs. L. H. Dudley and Mrs. Margaret F. Bailey. Alternates, in the order of their election, were Mrs. Lawrence Gardner, Mrs. Charles M. Shepperson and Mrs. John H. Trimyer. Mrs. R. Insko was appointed an alternate by the president, who also has the privilege of appointing two more alternates.

One section, comprising one-third of that part of Mount Vernon avenue being widened by the city, extending from the north end of the city limits to Russell road, has been completed and is now open for traffic. Work on another section, extending from Russell road to Hume Station, is now under way. This roadway conforms in width to the portion of Mount Vernon avenue within the Town of Potomac, which is 28 feet wide. The completion of this improvement means that the road from Washington into Alexandria by way of Mount Vernon avenue and Russell road is open.

The widening of Mount Vernon avenue will, it is understood, result in the removal of Hume Spring, which with the cupola surrounding it, has been a landmark for more than 30 years, being built by the late Frank Hume. Mr. Hume had the excavation made for the spring and walled in stone and the cupola erected over it. The roadway passes to either side of the spring, and now that traffic has become so heavy, it has been the scene of many accidents and near-accidents. There will be no great difficulty in piping the water from the spring, which is a very fine one, to another location nearby, if it is decided to do so.

The Old Dominion Boat Club has adopted plans for extensive improvements to its clubhouse and other facilities at the foot of King street, work on which will be started in the early spring. The plan of the mooring committee, of which Arthur M. King is chairman, has been adopted, providing for new moorings with accommodations for 32 boats. This work, it is stated, will cost approximately $4,000. The club now has accommodations for 22 boats.

The dredging of the water front along the club property to a minimum depth of 6 feet at mean low tide, has also been authorized. In some places the present depth is only 2 feet of water. A dredging concern will begin this work in the near future, it is understood.

The club has adopted a resolution authorizing Harry F. Kennedy to take steps to abate the smoke nuisance from the plant of the Virginia Public Service Co. and, if necessary, to file suit for damages caused to the club's property.

The club has elected these new members: Aldrich Dudley, Middleburg, Va.; Charles S. Parker, 1516 King street; James T. Kirby, Braddock Heights; J. William May has been elected a nonactive member.

A membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held at 8 o'clock Monday evening, when Dan S. Hollenga, business manager, will submit a report of the activities of the chamber for July. A number of other matters of importance will also be considered, it is announced.

Harry F. Kennedy, grand patron of the State body of the Order of Eastern Star, left yesterday for Richmond to attend a meeting of the board of trustees of the O. E. S. Home.

Woman Asks $10,000 For Death of Husband

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Todd, of 932 T street northwest, widow of the late Richard Todd, filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court seeking to recover $10,000 from the Pennsylvania Railroad Co.

Mrs. Todd alleges that her husband was killed at the Union Station last December 30 when he stepped through the open door of a coach while the train on which he was riding from Atlantic City still was in motion. Negligence on the part of the railroad company in permitting the door to be opened before the train was halted is charged. Attorneys George A. Parker and Edward W. Howard appear for the plaintiff.

LOAN REFUSED, BOMBER KILLS BANKER, SELF

DESPERATE, HE SAID, AND NEEDED $10,000

Firm's Vice President and Perpetrator Die; Office Wrecked.

POLICEMAN, CASHIER AND CHILD ARE HURT

Slayer Had No Crime Record Despite "Price-on-My-Head" Warning.

Fort Worth, Tex., Aug. 9 (A.P.).—His demand for $10,000 refused, Nathan Monroe Martin, 30, today hurled a nitroglycerin bomb to the floor of the Stockyards National Bank here, wrecking the office, and killing Martin and Fred L. Pelton, vice president of the institution.

L. W. Marshall, assistant cashier, was hurt seriously. Clifton Magers, 8, was injured by flying glass. Fear was voiced that emergency policeman Benson might lose his hearing through destruction of his ear drums. Benson entered the building as the bomb was thrown.

For several hours after the bombing police were unable to identify Martin, who until a short time ago had engaged in the battery business. Recently he had been unemployed.

"Price on My Head."

An attendant at the funeral chapel finally recognized the bomber. He then was completely identified by his brother, Herbert Martin. The brother said he did not know where Nathan Martin had obtained the nitroglycerin. Another relative said the bomb thrower several days ago had a quantity of dynamite to be used to blast fish from a stream near his home.

When Martin entered the bank he advanced to the desk of W. L. Pier, the president, and said:

"I need $10,000. I am desperate. I want the money quick. There is a price on my head and I do not care what happens to me. There is nitroglycerin in this satchel."

Despite his statement, Fort Worth police said Martin did not have a criminal record here.

Banker's Ruse Fails.

Pelton had engaged the stranger in conversation while Pier went into a money cage and told a teller to count out $10,000 in currency. While the president was telephoning the police the explosion occurred. Pier had planned to give the $10,000 to the man and have the police attempt to capture him outside the building.

Emergency Police Officers Benson and Lehay answered Pier's summons. They walked into the bank and Benson said when he loosened the pistol in his holster he saw the man take from his satchel a two-ounce bottle and throw it to the floor.

While Pier was having the money counted a few minutes before the explosion the stranger wrote a note on a deposit slip. It said: "I have a sister in Phoenix, Ariz." The note was found some time later.

Bodies Are Mutilated.

The bodies of Pelton and the bomber were badly mutilated by the blast.

Office fixtures were strewn about the room as though a tornado had struck and money and checks were scattered.

Marshall's leg was badly cut and the Magers boy was cut on his head and body.

Pelton had been with the bank a little over a year, coming from Alliance, Nebr.

The bank has a picturesque background, having been the gathering place for many years of Texas cattlemen who market their stock in Fort Worth.

Aircraft Facts Given Coolidge by Navy Man

Typographical Error Is Revealed in Article on Engines.

Northampton, Mass., Aug. 9 (A.P.).—A statement by Calvin Coolidge relating to the relative merits of American and foreign aircraft engines that appeared in a recently syndicated newspaper article and brought prompt objections from the Navy Department, was said, at Mr. Coolidge's office here today, to have contained a typographical error.

The line that roused the controversy read: "A Navy office reports that the best engine is made abroad."

It was definitely revealed at Mr. Coolidge's Northampton office that the original copy read "A Navy officer"—not "office."

Furthermore, the source of Mr. Coolidge's information was made known. It was explained that the statement was based on a paper by Lieut. T. G. W. Settle, noted naval balloonist.

NET DRAWS TIGHTER IN M'CRORY HOLDUP

Cab Driver Says Suspects Are Ones He Took From City After Crime.

$20 BILL EXCITED HIM

A $20 bill given to a Negro taxicab driver for a 58-minute trip from southwest Washington to Baltimore Thursday night may prove, police believe, the link that will connect John Irvin, 24 years old, and Elmer Bennett, 28 years old, both of Baltimore, with the theft of $1,200 from Harvey W. Smith, manager at McCrory's 5 and 10 Cent Store, 416 Seventh street northwest, earlier Thursday evening.

The Negro, Logan Fields, became excited over the amount of the bill, and immediately telephoned his superior, David E. Beavers, of F street near Second street southwest, from Baltimore. The latter became suspicious—and notified police, and last night the driver picked the two suspects from a line-up at Police Headquarters.

Further identification of the pair was made by Nathaniel Johnson, druggist, of Third and F streets southwest, who declared they entered his store, purchased three cigars and a package of cigarettes and receive 5 cents change from a 50-cent piece.

The identifications definitely shattered an alibi offered by the two men. They had previously declared they were swimming near Baltimore at the time of the robbery. They declared they had failed to report the theft of the car that was used in the holdup because they had not had the time. This car was found abandoned here, and the money satchel was found near it.

Police last night also revealed that after the robbery Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Putnam, of Eighth street near A street southeast, had pursued the bandits' car as far as Stanton Park, where they abandoned the chase.

Police were elated at the developments in the case. They believe that further investigation will lead to a recovery of some of the money. Two additional arrests are expected momentarily.

SUSPECTED SLAYER OF BUCKLEY SNARED

Alleged 'Trigger Man' Walks Into New York Trap on Way to Board Ship.

MICHIGAN CALLING JURY

New York, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Wanted in Detroit as a suspect in the murder of Jerry Buckley, radio announcer, Ted Pezzoni, alleged gangland "trigger man," was arrested by police here today just a few hours before he planned to sail for his native Italy.

Pezzoni was captured as he walked into a Bronx bank, where, police allege, he was to withdraw $15,000 sent to him from Detroit to enable him to take a midnight liner for his homeland.

John Hoffman, detective lieutenant of Detroit, brought about Pezzoni's capture. Through underworld informants in Detroit, he said, he learned that Pezzoni had moved to New York and that his money had been withdrawn there and sent to a bank at Fordham road and Creston avenue, the Bronx.

Hoffman left Detroit yesterday at midnight and flew here by airplane. When he reached the city early today he hurried to police headquarters to ask for aid, and with two detectives went directly to the Bronx.

The bank had not opened when the detectives arrived. Hoffman knew Pezzoni by sight and the three men lingered on the corner near the bank entrance, scanning the faces that passed.

Pezzoni, walking carelessly down the street half an hour later, unwittingly stepped into the trap. He offered no resistance and the detectives said he was unarmed. He was taken to the Highbridge Station and held as a fugitive from justice from Detroit.

Lieut. Hoffman said Pezzoni owned a night club in Detroit and is believed to be still interested in one there. He is called by Detroit police a "trigger man" or gang killer, Hoffman said.

Pezzoni will be held over the week-end at headquarters and paraded in line-up Monday. Police said Pizzoni was arrested here in May, 1926, in connection with a Bronx burglary, but was released.

Pezzoni is 37. He gave his occupation as a ladies' tailor. Police said they found cartridge clips for three pistols in his home, but no pistol. He has a wife and two children.

Chicago Elevated Crash Kills Man, Injures Many

Chicago, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—A three-car elevated train carrying nearly 100 persons home from the loop crashed into a work train today, killing one man, injuring several passengers and creating a near panic.

Peter Noderangelo, an employe of the elevated lines, was killed. Two of those injured are Miss Ann McCaffery, 25, and Samuel Van Scheic. Failure to throw a switch clearing the main line is blamed for the accident.

Man Killed Father For $10, Is Charge

Son Needed Money to Pay for Support of Wife, 18, and Infant.

Waukegan, Ill., Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Charged with beating his father to death because the latter refused him $10, William Butler, jr., 22, was held today on a murder charge.

Young Butler was to have appeared in court today to explain his failure to meet the regular $10 payment for support of his 18-year-old wife, Mildred, and their 3-week-old child. Butler asked his father for money last night and a quarrel ensued. William Butler, sr., 64, died today of his injuries. He had been choked and his chest was crushed by kicks.

The son was captured after an attempt to hold up Paul Klesow, retired landscape gardener, later in the evening and was booked for robbery. When his brother reported the attack on the elder Butler the charge was changed to murder.

Millions in Gold on Wreck Almost in Grasp of Divers

Seattle Men Ready to Break Into Strong Room of Islanders, Sunk 30 Years Off Alaska to Raise $3,000,000 in Bars.

Seattle, Aug. 9 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Three million dollars in gold—possibly $4,000,000—are almost within the grasp of a little band of adventurous men toiling in a salvaging expedition which, if successful, will set a new record in marine annals.

Three hundred and eight-five feet down in the sea they are working. Only the strong room of the steamship Islanders, sunk 30 years ago in Stevens Passage, just south of Juneau, Alaska, remains to be torn open before the salvagers reach their goal.

The work, conducted by more than a dozen Seattle and Olympia men, has been going on since the summer of 1929, but the working period was brief, and the job could not be resumed until late in June this year because of adverse weather. Their expectation is that the next month will see their job virtually completed, for they are toiling day and night.

The hull of the Islander, about 285 feet long, has been explored thoroughly by the divers, pieces of baggage and the like have been brought up, and the preparations for the last assault on the treasure store have been completed.

NORRIS TO FACE STIFF PRIMARY FIGHT TUESDAY

Nebraska Voting Looms as Liberalism, Conservation Test in G.O.P.

REGULARS WORKING TO DEFEAT SENATOR

Democratic Election in Ohio Same Day Rouses Share of Interest.

BUCKLEY WILL ASK NOMINATION AS WET

Alabama Will Go to Polls for Successor to Heflin, Now Independent.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The Nation's political spotlight focuses rather glaringly on Nebraska's primary Tuesday, where there is a possibility, a slim one, of a major political turnover. It is one that would be considered a catastrophe by the progressives, but as manna from heaven by the administration.

Regardless of how Senator George W. Norris comes out, he has had to go through one of the most strenuous campaigns of his career and at his advanced age, at that. His defeat would come as a general surprise, but the regular Republicans are putting everything they have into the campaign.

Facing Norris is not only his opponent, W. M. Stebbins, but all the old party wheelhorses, among them former Gov. McKelvie. Mr. McKelvie, the wheat member of the Farm Board, is to make a radio speech in behalf of Mr. Stebbins tomorrow night.

Issue Is National One.

The campaign has generally turned on Norris' irregularity, with particular emphasis on his support of Smith in 1928. Norris, in turn has emphasized that he has no apologies to make and that if returned to the Senate he will continue his independent action.

The outcome is not confined to Nebraska by any means. It is looked upon by many as a national test between Republican progressiveness and conservatism.

The campaign started off with an unusual zest and has continued at the same pace. A young grocer with the same name as the senator filed and his candidacy was immediately denounced as a trick to confuse the Norris supporters.

Many days after the State Supreme Court had ordered young Norris' name stricken from the ballots, the regulars broke forth with the charge that it was the Norris supporters themselves who sponsored the grocer's candidacy in an effort to show diabolical tendencies on the part of the regulars.

Situation in Ohio.

Should Norris win, and it is believed he will, there will be little interest in Nebraska for the rest of the Bridge Tender Tells Story of Seeing Ship Hurtle Into Fatal Spin.

Chicago, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Two women passengers and a pilot plunged to a terrifying death today when a sight-seeing airplane cleft through the thin metal top of a huge illuminating gas tank on Chicago's West Side.

Lost in the darkness of a sudden rain squall, the ship shot toward the earth and screeched through the steel hulk, hurling the occupants through released clouds of the life-snuffing gas and into a 40-foot well of water on which the tank rested.

The pilot was identified as Orville Suchy and his ship as a monoplane belonging to the R. D. Caffarello Co. It had taken off a short time previously from the Municipal Airport for a $5 ride over the city, according to attendants there. Names of the girls were not known.

Container Steamed Out.

A diver from the Great Lakes Dredge & Dock Co. was called to recover the bodies. Officials of the People's Gas, Light & Coke Co., owners of the tank, had the containers steamed out to clear away any explosive or poisonous material. It was expected that the bodies would be recovered by morning.

A bridge tender said he saw the plane go into a sudden tailspin and drop, as though it might have been struck by lightning. He said he saw no one fall from the ship, although a painter, working on a nearby roof, thought he saw some one attempt futilely to leap in a parachute.

The gas tank, of 1,000,000 cubic-foot capacity, contained about 790,000 cubic feet of illuminating gas. According to W. G. Redd, vice president of the People's Gas Light & Coke Co., there was no danger of an explosion, even if the plane had been in flames.

Gas Itself Not Explosive.

In event of the latter situation the gas might have ignited and burned, but would not have exploded, he stated, because the gas itself is not explosive, and was rushing out too fast to permit air or other explosive material to enter.

The tank is constructed of thin sheet steel and is so built that the open bottom floats on a large well of water, preventing escape of the gas.

Crime Cases to Come First at Court Term

Three Justices of District Supreme Tribunal to Be Assigned to Them When Fall Session Starts in October.

Criminal cases will have the right-of-way when District of Columbia Supreme Court begins its fall term on October 7, Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat revealed yesterday.

Three criminal courts are to be operated, and the chief justice stated that United States Attorney Leo A. Rover had advised him that his office will be prepared to keep all three courts busy.

No statement as to what courts the other six of the nine justices of the tribunal would be assigned to was made, and it was indicated that no decision would be reached until the nine justices meet in general term prior to the opening of the fall session.

It was believed, however, that the chief justice will continue to devote his time to condemnation matters. Since he became a member of the bench more than a year ago, Chief Justice Wheat has devoted most of his time to that phase of court procedure and only a small dent has been made in the work. Scores of condemnation proceedings involving both the Federal and the District Government are now pending and much of the proposed Government building program is said to be hanging fire on the outcome of some of the actions.

That the chief justice and probably one other justice will be assigned to condemnation cases was believed in court circles to be almost assured. The chief justice, however, declined to comment in that regard.

If that happens, it is likely that only one other justice will be assigned to other equity cases, persons familiar with court routine pointing out that in an emergency one of the justices assigned to condemnation matters can fill in on other equity matters.

A radical change in local court procedure has been suggested, effective in October, but as yet no definite decision has been reached. This suggestion has to do with the establishment of a Motions Court. Such a court would take care of all motions involving equity, law and criminal cases, and it is thought that would permit other justices to sit five days a week from 10 o'clock in the morning until 3 o'clock in the afternoon, instead of only four days a week, as has been the custom in the past. Up to the present justices sitting in the equity and law branches of the court have held Friday open for motions, while in the criminal courts the justices have reserved the day either for arraignments, sentences or motions.

On the decision as to the future of the Motions Court hinges whether two or three justices will sit on law cases. The law docket of the court is in very bad shape, and the calendar

Capital Churches to Pray as Crop Losses Mount in Nearby States.

Three prostrations and suffering as intense as any felt here this summer were reported yesterday as the temperature went beyond the 110 maximum registering point on the Pennsylvania avenue kiosk and touched 102 degrees at the Weather Bureau. Unusually high humidity readings led many to believe erroneously that the day was the hottest here this summer.

From the Weather Bureau came the usual discouraging forecast, "No relief in sight." Today is expected to be cloudy, with somewhat lower temperatures, but the humidity will probably cause discomfort equal to yesterday's. No rain can be foreseen.

Mrs. Mary Ale, 31, collapsed in the basement of a home at 1459 Ridge place southeast before she was able to light a gas burner that she had turned on. She was nearly asphyxiated before she was found by George Eyer, and was taken to Casualty Hospital. Her condition was said to be critical.

Another Is Overcome.

Mrs. A. A. Dampier, of 2128 Kearney street northeast, was removed to the Emergency Hospital after she was overcome while working at the Departmental Bank. Her condition is not serious.

Della Blackwell, colored, 26 years old, of 938 N street northwest, was stricken with the heat while walking in front of a Georgia avenue house near U street northwest late yesterday afternoon. She was treated at Freedmen's Hospital and dismissed.

Government departments and numerous private offices closed early yesterday because of the intense heat, and the week-end migration to nearby beaches and resorts promised to establish a local record. Rock Creek and Potomac Parks were crowded with suffering humanity Friday night. Hundreds were expected to sleep in parks last night, as humidity readings climbed to offset slight reductions in temperature.

Mercury Rises Quickly.

The thermometer literally rose with the sun. At daybreak it stood at 77, but by 8 a. m. it went to 82. At 10 o'clock it stood at 90, at noon 97, and by 4 o'clock had reached the day's high of 110 on the kiosk, and 102 at the Weather Bureau's higher location.

Meanwhile tales of mounting crop losses, prostrations and deaths continued to pour in from nearby Virginia and Maryland. At Baltimore Miss Eva Jacobs, a trained nurse, collapsed and died after attending a patient in the maternity ward at Sinai Hospital.

At Frederick, Md., special police patrols were sent out to prevent citizens from washing clothes or watering lawns. Forest fires continued to ravage Cumberland County, Md., while the town of Bayard faced the prospect of having no lights, because of the low level of the river that furnishes the town's power supply.

LANDLORD, 71, HELD WHEN MAN, 65, DIES

AUTOPSY TO BE TODAY

A 65-year-old retired veterinarian was dead and his 71-year-old landlord was held last night by Tenth Precinct police pending a coroner's investigation of the former's death at 3643 Warder street northwest late yesterday afternoon.

The veterinarian was George G. Pearson, whose body was removed to the District Morgue for an autopsy ordered by Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt shortly after police took in custody John Patrick Quill, owner of the home and a resident there also. It was scheduled for 10:30 o'clock this morning.

Policeman E. H. Hinson, who responded to a call to the precinct station, reported that he found Pearson dead on the floor of the dining room in the residence, with Quill standing by him. Dr. Thomas J. Kennedey, of 3909 Georgia avenue, pronounced the man dead. He expressed the opinion to police that Pearson died from natural causes.

"Pearson walked in the house late in the afternoon, looking crazy," Quill was quoted as telling police. "We were both leaning against the dining room table when Pearson fell to the floor. When he didn't get up we called police."

Quill's daughter, Mrs. Edna May Titus, corroborated this statement, adding, police said, that "Pearson came in the house and began quarreling, seeming like a crazy man." She said she telephoned police when the man failed to arise from the floor.

Pearson was residing temporarily at the residence during the absence of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Foster, from their home at 3658 Park place northwest. Foster is an attorney with the Department of Justice.

Quill is a messenger in the Department of Agriculture.

Lindberghs Fly to Maine But Leave Junior at Home

Couple Arrives for Visit With Mrs. Morrow, Anne Piloting Her Plane Part of Way; Hoover to Honor Flier in Capital Friday.

North Haven, Me., Aug. 9 (A.P.).—After a flight from Hickville, N. Y., Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife, the former Anne Morrow, were here tonight for a week-end visit with Mrs. Lindberg's mother, Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, and her sisters, Constance and Elizabeth.

They landed on the field of the Morrow summer estate after a hop from Portland, where they stopped for oil, and were greeted by the Morrow family. The flying colonel said they expected to return to New York on Monday.

Charles, jr., the Lindbergh baby, was not a passenger in the plane. The colonel answered queries at Portland as to the health of his infant son with a broad grin and said the baby had been left in care of a nurse at Englewood, N. J.

The couple encountered no difficulties on the way from Hickaville, except that they were forced to fly through considerable fog. When asked if Mrs. Lindbergh had piloted the dual control biplane on the trip, the colonel answered:

First Concrete Move Is Made to Help Area Hit by Drought.

HYDE AND STONE GIVE REPORTS TO HOOVER

State Governors Accept Invitation to Parley in Capital.

RED CROSS PREPARES TO FURNISH QUICK AID

Secretary of Agriculture Calls Aridity Argument for Crop Control.

(Associated Press.)

The helping hand of the Federal Government and the Nation's railroads reached out yesterday to assist the drought-striken farmers with reduced freight rates as President Hoover and the American Red Cross kept constant tab on the situation with a view to extending further relief.

The first concrete step to aid the 1,000,000 farm families in the most seriously affected areas in a dozen States was taken by the Interstate Commerce Commission. In a special order it notified railroads they could place in effect immediately reduced rates on live stock, feeds and water without observing the provisions of the transportation act.

President Hoover late in the day conferred at his Rapidan River lodge in Virginia with Secretary Hyde and James C. Stone, vice chairman of the Federal Farm Board, and was in constant touch with the White House by telephone.

Latest Reports Gone Over.

The Agriculture Secretary and Mr. Stone were called to the camp by Mr. Hoover for a discusion of latest developments. Mr. Hyde took with him latest reports on the situation from county agents in the drought regions, while Mr. Stone was prepared to give the President a first hand picture of conditions in Kentucky, southern Indiana and southern Ohio.

The two officials were expected to remain overnight either at the Hoover lodge or one nearby maintained by Cabinet officers.

The American Red Cross took cognizance of the long dry spell by sending a message to its 3,500 chapters to "stand by and be ready to act" on call from the Chief Executive. The message said continuance of the abnormally high temperatures might mean conditions of disaster proportions in a restricted area and authorized the chapter chairmen to act on their own initiative in supplying relief.

Governors Accept Invitation.

Meanwhile, messages of acceptance of President Hoover's invitation to a conference of governors of the drought-striken States here next Thursday began reaching the White House. Three of the twelve governors invited—Reed, Kansas; Parnell, Arkansas, and Cooper, Ohio—had replied during the day and the others were expected to follow over the week-end.

Chairman Legge, of the Farm Board, notified Washington from Caldwell, Idaho, that he was hurrying here by train and airplane to attend the White House conference.

In a statement before his departure for the Hoover camp, Secretary Hyde said the economic effects of the drought emphasized the benefits that might be attained by the organization of farmers to control crops. He added, however, he did not share the feeling "that this terrible drought is a blessing to American agriculture, either in disguise or in any guise."

"The devastation of whole groups of counties and of large areas of States, and the ruin of thousands of farmers," he said, "does not appeal to me as a desirable thing no matter what economic results it may have in clearing away the accumulated surpluses."

News of the Interstate Commerce Commission order was transmitted to Mr. Hoover soon after it was announced. The President was highly gratified. He had conferred with members of the commission earlier in the week, but it was stated at the White House that since the commission is an independent agency he had no authority to order the reduced rates.

The commission pointed out that some of the railroads had expressed a desire to put the lower rates in effect to relieve drought conditions, and that a "special case" exists demanding immediate measures of relief in many sections to avoid loss of live stock and to "prevent general suffering."

Authority Lasts to October 31.

The order also authorized the carriers to cut rates on other commodities if it were found necessary and extended the authority to October 31.

The usual relaxation at the Hoover lodge was conspicuously absent this week-end as the Chief Executive plunged into the details from which next week he expects to develop a functioning relief program in cooperation with the States and local agencies.

Long a moving spirit in national and international relief steps, the President himself plotted the developments upon maps he took with him from the White House. It was said the President expected to have a definite program ready for operation early next week for presentation to the governors' conference.

Camp Streams Low.

Poignant reminders of the widespread drought were plentiful about the Hoover retreat. Two small streams—Laurel and Mill Prongs—that in normal weather cascade beside the lodge to form the Rapidan River at his front doorstep were all but dry. Mrs. Hoover's garden was parched and dead. Only 7 miles away a detachment from the camp's Marine guard was summoned to bring under control a forest fire that fed avidly upon the dry timber.

J. D. Cremer, jr., assistant director of disaster relief for the Red Cross, said the organization's entire staff of field representatives already has been mobilized as a national drought information bureau and are sending daily reports to headquarters here.

"As you have been informed through the press," the message to the chapters read, "the Red Cross is in close touch with the President on the subject of the extraordinary situation which has arisen in many parts of the country as a result of the unprecedented drought. He asks that we stand by and be ready to act.

National Relief Need Seen.

"If the abnormal dry spell continues, a condition in a dozen or more States could possibly develop such as is contemplated by our congressional charter, which enjoins the Red Cross to carry on 'national and international relief in time of peace in mitigating the suffering caused by pestilence, famine, fire, floods and other national calamities.'

"A break in the drought may still afford relief by partially salvaging food crops and promoting late planting of quick-growing substitutes. If this could not eventuate, the Red Cross as the national relief agency will supplement local, State and Federal agencies, public and private, and the normal credit and financial facilities of banks, farm loan groups and similar agencies.

"As is always the case in Red Cross relief measures, the organization would supplement individual resources and borrowing power in tiding over individual families."

Great Damage in Kentucky.

Vice Chairman Stone of the Farm Board returned only Friday from Kentucky, where great damage has been done and where Gov. Sampson has asked the people to conserve food for both man and beast.

Mr. Stone, a farmer himself, said he was shipping 100 head of heavy cattle to market yesterday because no feed was available. Unless rain occurs within ten days he predicted only half a normal crop of burley tobacco in central Kentucky.

William F. Schilling, dairy member of the board, reported a sharp curtailment in the milk supply for New York State during the last week. Cows were not producing, he said, and the milk at 240 plants of the Dairyman's League was being sold and very little processed.

Weather Bureau officials held out little hope for rain in the next few days, but indicated a break might come next week.

DIVERS NEAR GOLDEN TREASURE ON WRECK

Among the sundries taken from the wreckage have been some bottled whisky and champagne. The sea water hadn't penetrated through the corks, except in an occasional instance.

Something new in diving equipment is being used. Instead of the old-fashioned diving suits, the men are employing an ingenious device patented by two Olympia divers, Carl and Albert Wiley, after years of experimenting, thanks to which the diver has a mechanical arm to do his work while he sits comfortably in a little barrel-like cage.

Imagine a barrel about four feet long, of strongest steel construction, then superimpose on one end of it a half-barrel with round glass windows on all sides and you have an approximate picture of the diving apparatus.

Telephones From Deep.

Attached to the outside walls of the barrel are three electric lights, which can project their beams 40 or 50 feet into the gloomy deep, where the light of day never penetrates. Inside, the diver has a reserve oxygen supply, to be used as required, which is seldom, for the air supply will last him the hour and a half he usually remains submerged at one time. The oxygen would permit him to remain under the surface five hours or more.

He also has a telephone headpiece clamped to his ear, and a mouthpiece hanging before him, so he can communicate with his fellow workers on the scow anchored above the sunken hull. Thus instructed, the men above can swing the contraption about on the sea bottom or in the hull's interior, as the diver directs.

The incessant wash of the tides, and the voracious teredo, the tiny marine bivalve that is the plague of ship and dock, have eaten away the decks so much that access to the interior is easy, but the steel sides, though rusted and incrusted with marine growth, still hold together, except when the ship's back was broken when it hit a reef in a storm early in the morning of August 15, 1900.

MARYLAND FIGHTS NEW FOREST BLAZE

MILK SUPPLY IS AMPLE

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Maryland temperatures rose again to above 100-degree levels today, the sixty-fourth heat victim was registered in Baltimore and a new forest fire broke out near Hagerstown, but the State took heart with the promise of showers and cooler weather by the middle of next week.

In Baltimore the mercury touched 102 and claimed the life of a nurse. In Frederick the temperature neared the 100-degree mark and at the Government Weather Station at Keedysville reported 102.

A forest fire on North Mountain, which started late Wednesday, near Camp Spring, 14 miles from Hagerstown, flamed into new fury and a force of 150 men was called out to fight it. The big fires on Dan's and Will's Mountains, near Cumberland, remained under control as fire wardens sought to estimate the damage done to more than 20,000 acres of timber lands.

The police of Frederick were put on the lookout for water bootleggers suspected of violating the conservation laws, as a pump was rigged to additional springs to replenish the fast diminishing supply in the reservoir.

Frederick, Brunswick, Emmitsburg, Newmarket and Thurmont in central western Maryland, where the shortage is most severe, faced a water famine. Emergency connections were made with the Monocacy and Potomac Rivers, with both reported to be at the lowest mark in 50 years.

Health officials said that despite greatly curtailed production due to burned pastures, there was no great danger of a milk shortage. They said local ice cream manufacturers are obtaining supplies from the West, and that several large dairies which ship to New York are curtailing those consignments to concentrate on Maryland consumption.

diocese of Baltimore and the Ministerial Union of Arlington County, Va., in calling prayers for rain.

Capital Churches to Pray.

By order of the Rev. John M. McNamara, auxiliary Bishop of Baltimore, all Catholic churches in Washington and Baltimore will say the following prayer today:

"Oh God, in whom we live, and move, and are, grant us seasonable rain; that we, enjoying a sufficiency of support in life, may with more confidence strive after the things which are eternal."

Bishop McNamara suggested that the prayer be followed by the recitation of "Our Father," "Hail Mary" and "Glory be to the Father."

Hundreds of church members in Winchester and Frederick County are expected to assemble in front of the courthouse tomorrow morning to beseech divine relief from the worst drought in more than 50 years.

Following a conference between Washington milk producers and distributers, it was announced that there would be no increase in the price of milk to local consumers unless drought conditions become more serious. In spite of reduced shipments from nearby Maryland, it was believed that supplies in storage would prove ample for several weeks.

District water officials also said that the local supply will prove sufficient for some time, although warnings have been issued against wasting water.

Autoist at Stop Light Robbed by Two Thugs

Robbers, who took advantage of a "stop light" at Michigan avenue and First street early yesterday morning to victimize Earl Green, of 4905 Kansas avenue, were being sought last night.

Green reported to police that two men jumped on the running board of his car when he halted for a stop light. Both had pistols. From Green they stole $32, some of the wages he had just drawn from a downtown printing company. Not satisfied with this, the thieves ordered Green to give them his shoes. After complying with this request, Green was dismissed. He drove home, put on another pair of shoes and hastened to the nearest precinct.

GREAT LAKES AREA MERCURY TUMBLES

SOUTHWEST IS RELIEVED

Chicago, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—High temperatures prevailed in a large portion of the heat-ridden United States today, but some sections experienced sudden relief when the mercury nosedived 10 to 15 degrees.

The temperature drop came early in the day at some points in the Great Lakes region. A 15-degree drop within two hours was reported this morning at Milwaukee, Wis., bringing the mercury down to 74. In Chicago it receded from 89 to 79 within 30 minutes shortly before noon.

States in the far Southwest also were soothed by cooler breezes and during the last 24 hours showers mitigated the extreme heat in portions of the middle Missouri valley, the Southwestern States, the Plateau, and southern Rocky Mountain regions and the Great Lakes region.

The heat wave retained its grasp on States bordering the Missouri River. Lincoln, capital of Nebraska, reported 98 at 2 p. m., but rejoiced in the promise of cooler weather tomorrow.

Kansas City sweltered when the thermometer stood at 102. St. Louis reported 101. It was 104 before noon at Independence, Kans. Mexico, Mo., reported 110; Jefferson City 107; Fulton, Mo., 108; Louisville, Ky., experienced 101 degrees and the mercury stood at 100 generally around the State of Kentucky.

Southern Illinois again was the scene of abnormal heat. Centralia reported 104 at 2 p. m.

The commissioners of elections, J. C. Hunter, A. J. Kidwell, Herbert Blunt and Samuel H. FIREMEN TO GATHER FROM TWO COUNTIES

WATER WARNING GIVEN

BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

More than 200 firemen, representing the five companies in Arlington County and five companies from Fairfax County, making up the Arlington-Fairfax Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association, will be at Fort Myers Heights tomorrow for the opeing of the fifth annual convention and jubilee of that organization. Finishing touches were being put on plans for entertaining the convention. The affair will continue the entire week.

General Chairman John R. Mossburg yesterday announced that more than 35 fire companies from nearby Maryland and Virginia will be on hand to make the afafir this year the greatest in the history of the organization.

The jubilee, which will be in the nature of an old-time carnival, opens tomorrow night on the grounds adjacent to the Woodrow Wilson School building at Fort Myer Heights.

The special features during the week will be the advertising parade Wednesday afternoon starting from the carnival grounds at 5 o'clock. Immediately following the parade the convention meeting will take place in the big tent on the grounds.

Saturday will be the big day, with Gov. John Garland Pollard as the honored guest. He will review the parade, which will start from the Jefferson District Firemen's Hall at Virginia Highlands promptly at 1:30 o'clock. The line of march will be over the leading highways in Arlington and Fairfax Counties, returning to the carnival gruonds, where the many prizes will be awarded. Floats of all kinds are to be entered in the parade. The parade will be headed by the Boys' Band, of Washington.

The committee promise many novel features, the principal one of which will be the woman's booth. It will be filled with useful articles for women only.

Among the many other features which are being provided will be the dancing each night on the spacious floor.

The committee in charge of arrangements are: John R. Mossburg, R. F. Koester, William D. Topley, G. Frank Allwine, J. Harry Clark, John A. Spates, Walter U. Varney, Richard Yardley, J. A. Dawkins, G. Frank Allwine, Robert Janson, George Harrison, George Robey, Grover E. Payne, Walter U. Varney Herbert F. Smith, R. E. Kendricks, J. A. Dawkins, Frank Vitale, Roy Beckwith, William D. Topley, A. B. Eaton, E. M. Ward, L. W. Strobel, R. E. Kendrick, J. R. Malloch, Julian E Tapp, F. R. Smith, G. Frank Allwine and A. C. Scheffel.

Owing to the absence of Mrs. Crandal Mackey, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Association, who is at the bedside of her son, Robert W. M. Mackey, who is confined in St. Agnes Hospital, at Baltimore, suffering from injuries received in an automobile accident, Mrs. Louis C. Carl will be acting chairman of the ladies' committee.

Declaring that the continued drought, which has spread over the country and has resulted in hundreds of wells going dry in Arlington County, County Health Officer P. M. Chichester calls upon all homeowners who are using well water to do so with care. The boiling of all well water would be advisable, he says.

Dr. Chichester, in commenting on the situation, stressed the point that while he did not wish to create a scare he wishes to avoid possible danger.

Attacking police officers, when making a raid upon his home at an early hour yesterday morning, cost Richard Savoy, colored, of East Arlington, six months in the county jail and a fine of $19.25, including costs, when he appeared before Police Judge Harry R. Thomas yesterday morning.

Directed by Sheriff Howard B. Fields to go to the home of Savoy, Deputy Sheriff Harry L. Woodyard and Officer Edward Duncan made the raid and were leaving the house, having found alleged liquor, when Savoy attacked Officer Duncan. Woodyard going to his aid. Savoy destroyed the evidence by breaking the bottles. Both Savoy and his wife, Ada, were taken to the county jail.

Both Savoy and his wife were held for the action of the grand jury, charged with breaking the evidence in prosecution of violation of the prohibition law. Bond for each was fixed at $500.

Charged with violation of a county ordinance in that he passed a red traffic light, Lloyd Brady was fined $14.25, including costs, by Judge Thomas yesterday.

County Treasurer E. Wade Ball has received a check from the State treasurer in the sum of $72,219.62, which represents Arlington County's share of the gasoline tax for the month of July.

After a most successful session of summer school, covering a period of eight weeks, classes will be concluded Friday of this week, according to an announcement made from the office of County School Superintendent Fletcher Kemp yesterday.

Leesburg, in Loudoun County, also has been made a separate district, with M. T. Moore as manager. James DeZerga has been made business manager of both districts.

Survivor of Confederate Rifle Regiment, 86, Dies

Jesse Murray, 86 years old, the last but one of the Alexandrians who marched away from this city May 24, 1861, to join the Confederate forces, died yesterday in the Alexandria Hospital. He was stricken with paralysis Thursday at his home at Mount Vernon, where for many years he had been a guard, but had been retired several years ago on account of the infirmities incident to his advanced age.

Mr. Murray was a member of Company A of the Seventeenth Virginia Regiment of Infantry, in the Confederate forces, known as the Alexandria Rifles, and fought throughout the war between the States. He returned to Alexandria at the conclusion of the war, and became one of the 229 members of R. E. Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans, of whom there are seven now surviving. At the time of his death he was lieutenant commander of the camp. The sole survivor now of the 500 or 700 Alexandrians who fought with the Confederate forces is Edgar Warfield, a member of Company H, Seventeenth Virginia Regiment, known as the Old Dominion Rifles. Mr. Warfield is State commander of the Confederate Veterans and adjutant of R. E. Lee Camp. The seven surviving members of Lee Camp are, in addition to Mr. Warfield, E. C. Graham, commander; Gen. W. L. Wilkerson, of Washington; A. L. McAlister, of Washington; James H. Wiley, of Fairfax Courthouse; R. W. Lawson, of Burkes Garden, Va., and J. S. B. Parker, of Alexandria.

Mr. Murray is survived by one daughter. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Automobile experience, while desirable, is not essential as the important qualification for this connection is a thorough knowledge of the business principles of salesmanship and the ambition to apply it intelligently and energetically. The opportunity is offered on what will prove a very satisfactory basis.

Application will be regarded in the strictest confidence and this advertisement is known to the eight successful men of our selling division.

DAVIS MONOPLANE

Built to take two people wherever they want to go—with the speed, the comfort and the safety heretofore found only in larger and more powerful airplanes—and at far less cost. The Davis is a 1930 airplane appealing to the 1930 buyer who is selecting his airplane, not on the basis of time-worn tradition, but on the basis of utility and dollar-for-dollar value.

Just as excess size and weight in automobiles disappeared when motor cars emerged from the luxury into the necessity class, so it is with airplanes. The performance of the Davis Monoplane is proof that an airplane no longer has to be big to perform brilliantly, safely and reliably.

The sturdy construction of the Davis Monoplanes is assurance of low maintenance cost and trouble-free service under severe usage. Its advanced design makes it unusually economical in operation, while considering its moderate first cost it is indeed—

AUTO RACES BILLED FOR ROCKVILLE FAIR

THREE WELLS DRILLED

Arrangements have been made by Clarence L. Gilpin, of Olney, Md., president of the Rockville Fair Association, for an afternoon of auto racing to complete the fair program.

The races will be held Saturday, August 23, at the fair grounds. All concessions and majority of the fair exhibitions will remain over for the races.

All races will be run under the rules and sanction of the American Motor Racing Association, of which Maj. Anthony D. Biddle, of Philadelphia, is the official referee and starter.

Fifteen entries already have been listed for the first event.

Preparations have been made by the fair officials to combat the drought at the fair grounds, for the duration of the fair. Three artesian wells have been drilled on the grounds and grass and gravel walks will be kept under a constant spray for a few days before the opening of the fair. During the fair, the grounds will be kept thoroughly watered and treated with an anti-dust preparation.

According to custom, the opening day of the fair, August 19, will be devoted to the children of the State and District of Columbia. All youngsters under 14 years will be admitted to the grounds as guests. A special program of attractions has been arranged for their benefit.

The main event of the day, however, for the children will be the pony show in the morning and afternoon and the pony races. W. J. De Moss, of Giddings, Md., has been named as chairman of the pony judges. Mr. De Moss is acknowledged as one of the leading pony judges in the country.

Virginia May Call Session on Relief

Reports on Drought Losses Spur Proposal to Have Assembly Meet.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 9 (A.P.).—A special session of the Virginia General Assembly to enact emergency farm relief measures was considered by State officials today as not improbable in view of additional reports of losses suffered by farmers from the worst drought experienced in this State in many years.

James A. Bear, member of the House of Delegates from Roanoke, has asked Gov. John Garland Pollard to call a special session to enact tax relief bills. Mr. Bear contended in his letter that it is vitally important that penalties be lifted from delinquent taxes this year due to the acute distress of the farm population. He estimated that about 50 per cent of the rural taxpayers are unable to meet their tax bills on time.

Officials stated that decision as to a special session will be reserved until further facts are obtained and until after President Hoover's conference of governors, which Gov. Pollard will attend next Thursday. It was indicated by reports today that a total loss or near total loss will be suffered in the case of several major crops. A survey conducted by the Richmond Times-Dispatch indicates that the tobacco crop faces a decrease of approximately 40 per cent in the anticipated yield.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

MUCH is being made over the story that after the stage had been set for Senator Fess to be just a provisional chairman of the Republican national committee, he insisted he should then and there be declared the unqualified chairman, and that furthermore he should be named chairman of the executive committee, necessitating the creation of a new title for Mr. Robert H. Lucas.

Somehow one can not exactly visualize the little senator, as he is being called, laying down the law to the Republican leaders and insisting that the program be altered. In the first place, there was no question about his provisional appointment subsequently being ratified.

It all seems to be nothing more than a technicality and the aggressiveness attributed to the Ohio senator a little short of bunk.

• • • •

WHETHER the senator was named provisional chairman or permanent chairman or imperial chairman, the power in the national committee has not changed. Messrs. Walter Brown and J. R. Nutt are on top. Whether they rate in the order named or whether it should be reversed is open to argument, but the two of them working together are fairly well running things.

Of course, it may be that Mr. Lucas would have much rather had the title of chairman of the executive committee than that of director, which had to be dug up for him.

Titles mean a lot in Washington and involved here would seem to be the question of where he sits at the table.

Mr. Jouett Shouse is chairman of the Democratic executive committee. Mr. Lucas is director of that with which he is associated.

• • • •

NOW, at state dinners, should the chairman of the Democratic executive committee be seated ahead of the director of the Republican executive committee?

The words "chairman" and "director" ordinarily have the same force except in the case of corporations the chairman of the board is, of course, bigger than a director. But Mr. Lucas is the director, not a director.

What will detract from Mr. Lucas' rank, however, when the functionaries begin to study the question, is the statement of Senator Fess, made probably without deliberation as to its possible effect, but in an effort to offset the figurehead edness that had been attributed to him. The senator said: "Mr. Lucas will handle the details," or something to that effect.

Mr. Shouse does not seem to be the Democrats' detail man. He seems to be the whole works.

• • • •

BUT in seating the two gentlemen one should bear in mind, of course, that Mr. Lucas is the director of an established concern, Mr. Shouse the chairman of a promising organization, but one that is not yet in.

The rule might be "A bird in hand is worth two in the bush," or something like that.

And be sure you give the head place to Messrs. Brown and Nutt. Until they can be better defined, place them together on a bench.

NORRIS TO FACE BITTER FIGHT AT NEBRASKA POLLS TUESDAY

year because it is believed his election in November would be assured.

On the other hand, should he lose, the chances of former Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock returning to the Senate as a Democrat, would be excellent. Hitchcock is being opposed for the Democratic nomination, however, by Dr. Jennie Callfas, whose appeal is to the W. C. T. U. She bolted from Smith to Hoover in 1928 just as Norris bolted the other way.

The Methodist preachers of the State seem to have split over Norris' candidacy.

There is considerable interest in the outcome of the Democratic primary in Ohio, also on Tuesday. The Democrats are counting strongly on an overturn in that State in November so their primary results have more than usual importance.

Five Senate Aspirants.

Chief interest attaches to the senatorial race in which there are five candidates. The race is believed to rest, however, among W. W. Durbin, an old party wheelhorse, who has party workers in every county in the State; former Representative John McSweeney, a young legionnaire, and former Representative Robert J. Bulkley, of Cleveland.

Mr. Bulkley is running as an out and out wet and has the support of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. Messrs. Durbin and McSweeney are insisting that prohibition has no part in the campaign, that economic issues should determine.

Observers are of the opinion that should the normal wet vote be cast Mr. Bulkley should win, in which event there would be a clear cut wet and dry issue in November against the Republican incumbent, Senator McCulloch, who has no opposition in the primary.

Democrats After Longworth.

George White, former Democratic national chairman, is conceded the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, and Gov. Cooper is unopposed on the Republican side.

In the congressional races, three Republican incumbents, Representatives Chalmers, Thompson and Speaks, are reported to be having a hot time of it. Speaker Longworth in Cincinnati, has no primary opposition, but the Democrats intend to make a strong bid for his scalp in November.

Down in old Alabama, the Democrats are to decide who shall have the honor of burying the tempestuous Senator Tom Heflin in November. Senator Heflin is not in the Democratic primary, but is to run as an independent in November.

The Democrats are to determine whether John T. Bankhead, son of the former senator and brother of Representative William B. Bankhead, or W. B. Thompson, Mobile publisher, will run against him.

The odds seem to favor Mr Bankhead because Senator Heflin is urging the Hoovercrats or Jeffersonian Democrats as he calls them, to remain out of the primary. They would afford Mr. Thompson his greatest strength. By the same token he would probably make a stronger candidate against Senator Heflin in November. He supported Gov Smith in 1928, but not with the vigor of Mr. Bankhead and for that reason is not as offensive now to the bolters.

However, in disposing of a man like Senator Heflin, there seems to be more satisfaction in doing it with his direct opposite than with a man having some of his characteristics.

In Arkansas, Senator Joe T. Robinson, Democratic leader, and vice presidential candidate in 1928, is facing the first opposition of his career in one Tom J. Campbell, Little Rock attorney. Opinion is, however, that he has safely weathered any trouble that Mr. Campbell might have made.

ALLEGED TRIGGER MAN IN KILLING TRAPPED

it known that he has cancelled speaking engagements in his campaign for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, and will devote his entire time to the grand jury investigation of the Buckley case and of crime in general which is to begin early next week.

Announcement of the grand jury plans came shortly after a second suspect, Ted Pezzoni, was arrested in New York and charged with being one of the men who killed Buckley as he sat in the lobby of the LaSalle Hotel two hours after he had announced the success of the recall movement against Mayor Charles Bowles, whose administration he had criticized.

Signing of an order for the assembling of a 23-man grand jury was delayed by the Wayne circuit court today in order, Brucker said, for a continuance on Monday of conferences on procedure between himself and local officials.

The grand jury, to be selected from a panel of 150 names, is expected to be ready to begin its sessions Tuesday. The jurors will represent "the highest caliber of citizenship the commissioners can pick," Clarence B. Shaw, secretary of the jury commission, declared. County Prosecutor James E. Chenot attended the conferences with the attorney general today.

Brucker would not comment on rumors that he intended to appoint William Henry Gallagher, Detroit attorney, to handle the case.

Grand juries are assembled in Michigan State courts only upon rare occasions when the usual procedure of handling investigations through police, prosecutor and examining courts appears to have failed to serve the cause of justice.

The arrest of Pezzoni today marked the capture of the second of five men Police Commissioner Thomas C. Wilcox has named as being sought in the Buckley killing. Angelo Levecchi, alleged to have pointed Buckley out to the killers, is in jail, held without bond. The others sought are Mike Morgany, Frank Cammarata and Thomas (Yonny) Licavoli, all gangsters.

Leap Saves Couple, 60, When Train Hits Auto

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 9 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Leaping from their automobile just before it was struck by a Pennsylvania Railroad express train, a 60-year-old Millville couple escaped death late today at a grade crossing in Absecon, less than a mile from that at which Mayor Anthony M. Ruffu, jr., and three members of his family were killed last June 23.

The couple was Peter Pereere and his wife, Hannah, who were en route to Atlantic City to spend the week-end with friends. Pereere told State troopers investigating the crash that he did not see the train until it was within 200 feet of him. The car was completely demolished.

PRESENT COUNCIL'S LAST MEETING SET

Alexandria Group to Meet September 1 to Take in New Members.

TO ELECT MAYOR ALSO

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The city council as at present constituted will hold its last meeting at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, when action will be taken on a resolution introduced at the special meeting of Thursday and held over under the rules, authorizing the making of a temporary loan of $100,000 for general expenses, in anticipation of the collection of taxes in October. At this time action will also be taken on a resolution to appropriate $1,000 to be offered the Sun Lumber Co. for a right of way over its property for the Mount Vernon boulevard. The land in question is at the extreme southern end of South Washington street, south of St. Mary's Catholic Cemetery, and the city has agreed to furnish this right of way to the Government in connection with the construction of the boulevard.

The council will reconvene at noon, September 1, when the newly elected members will take the oath and assume their duties. The council will then reorganize and elect a mayor and vice mayor and the clerk of the council.

The new members of the council are Arthur Herbert and Clyde C. Lamond, who will succeed Mayor Robert S. Jones and Councilman J. E. W. Timberman. Edmund F. Ticer, whose term would have expired August 31, was reelected. Neither Mayor Jones nor Councilman Timberman were candidates for reelection.

It is generally understood that Councilman Carroll Pierce will be elected mayor, or chairman of the council. Mr. Pierce, who is president of the Citizens National Bank, was elected by the council to succeed Mayor William Albert Smoot, and his term will expire September 1, 1932. Since his election he has taken an active part in all the deliberations of council, and is considered the logical presiding officer.

The Retail Merchants Association will inaugurate a new feature this week, having designated Wednesday, Thursday and Friday as "community days," when the members of the association will put on special sales, offering unusual values specially priced to the people of Alexandria and vicinity. A majority of the members of the association have already signified their intention of participating in this feature sale.

Alexandria Lodge, No. 758, B. P. O. Elks, will hold a meeting tomorrow night to name ten delegates to represent the lodge at the annual meeting of the Virginia State Elks Association, to be held at Hampton on August 18 and 19. Exalted Ruler James Reece Duncan will preside at this meeting.

Robert E. Lee Camp, Sons of Confederate Veterans, will hold a meeting tomorrow night at Lee Camp Hall to elect delegates and alternates to attend the reunion of the Grand Camp, Sons of Confederate Veterans, to be held in Orange, Va., in September.

The second deed for the sale of one of the old houses in the 100 block Prince street, which is being purchased and restored principally by Washington people, was placed on record in the clerk's office yesterday. It was for No. 109 and is from Thomas F. Dodd and others to Raymond Lee and wife.

The body of Capt. Louis N. Duffey, who died on Saturday, August 2, in a hospital in Tucson, Ariz., will arrive in this city this morning and be taken to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Duffey, 203 South Fairfax street, where the funeral will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery, with military honors. Pallbearers will be selected from the members of his former company who served with him in France.

A called communication of Alexandria-Washington Lodge of Masons will be held at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon, to attend the funeral of Capt. Duffey, who was a member of that lodge.

Alexandria Post No. 24, American Legion, of which he was a charter member, will be represented at the funeral.

Mrs. Catherine Louise Hall, aged 73 years, wife of Thomas A. Hall, died yesterday at her home, 1457 Duke street. The funeral will be held at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from Cunningham's Funeral Home, 809 Cameron street. Burial will be held in Bethel Cemetery.

The managers of the Alexandria Day Nursery, located at 316 Prince street, has issued an appeal for help in the way of clothing and provision for the eighteen children cared for in the home.

SPEAKER ATTACKS CHURCH DRY LOBBY

Institute of Public Affairs Hears Editor Speculate on Jefferson's Views.

FOREIGN POLICIES TOPICS

Charlottesville, Va., Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Dr. Walter A. Maier, editor of the Walther League Messenger, speaking to the Virginia Institute of Public Affairs tonight, said if Jefferson were living he would insist that the prohibition amendment should not be assailed or championed by any church or denominational group.

"There are too many crusading pastors who are political imposters," said Dr. Maier; "too many scriptual texts are mere partisan pretexts; too many militant clergymen are really virulent policemen."

Here at this institution, founded by Thomas Jefferson himself, the editor discussed "The Jeffersonian Ideals of Religious Liberty," and Jefferson the American, the author of the Declaration of Independence, and author of the statute of religious freedom. If Jefferson were living today, he said, he would "first of all establish the fact that the constitutional amendment for prohibition is in every sense of the term, as we have it, part and parcel of our civil legislation."

Interference Is Deplored.

"As such," Dr. Maier continued, "it should be assailed or championed just as little as any tariff provision, traffic ordinance, narcotic measure, or game regulation should be accorded, ecclesiastical approval or disapproval.

"Jefferson would add: 'While it is the duty of the churches to emphasize to ttheir followers the virtues of temperance and the vice of drunkenness, yet such indoctrination under no circumstances is to assume a definite political coloring, or to express itself in the maintenance of intimidation campaigns or legislative lobbies, or similar modified forms of force.'

"It's would tell us, in short, that while every citizen is intrusted with the privilege and the responsibility of exercising the sovereign function of his ballot, either for or against the repeal and modification of the amendment, denominational bodies, as spiritual organizations, have no call or privilege to enter into legislative agitations, whatever their tendencies may be."

Says Jefferson Was Churchman.

Dr. Maier eradicated the picture of Jefferson as an atheist, or skeptic or agnostic, saying his religion was a matter of personal conviction, a sacred concorda existing between the individual and his Maker.

He recalled that Jefferson was a pledged vestryman in the established church here at Charlottesville, and said Jefferson's emancipation of the church from the dominion of the state is one of the "foundation stones of national happiness and American prosperity."

But, he said, "it is the tragedy of modern American church life that it has too frequently permitted its purely spiritual functions to be obliterated by patent bids for notoriety in political, quasiscientific and industrial subjects."

Pan-American Relations Topic.

Last night Dr. Charles L. Betchelder, of New York, defended American intervention in Nicaragua as an outgrowth of the trend toward internationalism, as opposed to nationalism; and J. Fred Rippy, professor of history at Duke University, told of the growth of trade between the United States and Colombia, with the passing of resentment over American action toward acquiring the Panama Canal Zone.

Today the difficulties in private prospecting for oil in Colombia due to confusing legislation were explained to the round table on Latin-American relations by R. B. Gaither, counsel for South American oil companies.

Rights of women were debated last night by Mrs. Bernita Shelton Matthews, of the National Woman's Party, and Miss Selma Borchard, representing the League of Women Voters, Women's Trade Union and other organizations.

DISTRICT SUPREME COURT PLANS CLEAR TRACK FOR CRIME CASES of law cases on which the court began work last October contained not a single case filed during 1929.

Oddly it was toward the law section of the court that the subcommittee of the House District Committee directed most of its criticism during the famous questioning of the justices as to the length of time they spent on the bench each day. Criticism was that due to the fact that the judges were not functioning properly many attorneys were suing for less money in order to be able to bring their cases within the scope of the Municipal Court, which, incidentally, was credited with being the most efficient of the District courts.

Last year the court started operating with three criminal, two equity and two law courts. There were only seven justices then, and in December Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy resigned and at about the same time Justice Wendell P. Stafford became ill.

Chief Justice McCoy was assigned to criminal work, while Justice Stafford was on equity cases. Their absences resulted in considerable congestion, but due to the fact that one of the new justices—Jesse C. Adkins—handled a number of criminal cases during July, the criminal courts will open the fall term in comparatively good shape unless an unforeseen number of indictments is returned—an eventuality that is scarcely being considered.

Since the appointment of Justice Adkins to succeed Justice Wheat, who was elevated to the chief justiceship, and the vacancy caused by the resignation of Chief Justice McCoy, and the creation and the appointment of two new judges, an unusual number of suits, that is for summer, have been filed. In fact many of the cases now being filed in the Supreme Court are those which formerly were booked in Municipal Court.

Many of the plans for the future of the court depend on the recovery of Justice Stafford, and until October nothing definite can be learned about the assignments of justices except that the three of them will devote their time to criminal cases.

Forest in Blaze Near Hoover Camp

Marines From President's Retreat Fight Fire 7 Miles Away.

Seven miles from President Hoover's camp on the Rapidan River in Virginia, a raging forest fire yesterday afternoon brought out the detachment of Marines there to aid volunteer fire-fighters who were waging a stubborn fight to check its progress.

The blaze, swept by a brisk wind, continued to spread last night, but the presidential retreat was not considered in any immediate danger, although smoke was clearly visible from the observation tower there.

The fire, breaking out in Page County Friday night, had gained rapid headway before the Marines were called into action. Many of those battling the flames were forced to retire from the area because of the intense heat and the lack of water in the drought-stricken section.

HYATTSVILLE FORCE WINS FIREMEN CUP

Post's Prize for Proficiency by Rescue Squad Goes to Bladensburg.

BLAZE HALTS EVENTS

Breaking the Prince Georges County record for a running hookup by "showing water" in the fast time of 38 seconds flat, the Hyattsville, Md., volunteer firemen yesterday won the third and last leg of The Washington Post's hookup cup at the annual convention of the County Volunteer Firemen's Association at Laurel.

Headed by Chief Noble Rushe, the winning team included Lieut. Ernest Davis, Lloyd Anderson, James Smith, Alfred Deggs, Harry Wilcoxen and Clifford Proctor. The Mount Rainier team lost the race by 3 seconds, its time being 41 seconds.

The cup offered by The Washington Post to the county rescue squad unit most proficient in resuscitation and artificial respiration was won by the Bladensburg group headed by Capt. A. F. Gasch and including L. Haynes, G. E. Potter, T. D. Potter, H. M. Potter and D. B. Wiseman. A cup offered for first-aid proficiency by the Washington Star was won by the Mount Rainier rescue squad unit.

The convention was temporarily interrupted when the Laurel volunteers, hosts to the county firemen, were called to extinguish a grass fire in a field adjoining the residence of Dr. Guy C. Wizoski, but Capt. Frank Owens and his Laurel crew extinguished the blaze within ten minutes, after it had spread over an area of about an acre.

Twenty companies of volunteer firemen had their apparatus in the parade, which spread its line of march circuitously about the Town of Laurel. The Mount Rainier company, with three pieces of apparatus in the line, was awarded first prize for the entry presenting the best appearance.

Candidates to succeed the 1929 officers were nominated at a business session held in the parish hall of St. Philip's Church during the afternoon, and the election was held in the hall at night, when other business also was attended to. A chicken dinner was served to the volunteers and spectators by the women's auxiliary.

Carl A. Young was elected president and George Wiseman was elected vice president, with T. W. Zenemann as secretary and V. A. Simmel as treasurer. Marlboro was selected for the next meeting.

The association voted to invite Gov. Albert C. Ritchie to lead the Maryland delegation in the Labor Day parade to be held in Washington.

Mrs. Annie Burnette, of Branchville, was elected as the first president of the newly organized women's auxiliary, while other officers named included Mrs. Genevieve Stewart, of Riverdale Heights, vice president; Mrs. Irene Connors, of Capitol Heights, treasurer, and Mrs. Anna Seymore, of Mount Rainier, secretary. The women also won first prize for the most attractive float in the parade.

The mayor and town council of Laurel have full legal authority to assess property owners for repairs or replacement of sidewalks, as provided in a section of the Maryland State Code adopted in 1927, it was decided by Judge Joseph C. Mattingly yesterday in dismissing a suit brought by Miss Alice Hopkins in Circuit Court at Marlboro, Md.

Miss Hopkins, who lives on West Montgomery avenue, in Laurel, had sought to enjoin the mayor and council, and the mayor and town clerk and president of the council personally, from enforcing an assessment levied against her for a sidewalk constructed under orders of the town council in front of her residence.

Her bill asked that the assessment against her be declared void, and that the act of the State assembly adopted in 1927 also be declared void. The town authorities had removed an old brick sidewalk from in front of Miss Hopkins' property and replaced it with a cement walk.

In his opinion Judge Mattingly held that "the complainant is rather clear in her statement that she preferred the old brick sidewalk, which had seen many years of service and which she considered good enough for her purposes. But it has been several times decided that the question whether a sidewalk needs repair or repaving is not a matter for the individual owner but for the authorities of the town, who, by virtue of their position, are charged with the duty not only of subserving the interests of the entire municipal corporation as far as they may affect the comfort of the citizens, but also to preserve the coffers of the municipality from inroads that may be made by collection of damages resulting from defective streets and sidewalks."

Modifying its recent order prohibiting the watering of lawns and gardens, the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission yesterday moved to save flowers and shrubbery in Prince Georges County by issuing an order permitting sprinkling with pails or cans, but continuing the restriction against the use of hose or pipes.

The commission is getting 2,500,000 gallons of water daily from the District supply, and 1,000,000 from its own Burnt Mills reservoir. This is considered ample to supply household needs, but insufficient for sprinkling with hose.

Sprinkling with cans or pails may be done in Prince Georges County in the section west of the Baltimore Washington boulevard, including Mount Rainier, Brentwood, Cottage City, and portions of Hyattsville, Riverdale and other towns west of the pike, on Sundays, Tuesdays and Fridays, between 9 and 9:30 o'clock in the evening.

In the sections east of the pike, including Colmar Manor, Bladensburg, Cheverly, Seat Pleasant, Maryland Park, Riverdale and Berwyn, such sprinkling is permitted between 9 and 9:30 o'clock in the evening on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays.

The water thus used must be taken from house connections, faucets or other water connections in residences or outbuildings, without any use of hose, pipes or other similar water carriers.

Ignorance of Speed Law Frees Woman Motorist

Pleading that she was from Boston, Mass., and that she did not know the speed limit in Washington's residential district, Mrs. Ruth H. McKenzie, of Connecticut avenue northwest near Cathedral avenue, escaped without a fine yesterday when arraigned before Judge John P. McMahon in Traffic Court on a speeding charge.

Mrs. McKenzie was arrested Friday by Policeman R. L. Hammond, of the Fourteenth Precinct. In court yesterday she declared that in Boston motorists traveled at a 40-mile-an-hour clip in residential sections and that she did not know she was violating the law when she exceeded a 22-mile gait.

MONTICELLO VISITED BY EXPLORER BYRD

Admiral Second Man Given "Thomas Jefferson Guest" Title.

ALDERMAN IS SPEAKER

Charlottesville, Va., Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Richard Evelyn Byrd, conquerer of the ends of the earth, was linked with the great Virginians of the past and agin officially placed beside great Americans of the present, when he was welcomed this afternoon to Monticello as "Thomas Jefferson guest."

On the lawn of the stately Jefferson mansion, the explorer was hailed as the Nation's hero by President Edwin A. Alderman, of the University of Virginia, representing the Old Dominion; Gov. O. Max Gardner, of North Carolina, representing the South; Harold G. Campbell, superintendent of the New York City high schools; and Joseph Miller, jr., of New York, of the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation; Stuart Gibboney, president of the Jefferson Foundation, presided.

Dick Byrd was the second Thomas Jefferson guest, Thomas A. Edison, the first.

The exercises today took place under a torrid sky, the high temperatures provoking from Admiral Byrd a contrast with that of the polar regions.

Gov. Gardner Speaks.

Dr. Alderman was the first to address the admiral, following his brief remarks, Gov. Gardner delivered an eloquent welcome to Virginia's distinguished son, enlivening the occasion with an informal nomination of Harry Byrd, the explorer's brother, for the Presidency of the United States. Dick Byrd and Mr. Campbell seconded the nomination.

As a memento of the occasion, Mr. Gibboney presented Admiral Byrd with a canceled Monticello band, recently paid and canceled in Byrd's honor.

Admiral Byrd, in replying to the welcomes, gave an interesting story of life in Antarctica. He told the nearly 1,000 persons who braved the temperature of 104 degrees that this afternoon's record was 190 degrees hotter than the extreme of cold in the Antarctic.

Superintendent Campbell told of the movement, seven years ago, to save Monticello, resulting recently in the payment of the last of three hundred $1,000 bonds, money from which was used in the Monticello restoration.

All Bonds Now Paid.

"In the presence of our national hero, Admiral Byrd," he said, "I am happy to take this occasion to announce that last week we paid the final sum due on these bonds. This purchase money mortgage and every dollar of interest has been paid in full. Monticello is safe. The Nation may well rejoice. This hallowed place belongs forever to the people."

The school children of the United States and its possessions carried a large share of the burden of funding the bonds, he stated.

Joseph Miller, jr., of New York, chairman of the national educational committee of the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation, announced that the national contest among children for the scroll of honor to be presented to Admiral Byrd would be renewed in September and that the closing date would be extended to January 15, 1931.

"Every school child in America," he said, "should be given opportunity to express by way of picture, book, drawing or in any manner he or she may choose, a record of the honor that this day has been bestowed upon Admiral Byrd."

Wounded Laborer Is Expected to Die

Special to The Washington Post.

Leesburg, Va., Aug. 9.—The condition of Edward Cogle, 42 years of age, who is in the Loudoun Hospital here with a gunshot wound in the back, alleged to have been inflicted by Henry C. Wood, 40 years of age, remains critical. Little hope is held for his recovery. Both men are day laborers, living near Harpers Ferry, W. Va.

According to Sheriff E. S. Adrian, of Loudoun County, Wood's wife was criminally assaulted by Cogle Thursday. When she reached home her husband was away and did not return until Friday morning, when he swore out a warrant for Cogle's arrest. Wood found Cogle at a country store not very far from his home and fired upon him, according to the sheriff, the shot entering his back and penetrating the lungs.

Wood was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Lenox McKimmey and Justice of Peace C. Irving McKimmey and lodged in the Leesburg Jail.

Two Hancock Men Held On Prohibition Charges

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Wilbur Bishop and Roy Lynch, of Hancock, Md., were arrested here last night by State, city and county officials as they drove their automobile to a prviate garage here to unload 42 gallons of alleged liquor. Both men are in jail awaiting trial.

Police said they were piloted to the garage by Mr. and Mrs. William Foreman, this city, in the Foreman car, the Hancock car driving straight into a garage where the door had been opened. Officers were waiting and arrested the men before the motor was shut off. The Foremans were taken to headquarters but no charges placed against them.

FIDAC CONVENTION HERE SEPTEMBER 18

Leading Allied Figures in World War Coming to Washington.

PROGRAM IS ELABORATE

Representatives of nearly 10,000,000 former service men of this country and nine nations allied with the United States in the World War will meet here September 18 for the eleventh annual congress of Fidac, the Federation Interalliee des Anciens Combattants.

The four-day convention will bring here some of the leading military and political figures of Europe, statesmen, members of the nobility and the parliaments of France, Belgium, Poland, Roumania and Czechoslovakia.

The American Legion, a constituent member of Fidac, is the host to the convention and expenses are being defrayed by the Government, Congress having appropriated $25,000 for this purpose.

A committee on arrangements headed by Maj. Julius I. Peyser, vice president of Fidac and prominent in legion work, is drawing up an elaborate program for the delegates. A Fidac entertainment committee headed by Edward L. White, of New Haven, and Col. Lemuel Bolles, of New York, prominent legionnaires, are arranging numerous social functions for the visitors, both here, in New York, and in other cities. After the close of the convention the delegates will visit Annapolis, the legion headquarters in Indianapolis, Culver Military Academy, West Point and other places of interest.

The headquarters of the Washington Fidac committee is at the Carlton Hotel, where the sessions will be held. At the same time the Fidac Auxiliary, of which Princess Cantacuzene, is president, will hold its sixth annual congress here.

Organized shortly after the World War in the interests of peace, Fidac has become a powerful influence, especially in Europe, in bringing about a better understanding among nations. Numbering among its members many of the most prominent political figures of the Old World it has been successful in numerous cases in alleviating friction which has arisen over postwar problems.

Fidac arranged the reception to the American Legion delegates to the Paris convention in 1927. The organization, through the medium of exchange scholarships and literature, has striven to promote friendly understanding among the former service of the ten nations in the federation. These nations are Great Britain, France, Italy, Jugoslavia, Portugal, Czechoslovakia, Roumania, Belgium, Poland and the United States. The congress is held in a different country each year. Each nation is represented by a vice president, Maj. Peyser being the American representative. The president of Fidac is Lieut. Col. Fred W. Abbot, of Great Britain.

Each country sends ten official delegates to the annual conclave. Those representing the United States this year are Paul V. McNutt, Edward L. White, Col. Lemuel Bolles, Gen. L. R. Gignilliat, Ben S. Fisher, Representative Lamar Jeffers, Tom A. Lee, John A. Wicker, jr., Paul J. McGahan, Sam W. Reynolds and Maj. Peyser.

Among the prominent delegates from abroad are Baron Roger-Marie d'Avigneau, France; Gen. Raoul Pontus, Belgium; Comte Charles de Hemricourt de Grunne, Belgium; Col. John Brown, C. S. E., D. S. C., Great Britain; O. N. Com. Nicila Sansanelli, Italy; Conte De Chanas, Italy; Maj. Ian Ludyga-Laskowski, Poland, and Dr. Virgil Ser- u, Roumania.

3 Engineers Assigned To Panama Canal Zone

(Associated Press).

Three assistants to Army district engineers were ordered yesterday to the Panama Canal Zone for duty. They were Capt. S. H. Griffin, of Kentucky, in the Gulf division of the district engineer's office at New Orleans; Capt. William E. Harris, of Montpelier, Ind., now at Norfolk, Va., and Capt. Lewis C. Gordon, of Virginia, assistant to the district engineer at Memphis.

Special orders of the department yesterday assigned three officers to duty in connection with the reserve officers' training corps.

Floods in Nicaragua Halt U. S. Engineers

(Associated Press).

Floods sweeping through the east coast lowlands in Nicaragua have partially halted the tracing of the canal line there by United States Army engineers.

The War Department yesterday published a report from an engineering party working in the coastal swamps of the lower San Juan River, between the Rio Negro and the Rio San Juanille, that they had been forced to move when three days of heavy rains brought water above the level of their camp site.

Since the flood, the report said, the engineers had found it impracticable to continue work, since what appeared to be dry land was covered by six or eight feet of water.

NANKING DISCLAIMS RED PILLAGE ONUS

UNREST IN CITY GROWS

Shanghai, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—While bandit Communist armies are marching toward several Yangtze Valley cities in which foreigners are congregated, Foreign Minister C. T. Wang announced tonight the government disclaimed responsibility for Red depredations upon foreigners in the recent sacking of Changsha.

Discussing the Changsha attack, which resulted in large loss of foreign property, Mr. Wang said:

"No government can be held responsible for mob violence against foreigners or their property within its domains. It is possible the Changsha affair will fall in this category, in which event the Nationalist government will not feel obligated to indemnify losers."

He said, however, if Nationalist troops were proved to have joined with Communists in despoiling the captured city, the government would be responsible.

British Send Cruiser.

Meanwhile, disregarding the government's assurance it would protect foreigners in Hankow, threatened by nearby Red armies, the British dispatched the 10,000-ton cruiser Berwick to join the dozen other foreign war vessels there.

Lying in the Yangtze River off Hankow and its neighboring cities, Wuchang and Hanyang, these vessels are prepared to land bluejackets and marines if necessary.

Mutiny in Nationalist garrison ranks, although suppressed, lessened foreign confidence in Nationalist ability to defend Hankow if the Reds attack vigorously.

Nanchang and Kiukiang in Kiangsi province also are menaced by approaching Communists. Foreign warships anchored off Kiukiang pointed their guns shoreward to protect the few foreigners who had not fled to safer places.

Uneasiness in Hankow.

(Associated Press.)

The existence of "much uneasiness" in the city of Hankow was reported to the State Department yesterday by American officials sources in China.

The messages said the concern was growing, despite augmentation of the local garrison, arrival of 150 Japanese marines and the preparations of 130 British soldiers and additional Japanese troops to depart from Shanghai for Hankow.

Pitcher Jailed While Fans Plead at Bad Check Trial

Hagerstown, Md., Sees Its Chances for League Pennant Droop When Judge Refuses to Make Exception of Convicted Ball Player.

A new version of "Casey at the Bat" came to light in Police Court, but in this instance "Casey" is a pitcher and not a slugger. Nevertheless, he is considered equally as important to his team—in fact, without him Hagerstown, Md., thinks little of its chances to win the pennant in the Blue Ridge League.

All this came to light when Warren Freshour, 30 years old, of Berwyn, Md., was arraigned in Police Court before Judge Ralph E. Given on a bad check charge.

Freshour was convicted without much ado, but immediately several persons approached the bench and made various pleas for leniency. One was that the man, who was described as a second Walter Johnson and the only rival of Christy Matthewson, be permitted to begin his sentence, if any, after the baseball season is over.

"There is no baseball in the winter," said one of the fans. "But right now we need Freshour's good right arm. With him the Hagerstown Club stands better than an even chance to win the pennant in the Blue Ridge League. In fact, your honor, if you will harken to our plea we will guarantee to win the pennant. All we are asking is that Freshour be permitted to complete the season."

At the conclusion of the plea Judge Given merely said: "One hundred and fifty days."

Freshour is a former sandlot player in Washington, and at one time pitched for the Washington Terminal Team in the Terminal Y. M. C. A. League.

Body of Educator Is Found in River

Sidney M. Pickens, Arkansas School Leader, Suffered Breakdown.

Batesville, Ark., Aug. 9 (A.P.).—The body of Sidney M. Pickens, widely known Arkansas educator, was found today in the White River, near here, after an all-night search. He was clothed only in underwear. His other clothes were found on the river bank about 100 yards from where the body was recovered.

Mr. Pickens, aged 51, former superintendent of schools here and formerly president of the Arkansas Educatio association, had been in ill health for two years. He resigned as head of the schools after a breakdown two years ago.

He left his home yesterday, informing his family he intended to visit a minature golf course nearby. After he had been gone several hours the family became alarmed and started a search.

Florida Doctor Found Shot Dead in Hospital

Chattahoochee, Fla., Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Dr. J. C. Inman, 35, a member of the medical staff of the Florida State Hospital for the Insane, was found shot to death in his office here today. A shotgun lay beside the body.

A coroner's jury was to convene this afternoon and investigate the shooting. Dr. Inman had been on the hospital staff for five years.

BRITONS REPULSE AFRIDI TRIBESMEN

Defeat of Advance Parties Believed to Have Discouraged Invaders.

BATTLE IN BARA VALLEY

Simla, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—The hostile Afridi tribesmen who descended on Peshawar from the hills apparently have let up in their plans for an attack on the strategic frontier city. British officers tonight expressed the belief that most of the danger is past.

British ground troops and military airplanes have engaged the Afridis frequently since they came down the Bara River Valley this week. The tribesmen are estimated variously at between 5,000 and 10,000 men.

Fighting South of Bara.

An official communique today told of contacts with the hill men on Wednesday, Thursday and yesterday, with some casualties among the invaders. Most of the fighting has occurred in the lower Bara Valley and at the western end of Khajuri Plain, where the Afridis have encamped since they set out to capture the key city to the Khyber Pass.

The communique told how some detachments moved to the area south of Bara Fort Thursday night and were met by pickets of the defending military forces and the frontier constabulary. Some of the attackers were killed.

Other parties, totaling several hundred, went closer to Peshawar and concealed themselves in caves southeast of the city. Others evacuated their caves west of Khajuri Plain and moved to similar retreats south of the Bara. Airplanes bombed these hiding places.

Invaders Shelled From Garden.

Another party, concealed in a tower 3 miles northeast of Bara Fort, fled to a nearby garden at the approach of British cavalry. They were shelled out.

A dispatch from Peshawar said that 1,000 of the Pathan warriors advanced within a mile of the city Thursday. They were attacked by troops and seven tribesmen were killed by bombs of the royal air force.

Looney Quits Louisiana Race to Balk Governor

New Orleans, Aug. 9 (A..).—Frank J. Looney, of Shreveport, withdrew today as a candidate for the Democratic nomination as United States senator from Louisiana and threw his support to Senator Joseph E. Ransdell in his race with Gov. Huey P. Long.

In a statement accompanying his withdrawal, he said he was quitting the race to avoid confusing the issues and to make certain the defeat of Gov. Long, who he described as "a menace to the State."

Lady Mary Heath Sails for Europe

Entirely Recovered Says Aviatrix Hurt in Races at Cleveland.

New York, Aug. 9 (A.P.). — Lady Mary Heath, who was severely injured last year in the crash of her plane at the Cleveland Air Races, sailed today for a three-month tour of Europe. She said she had entirely recovered from her injuries.

"The accident seems to have been good for me," she said. "I've gained 10 pounds. My injured eye not only has healed but gives me better sight than before, and I have never felt more energetic."

An attempt recently was made in Ohio to have Lady Heath declared mentally incompetent.

She was accompanied on her trip by Miss Florence Madden, a friend who nursed her in the long fight to regain her health.

Driver Killed Avoiding Collision.

Konawa, Okla., Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Fitzhugh Elledge, 38, plunged his truck over a high embankment to death yesterday to avoid a collision with a car driven by a woman, witnesses said.

Shipwreck Kelly Down; On Pole 1,177 Hours

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 9 (N.Y.W. N.S.).—Alvin "Shipwreck" Kelly, after sitting on a flagpole on the steel pier for 1,177 hours, or 49 days and 1 hour, descended at 4:13 o'clock this afternoon, while a crowd of 20,000 watched from the boardwalk. Mrs. Kelly and Shipwreck, jr., were waiting to greet him.

Kelly spruced up before descending. A barbarette climbed the pole this morning, gave him a haircut, shampoo, tonic, shave and manicure and charged him $4.25. He gave her a 75-cent tip.

AUTOIST ACCUSED IN HIT-RUN CRASH

Man, Long Hunted, Caught by Montgomery Police; Injured Woman.

ALLEGED BURGLAR HELD

After eluding police for a month, Thomas J. Whalen, of Norbeck, Md., was arrested last night by Policeman Charles Barnes, of the Silver Spring substation, Montgomery County police on a hit-and-run charge resulting from an automobile accident in which a woman was injured on July 11.

Whalen is alleged to have collided with an automobile operated by Spurgeon L. Beaver, of 3601 Connecticut avenue, Washington, injuring Blanche C. Blevins, of 1667 Monroe street northwest, a passenger in Beaver's car. He is declared to have fled after the accident, abandoning his car near Kensington, Md., and removing the license tags.

Ownership of the car was traced through its motor and serial numbers to Whalen, and he was arrested last night while driving through Silver Spring. He said he had been in Philadelphia since the accident, police said. Whalen was released under bond of $500 for hearing in police court at Rockville, Md., on August 23.

Jesse Lancaster, 67-year-old Negro, without home, who is declared to have slept in the woods in lower Montgomery County, was arrested by Policemen E. R. Jones and W. Harry Merson, of Rockville, yesterday on a charge of housebreaking and larceny in connection with robbery of the Piggly Wiggly store at Kensington, Md., on July 2.

Foodstuffs worth $50 were taken from the store. Police discovered empty cans around a shack in the woods where the aged Negro had slept, and as he was known to have no means of livelihood with which to have bought the food, he was questioned by the policemen, who said he confessed the robbery.

The Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission yesterday modified its order prohibiting sprinkling of lawns and gardens, to permit sprinkling with cans or pails, provided no hose, pipes or similar water carriers are used.

Such sprinkling will be permitted in Chevy Chase, Bethesda, Friendship, Somerset, Alta Vista and as far east as Rock Creek, from 9 to 9:30 on Tuesday, Friday and Sunday evenings, and in Silver Spring, north of Sligo avenue, Woodside, North Woodside, Forest Glen and Kensington from 8:30 to 9 o'clock on Monday, Thursday and Sunday evenings.

In the Takoma Park-Silver Spring area, between Sligo avenue, Silver Spring and Maple avenue and the old Bladensburg road in Takoma Park, sprinkling hours are from 8:30 to 9 o'clock on Monday, Thursday and Saturday evenings. Sprinkling is permitted in the same period on Tuesdays, Fridays and Sundays in Takoma Park south of Maple avenue.

Drought Sends Cattle to River

Thousands of Animals Are Driven to Shenandoah From Marksville.

Special to The Washington Post.

Luray, Va., Aug. 9.—Thousands of cattle in Marksville district this week will be driven 5 or 6 miles to the Shenandoah River, where they will stay until there is an improvement in the water situation in this county.

For days hundreds of cattle have been turned back waterless after they have been driven 2 and 3 miles to the Hawksbill Creek at the Town of Marksville. This water supply has never been known to fail within the memory of the oldest residents of that district. This water supply has become exhausted, due to the most disastrous drought that has ever been known in this region. Cattlemen are becoming desperate.

For two weeks one-fourth of the cattle in Marksville district have been quenching their thirst daily at this place. The nearest water supply now for the famishing cattle is the Shenandoah River. Many of the cattle have become so poor for lack of pasturage that the trip to the Shenandoah River is almost impossible.

LINDBERGHS ARRIVE AT NORTH HAVEN, ME.

"Well, it's her plane, you know. Yes, she did handle the controls awhile."

Mrs. Lindbergh, apparently somewhat pale and tired, did not alight from the plane in Portland.

Lindbergh indicated that during their stay here they would probably make a cruise on the Mouette, honeymoon yacht of the young couple, which was brought here several weeks ago.

(Associated Press.)

Charles A. Lindbergh will fly to Washington next Friday to receive from the hands of President Hoover a special congressional gold medal commemorating his achievements in the advancement of aviation.

The flier will be accompanied by Mrs. Lindbergh. After the presentation the Lindberghs will be luncheon guests of the President and Mrs. Hoover. They also will be invited for a week-end visit to the Presidential camp in Virginia.

The medal to be presented the flier is of solid gold. The law authorizing it also provided for bronze copies to be sold to the public for one dollar each.

THREE THOUGHT DEAD IN CHICAGO AIR CRASH

As more gas is admitted, the tank rises in its frame and, when gas is let out, it sinks. The huge puncture made by the crashing plane caused the gas to rush out in a few moments and dropped the emptying tank into its well.

Mr. Redd said damage to the tank would not exceed $15,000.

TROOPS GUARD TOWN SCENE OF LYNCHINGS

Marion, Ind., Fears New Outbreak by Saturday Night Crowds.

STATE INQUIRY STARTS

Marion, Ind., Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Expecting a climax in the tenseness that has gripped Marion since Thursday night when a frenzied mob avenged the murder of a white youth and an assault upon his fiancee by lynching two negroes on the lawn of the Grant County Courthouse, State militiamen patrolled the streets tonight with loaded rifles and fixed bayonets.

Meanwhile a board of inquiry, composed of State and County officials had taken steps to prosecute and convict those responsible for the dual hanging. The officials met this morning and prepared to bring prosecutions under Indiana's law which provides the death penalty for any one convicted of having taken an active part in a lynching.

Inquiry Board Meets.

The board of inquiry, which was formed today following several conferences is composed of Earl Stroup and Merl M. Wall, deputy attorneys general, Prosecutor Harley F. Harding, of Grant County; Sheriff Jacob Campbell and Police Chief Lewis Lindermuth.

Four witnesses were heard by the board today and the officials inspected the county jail where the mob demolished heavily barred doors and tore locks from the walls in order to gain entrance.

Reports that the bodies of Thomas Shipp and Abe Smith, 19-year-old Negro youths who were the victims of the lynching, would be brought back from Muncie tonight, contributed to some excitement as the usual Saturday night crowds gathered. The bodies were taken to Muncie the morning after the hanging and were the cause of some demonstrations in the city last night, and officials feared an outbreak might occur there.

Doubt of Convictions.

Hardin expressed doubt today over the probability of obtaining convictions in Grant County of perpetrators of the lynching.

"I feel sure indictments may be obtained, but convictions look doubtful to me," he said.

The National Guardsmen, 130 in number, arrived this morning from Camp Knox, Ky., where they were in camp for annual maneuvers, and began patrol duty in four sections of Marion at noon.

Holdup Trio in Dayton Steals $8,465 Pay Roll

Dayton, O., Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Forcing H. S. Milligan, foreman of the H. R. Bragg Construction Co., and C. M. Wadsworth, an employe, to the curb, three unmasked robbers seized the company's $8,465 pay roll and escaped here today.

Stricken Officer Improves.

Cristobal, Canal Zone, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Lieut. Col. R. P. Palmer, of Washington, who last night was removed from the Army transport U. S. Grant suffering from serious internal hemorrhage, today was pronounced out of danger. He was en route from Manila to New York.
